The King Celebrates.
Generous Mr. Jameson.
Pagodas Shaken.
Protection Overdone.

—By ARTHUR BRISBANE

CELEBRATING yesterday his twentieth anniversary as King of England and Emperor of India, King George went to the races for the first time since his serious illness.

Buckingham Palace and the government buildings were decorated with flags. His subjects rejoiced.

He has been a good king, aware that the business of a British ruler is to listen to his ministers chosen by the people and say "Amen" when they have spoken.

Looking back over 20 years, King George must feel grateful for the firmness of his throne, one of few, involved in the World War, that survived it.

If he looks ahead India probably worries him.

In the reign of Queen Victoria, a keen man whose ancestors came from Asia, Disraeli, made the Queen of those foggy Western islands Empress of India.

It would be interesting if a shrunken, half-starved Ascetic Hindu, sitting in a British prison in India, should take the imperial crown from the head of King George.

GANDHI, comfortable in his British jail, sends polite thanks for the kind treatment. Meanwhile his followers, freed from his gentle advice and remarkable control, worry the British. The army is in control of India. European civilians carry weapons to protect themselves; 300,000,000 Asiatics, even water-drinking, vegetarian, naturally peaceful Asiatics, would not be easily controlled with patriotic excitement moving them.

E. C. JAMESON, New York financier, tells the Senate he contributed $93,000 to help beat Alfred E. Smith in Virginia.

$65,300 of the money he sent to be spent by Bishop James Cannon, who undoubtedly dispersed the funds in accordance with highest political ethics.

MR. JAMESON spent nearly $200,000, altogether, in his fight against Smith, who, nevertheless, got 15,000,000 votes, 7,000,000 more than any other Democrat ever got.

THE "OLD MULMEIN PAGODA, Looking Eastward to the Sea," may be lying flat on the ground today.

A big earthquake killed more than 5,000 in Rangoon, shaking and shattering other towns, flames sweeping the streets, populace panic stricken, many dead.

It is all far away, to us over here.

If it were not for Kipling's poem, comparatively few would know anything about Burmah, "across the bay" from China.

THIS COUNTRY'S workers and industrialists need protection, and should have it.

Our people come first, other people second.

But intelligence should control even the tariff. It is possible to overdo the business of discouraging friendly nations with whom we deal.

PRESIDENT MUSY, of the Swiss Republic, wires President Hoover:

"I am compelled to call attention to the fact that your watch and lace duties will, eventually, paralyze our national industries."

The Swiss National Chamber of Commerce recommends the boycott of American goods, especially automobiles.

That suggestion means little to us. But we should take seriously the danger of hopelessly discouraging Swiss industries, offending and injuring the good people of Switzerland.

WALL STREET went to work more cheerfully yesterday.

Too young to have enjoyed the personal acquaintance of Sisyphus, you can't know how those Wall Street speculators patiently push prices up, after they roll down.

It is a sight, as sad as when you destroy an ant's nest and see little ants dragging out baby ants, or rebuilding the little mountain, bringing back the grains of sand.

THIS LATEST price calamity, you are told, was "a big man's sorrow." Rich men were pinched, not little ones. They decided that the time had come to buy stocks and let the little men bid them up. Something went wrong.

THE PACIFIC COAST sends news of snow four feet deep, near Los Angeles.

In New York, on the other ocean, the thermometer stands at 80, and rising, as this is written.

Forest fires continue in the East, hundreds of them in many states.

Some, unfortunately are believed to be incendiary.

Why any man, whatever his grievance against an individual, society as a whole or himself, should set fire to a countryside and burn beautiful trees that could not offend him, is beyond comprehension.

Girl Gone 3 Days Phones for Aid

ABDUCTION OF STUDENT FEARED

Voice on Wire Is Stilled Abruptly; Parents Not Able to Run Down Call

Belief that Evelyn White, 14, missing South Hills High School student, was being held captive was expressed today following a telephone call from the girl to her home.

According to her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alex White, of 120 Secane avenue, Mt. Washington, Evelyn, in frantic tones, pleaded:

"Please help. They won't let me go, I don't know where I am."

The abrupt ending of the call led police to believe she had been pulled away from the telephone. The call was made last night.

MISSING THREE DAYS

Evelyn, who looks more like 15 than 14, is 5 feet 8 inches tall, weighs 126 pounds and has blond hair and blue eyes. She was described as being attractive.

The girl disappeared Monday afternoon, having been at school. She attended the morning session, but was absent in the afternoon.

At noon she was seen in a chain grocery store in the neighborhood of the school.

TRY TO TRACE CALL

She left home in good spirits, her parents told police in reporting her disappearance and the telephone call to the house.

Efforts of police to trace the call proved futile. Immediately after learning of the girl's disappearance, police hurried to the Lafayette exchange of the Bell Telephone Company, in which district the White home is located, but learned the call could not be traced.

TAXICAB STRIKE SETTLEMENT TODAY SEEN

Announcement of Successful Negotiations for Drivers To Resume Work Awaited

The taxi strike is over.

This was the unofficial but well-founded report that spread over Pittsburgh today.

Before many more hours pass, the Parmelee Company, employers of the 1,400 drivers who have been on strike since the second week in January, is expected to announce the end.

This afternoon Attorney C. K. Robinson, counsel for the company, let it be known that he would not be surprised if the strikers and the company reached an agreement late today.

CONFERENCES CONTINUED

The strikers' committee met with Robinson and Walter Laird, who is representing the Parmelee company, yesterday. This morning they were in session again. At noon, just before they were to retire for a third discussion, Robinson made his announcement.

A further indication that the end was near was furnished by the relieved smiles which spread over the faces of Laird, Robinson and Paul Houston, president of Green Cab Company.

ROBINSON STATEMENT

Robinson made this formal statement:

"Negotiations have been under way for several days seeking to formulate a program for return to work that the strikers' committee and the company can agree on. These conferences have about ripened into a feasible plan which will return the men to work and settle the strike. A definite announcement can be made as soon as the final agreement is reached.

Robinson's announcement followed a report that 300 of the strikers had returned to work today, presumably in answer to mailed invitations by the company. This letter assured the

PINCHOT CALLS FOR CURB ON KLINE

Punishment of Mayor Asked For 'Bread and Butter' Speech to Payroll Here

Outstanding in the Pennsylvania primary battle today were these developments:

1.—Former Gov. Pinchot called for "punishment" of Mayor Kline as a sequel to the mayor's "bread and butter" speech to city and county payrollers here.

2.—Senator Nye, of the Senate Campaign Fund Committee, asked assistance of U. S. Attorney Graham and District Attorney Park here in its slush fund investigation.

CLARION, Pa., May 7.—(AP.)—Gifford Pinchot, Independent candidate for the Republican nomination for governor, said here today that punitive measures should be taken against Mayor Charles H. Kline, of Pittsburgh, for a recent speech calling upon city employes to support the Davis-Brown ticket.

Referring to Kline's statements as a "bread and butter" speech, such as he said the mayor made four years ago, Pinchot said the utterances were "a very pointed order." Mayor Kline spoke Monday night in the home ward of James F. Malone, a strong Pinchot supporter, who opposed Kline for the mayoralty nomination last Fall.

PUNISHMENT URGED

Pinchot declared:

"If a man in Federal office did this sort of thing he would be punished for it severely. He ought to be punished whatever position he holds. Political assessments are bad enough, but this sort of thing is infinitely worse."

Impeachment proceedings were threatened against Mayor Kline in 1926 by Pinchot, who went out of office before the legislature met.

HIGH COURT SELECTION BY HOOVER BEATEN

Adverse Vote of 41 to 39 Decides Bitter Battle On Labor, Negro Protests

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON,
International News Service.

WASHINGTON, May 7.—The nomination of Judge John J. Parker, of North Carolina, as an associate justice of the Supreme Court, was rejected this afternoon by the Senate, 41 to 39.

The Senate's action left a vacancy on the high court. Parker will continue to serve as a Federal judge on the Fourth Judicial Circuit.

RESULT FORECAST

He was the twelfth nominee for the Supreme Court rejected by the Senate since the start of the Republic. Nine other nominees, however, have been withdrawn in the past.

The result was not a surprise, since polls showed the Senate was opposed to him, but his advocates had been making such gains in the last week that the outcome was in doubt just before the roll was called.

The vote justified predictions that it would be exceedingly close.

OPPOSED BY A. F. L.

The battle over Parker's nomination was the most intense in the Senate's recent history.

President Hoover and the administration exerted tremendous pressure to overcome the opposition that sprang up against Parker when the American Federation of Labor and Association for the Advancement of Colored People declared war on him.

The debate was featured by charges of attempted patronage bribery, and that lobbies were packing the corridors of the Capitol seeking votes for and against the nominee.

The fight against Parker was based chiefly on his approval of an injunction issued against striking miners in West Virginia, which upheld the operators' "yellow dog"

BLUE LAW POLL RETURNS READY

The first tally of ballots cast by registered voters of Pittsburgh in the Blue Law poll by the Sun-Telegraph will be published tomorrow.

It will inaugurate daily announcements of tabulation of ballots and the latest standing in the poll on each of the three questions presented to the voters—continuance, modification or repeal of the Pennsylvania statute regulating Sunday observance, originally enacted in 1794.

DAILY TABULATIONS

Tabulations on the three questions by wards will follow daily as soon as a substantial volume of ballots is received from each ward. Many inquiries have been received regarding publication of results in the poll and there is a general

OPERA SINGER HELD FOR DEBT

DRESDEN, Germany, May 7.—(INS.)—A sensation was caused today when Mme. Elisabeth Rethberg, Metropolitan Opera Company star, was arrested here for alleged non-payment of $20,560 claimed by the International Concert Commission, of Berlin, as commission on her earnings.

Mme. Rethberg was taken into custody following a recital at the opera house here.

Prominent figures in the Dresden art world rallied to the singer's aid. A physician testified she was suffering from inflammation of the tonsils and too ill to face court proceedings.

She was released in care of the physician.

Later Mme. Rethberg was taken to a hospital, where it was found she was suffering from severe tonsilitis and nerve shock.

She left her jewels as security for the claim.

Heat Nears All-Time Record

The mercury soared above the 85 degree mark this afternoon nearing the all-time heat record for this date—88 in 1880. Hard thunderstorms were reported from the Mississippi Valley today and these are expected to prevail here tonight, lowering the temperature, according to Forecaster W. S. Brotzman.

Elizabeth Morrow Has Heart Attack

ENGLEWOOD, N. J., May 7.—Miss Elizabeth Morrow, daughter of Dwight W. Morrow, ambassador to Mexico, and sister of Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh, has been under treatment at the Morrow home, following a slight heart attack.

Overwork from her labors in reorganizing the little school for youngsters in Englewood, and the unseasonable weather are believed to have caused the attack.

OFFICER NAMED 'JURY PICKER'

Developments today in the alleged jury tampering plot in which city policemen have been accused were:

1.—Director of Public Safety James M. Clark ordered a complete investigation of the charges and announced that he would recommend immediate dismissal of any policemen convicted.

2.—Plainclothesman Earl McDonald, assigned to the North Side district under Inspector Charles Faulkner, was quizzed at the District Attorney's office.

3.—District Attorney Andrew T. Park launched a formal investigation into the charges and will quiz witnesses under oath at a hearing in a courtroom.

Plainclothesman McDonald was grilled by Assistant District Attorney Meredith B. Reid today on charges that two policemen had asked women jurors "to go easy" in a case in which Inspector Faulkner's wife was being sued for $25,000 damages as the result of an automobile accident.

OFFICER ACCUSED

District Attorney Park, after the questioning of Plainclothesman McDonald, said:

"My information is that Earl McDonald helped to select the jury."

At the same time, Director Clark ordered Inspector Faulkner to make a complete investigation and interrogate every officer under him on the tampering charges.

Many Stocks Up; Steel Declines

NEW YORK, May 7.—(INS.)—Though moderate advances were recorded today in a good many of the well-known industrial and utility stocks, the market as a whole was erratic with wide declines elsewhere in the list.

United States Steel appeared to have been thrown over by the bulls in favor of American Can.

The 35½-point drop in Manhattan Electrical Supply to 18 since the last sale of this stock a week ago reflected the uneasiness of traders over the announced investigation by the state attorney general's office into the market action of the stock. A 60-point break in Manhattan Electrical in 1927 helped to bring about a severe reaction in the whole market that year.

The Radio-Westinghouse-General Electric group was active and strong, on predictions by the officials of an upward slant in the volume of business over the balance of this year.

PIRATES SLIDE TO THIRD PLACE

The Pirates found themselves in third place today on top of two successive defeats at the hands of the Giants and their fifth setback in their last six battles.

Capt. Pie Traynor made his debut yesterday. His left eye still bothered him, but he was able to play in a clever stride. He made two hits, but had little to do in the field.

The slab staff of the home team has collapsed temporarily. The Giants added four more homers in their melange of yesterday.

Either Brame or Jones will face the New Yorkers today. The foe will use Fitzsimmons or Pruett.

Total—41.

Of those not voting it was announced that the following were paired:

For confirmation:

Republicans—Moses, Phipps, Norbeck, Goff and Grundy.

Democrats—Smith, King and Fletcher.

Republicans—McNary, Robinson, Brookhart, Glenn and McMaster.

Democrats—Thomas, of Oklahoma, George and Heflin.

With 80 voting, and 16 paired, the entire membership of the Senate was accounted for.

Including the pairs, the Senate stood 34 Republicans and 13 Democrats for confirmation and 22 Republicans, 36 Democrats and one Farmer Labor against.

Coolidge to Attend Tercentenary Event

BOSTON, May 7.—(INS.)—Calvin Coolidge, only living ex-president of the United States, comes here today to take part tomorrow afternoon in the tercehtenary celebration at Watertown, ancestral home of the Coolidges. The former President may make a five-minute address.

Boy, 8, Killed Trying To Retrieve Books

WAUKOMIS, Okla., May 7.—(AP.)—Robert White, 8, forgot his text books and attempted to climb through a school room window and retrieve them. A heavy sash fell on the boy's neck and he was killed.

Missing 2 Weeks, Hunt For Pitt Student

The strange absence of Jay H. Reitz, 22, of 1123 Greenfield avenue, Squirrel Hill, from his Pittsburgh residence and his classes at the University of Pittsburgh since April 16 was taken to the Missing Persons Bureau for solution today by Mrs. Clara Kann, the aunt with whom Reitz lived.

A fair student supporting himself in college and contributing to the support of his widowed mother in Salisbury, near Meyersdale, Reitz left home at 8:30 o'clock Wednesday evening, April 16, to look for a part time job.

Mrs. Kann said:

"He told me he would not be home nights during the school term, so naturally I didn't miss him until I received a letter from his mother in Salisbury, asking me to have him write.

"So I took the case to the missing persons bureau."

A graduate of Salisbury High School, Reitz and his mother operate a small motion picture house there, according to the Missing Persons Bureau.

Mrs. Kann describes the boy as 5 feet 8½ inches tall, weighing 158 pounds, blue eyes, light brown hair, light complexion, and wearing white-gold rimmed spectacles.

Winter's Condition Declared Hopeless

City Controller Daniel Winters, critically ill in a Cleveland sanitarium, clung tenaciously to life today, his son, Bert Winters, reported from his bedside. His condition was unchanged from yesterday, although he seemed in brighter spirits.

Physicians say the Controller's lungs are gradually filling with fluid and that there is no hope for recovery. He is conscious and aware of his condition, the son stated. He has been in the sanitarium for two months, suffering from a complication of diseases.

DEBRIS SEARCHED FOR TORNADO VICTIMS; 66 KNOWN DEAD

FIRE DRILL SAVES 75 PUPILS

Child Taken Home by Father Only One to Perish; School Blown to Pieces

DALLAS, Tex., May 7.—(AP.)—Sixty-six persons were killed, many were injured and property damage estimated at more than $500,000 was caused by a tornado which struck in Central and West Texas late yesterday, a partial check revealed today.

Most of the victims were men. Undetermined numbers of women and children also perished. The incomplete check shows more than half of the dead were white, the others Negroes.

The tornado took the greatest toll of life at Frost, in East Central Texas, and at Runge, in South Central Texas. The force of the storm was felt in practically all sections of the state. Navarro, Hill, McClennan and Ellis Counties, in Central Texas, and Karnes, in the southern part of the state, bore the brunt of the storm.

DEBRIS SEARCHED

National Guardsmen, firemen and volunteers were working today in the debris at Frost where it was feared the death list would mount higher. Nearly every building in the town was demolished.

Of Frost's population of 600, half were homeless. Streets were blocked with debris torn from wooden and brick buildings. Automobiles were tossed about like toys. One street was almost blocked with automobiles that had been in a dealer's window.

Throughout the night, the Corsicana Salvation Army and women from that city served coffee and sandwiches to the rescue workers.

Mixed in the tale of tragedy written by the wind were chapters of heroism, unique escape and grim pranks of fate.

Of 76 pupils in a school there, the only one to perish was a child whose father rushed to the school and took it home.

The others were saved by calm-thinking teachers and their own discipline in fire drill.

FIRE DRILL AIDS

The teachers, Misses Lois Rogers and Millie Yarbrough, signaled for fire drill, marched the fearful children from the frame structure and commanded them to lay prone along plowed rows of a nearby field.

The building was splintered as the children and teachers, unharmed, looked on.

The scholar that fell victim had been taken home by the father, League Wooley. There the child and its mother perished in the wreck of their home.

12 FLEE TO VAULT

Twelve Frost men saved themselves by taking refuge in a bank vault.

A Negro baby was wrenched from its mother's arms at Frost by the cyclonic winds, and the pickaninny had not been found by searchers. The mother said she clung to the baby with all her strength.

Eight members of a Mexican family of nine were killed when the tornado that struck the Runge-Nordheim community swooped down suddenly on their little hut.

They were among 29 reported killed there. Forty were reported injured.

ARMY FIELD STRUCK

One workman was killed and 20 injured and seven buildings were damaged when the wind struck Randolph Field, new Army flying school.

The cyclone struck a rich farming country almost midway between Nordheim and Runge and cut a path only 150 yards wide, but 10 miles long. At the edge of Goliad County it lifted and passed out into the Gulf of Mexico.

With communication and transportation demoralized there was no way to exactly compute the number of injured. Hospitals were reported filled and private homes and public buildings are being used to care for the victims.

Doctors and volunteer nurses were rushed into the affected communities from nearby towns. The Midwestern branch of the American Red Cross at St. Louis immediately began relief action.

public interest apparent as to the expression of sentiment by the electorate.

Additional approval by Pittsburgh clergymen of the plan for determining public sentiment concerning the Blue Law is given in an endorsement of the poll by Rev. Dr. Hugh Thomson Kerr, pastor of the Shadyside Presbyterian Church.

KERR FAVORS POLL

He said:

"I see no reason why the voters should not be polled on the subject. The law is subject to modification through the will of a majority of the people. Everybody has the right to vote. If the sentiment of a majority of the people of the state favors a change, it has the right to have it.

"Up to the present a majority of the voters appear to have been satisfied to retain the present law. Any reflection of sentiment as to the attitude of the people, in the city as well as in the country, should guide the lawmakers in retaining or changing any of our laws."

MOTHER OF SIX ATTACKED

Mrs. James Harris, 35, mother of six, was the victim of a brutal attack today on a lonely road near her home, Herod road, Homeville, according to reports received by Munhall and Mifflin Township police.

After her assailant released her, Mrs. Harris says she lay helpless more than two hours before she recovered sufficiently to go to the home of a sister-in-law, Mrs. Anna Bond, of Kennywood Park, where she was going when attacked.

A physician was summoned, and reported the attack to police.

Officers and a posse of citizens at once began a search for the man, described by Mrs. Harris as an American, 30, of dark complexion, and wearing a sweater and brown trousers.

1927 Texas Storm Killed 200 and Injured 1,000

DALLAS, Tex., May 7.—(AP.)—Three years ago, almost to a day, a tornado, similar to yesterday's twister, struck Texas, took a toll of about 200 lives, injured 1,000 and caused $4,000,000 damage to property.

A tornado swept over Dallas the morning of May 10, 1927, roared into Garland, Dallas County, and killed 11 persons in a minute. It passed northeast and caused greater damage in Nevada.

Continuing east and northeast, the storm was felt in Arkansas, Missouri, Kansas, Illinois, Iowa and other states. At Hoxie, Ark., it swept a passenger train off the tracks.

Woman Recovering From Poison Dose

Mrs. Betty Popolio, 22, of West Thirteenth avenue, Homestead, who was picked up downtown after she is alleged to have swallowed poison, was reported slightly improved today in the Allegheny General Hospital. Policemen rushed the woman to the hospital after she collapsed at Smithfield and Water streets. Her husband said that he knew no reason for his wife's action.

OFFICER NAMED 'JURY PICKER'

Clark said that if any police were found guilty in the case he would recommend their immediate dismissal.

Plainclothesman McDonald was brought to the District Attorney's office following a demand upon Supt. of Police Peter P. Walsh that he attempt to identify a uniformed policeman and a plainclothesman accused of having aided in the tampering plot.

WOMAN QUESTIONED

Meanwhile, Mrs. Joseph Hamovitz, of 2610 Webster avenue, was questioned in the case, but was unable to give any information. Assistant District Attorney Reid announced. The husband of Mrs. Hamovitz was questioned yesterday and is said to have contributed some information on the complaint of two women jurors that six men, two of them police, had asked them "to go easy on the Faulkner case."

One man is being held in jail in connection with the alleged plot. He is Frank Nathan, of 5630 Montour street. An information charging embracery will be made against him today, according to Attorney Reid.

Nathan, lodged in jail, refused to talk after being questioned at length by Reid and County Detective Edward Frank, who arrested the man in a North Side pool room yesterday afternoon.

BARED BY JUDGE

The attempt to fix the jury-women was revealed yesterday by Judge Frank P. Patterson prior to the amicable settlement of the $25,000 suit William P. Lethers had brought against Mrs. Faulkner for injuries sustained when a machine which she was learning to drive struck him at Perrysville and Marshall avenues, North Side, two years ago. The parties agreed on $6,000. The machine carried $10,000 liability insurance.

Mrs. Elizabeth Austin, of 251 Oakland avenue, a juror woman, told the judge that two police, one uniformed and one plainclothesman, had visited her at home, telling her that it would be to her interest to "give Mrs. Faulkner the breaks." She ordered them from her home, she said.

Mrs. Mary Weisbecker, of 2014 Webster avenue, told Judge Patterson that four men had attempted to influence her. She knew one of the quartet, she said. District Attorney Park immediately ordered the investigation.

LIFE TOO HARD, MOTHER SLAYS 7 CHILDREN

Woman Near Death From Self-Inflicted Bullet Wound; Mate in Prison

International News Service.

COLUMBUS, O., May 7.—Having methodically killed seven of her 10 children, according to police, Mrs. Ethel Yelden, 44, was in serious condition here today from a self-inflicted bullet wound.

Late yesterday afternoon she sent the younger children to a nearby confectionery store. Then, calling Eldon, a 21-year-old son, into her room, she shot him through the head, police determined. One by one she called the younger children in and shot them until she had killed seven.

SHOOTS HERSELF

Carefully she washed and clothed the bodies in fresh garments and then shot herself with the same .22-caliber rifle which she had used to shoot the children.

The dead children, ranging in ages from three years to 21, are Alan and Alice, twins, aged 3; Derby, 7; Byron, 8; Eleanor, 9; Elaine, 10, and Eldon, 21.

There were five children by a first marriage and five by a second union with her present husband, Joseph Yelden, who is serving 10 years in Ohio State Penitentiary on a statutory charge.

Yelden escaped injury in the recent penitentiary fire here which killed 322 convicts.

LAST PHOTOGRAPH

Mrs. Yelden had supported her children by selling newspaper, and is believed to have become despondent over the welfare of the family.

In the hospital last night the woman calmly told police of taking her children to a photographer's studio yesterday afternoon where she had a last family group picture taken.

Weather Conditions.

Low barometric pressure is dominating the weather over much the greater portion of the country this morning. As a result, the weather is mostly cloudy and showery conditions prevail. The principal center of disturbance is over Western Iowa and Eastern Nebraska, lowest barometer reported, 29.24 inches, at Omaha. It produced showers nearly everywhere between the Rocky Mountains and the Appalachians, light, generally, but heavy in Iowa, Eastern Kansas and Oklahoma. Thunderstorms occurred during last night in most of the Mississippi Valley states and as far east as Indiana, and it is raining this morning in Minnesota, South Dakota, Iowa and Illinois.

It is somewhat cooler than yesterday over the Plains states, while over the Rocky Mountain states and the Canadian Northwest, where the weather had been unreasonably cold, the temperatures are rising.

River Conditions.

The rivers are about stationary. Stage at Franklin is 2.2 feet; Lock No. 7, 10.9; Pittsburgh, 11.3; Dam No. 4, 5.4; Dam No. 6, 6.1; Dam No. 9, 9.3, and Dam o. 12, 6.6. The dams are up.

Earthquake Felt In Southern Italy

ROME, May 7. — (AP.) — A slight earthquake shock was felt at Catanzaro, Southern Italy, today at 9:45 a. m. The tremor also was felt throughout the whole region, including Reggio.

TRUE TO HER CODE

Miss Lewis, who collapsed before the microphone several days ago. The explanation, revealed only now, is that she was trying her best to carry on the program despite a cablegram that told of her foster-father dying in Europe.

MARY LEWIS, METROPOLITAN OPERA SOPRANO

RADIO FOLLOWS OLD TRADITION

NEW YORK, May 6.—For the first time, the radio today has been forced to follow the age-old rule of the theater.—"No matter what happens the show must go on."

Radio fans all over the country on Sunday were surprised when a program of operatic selections broadcast by Miss Mary Lewis, beautiful star of the Metropolitan Opera Company, was suddenly terminated without any explanation.

It was learned today that just before she stepped in front of the microphone to begin her classical program, she was handed a cablegram which informed her that her foster-father, Osborne O'Hagan, was dying in France.

Stifling her tears, Miss Lewis made a gallant attempt to carry on the oldest tradition of the stage, and succeeded in singing one number. Then she collapsed.

Yesterday, Miss Lewis received a second cable which informed her that her foster-father had died. Cancelling all engagements, she hurriedly booked passage for Europe.

SENATE SETS ARMS HEARING

WASHINGTON, May 7.—(Ins.)—The fate of the London naval treaty is to be decided in the open—with defenders defending it and its critics criticising it publicly.

This much was determined today when the Senate foreign relations committee, under the chairmanship of Senator Borah, took up consideration of the history-making pact.

Secretary of State Stimson, chief of the American delegates, and Secretary of the Navy Charles Francis Adams, were selected as the first of the treaty's defenders to appear. They will come before the committee next Monday morning in open session.

Senator Hale (R) of Maine, chairman of the Senate naval committee, also will conduct public hearings after the foregn relations committee gets started.

Consideration of an important treaty in committee in, public is somewhat of an innovation in Senatorial procedure.

employes that Laird was now in complete charge of operations.

In the midst of the peace conferences 29 injunctions hearings against strikers were called in Common Pleas Court but, at request of counsel for both sides, the hearings were postponed.

TAXIS RUN ALL NIGHT

For the first time since the strike began all-night operation of taxicabs was resumed last night. In the outlying districts special details of police was ordered to guard against attacks. The day shift of motorcycle patrolmen and other patrolmen in the downtown district were placed on night duty.

Joe Anderson, 21, of 43 Welsh way, was fined $10 with the alternative of 20 days in jail by Magistrate T. D. Jones in Morals Court today after he had admitted calling "scab" to Richard Diamond, Yellow cab driver, at South Tenth and Carson streets, last night.

Steve Grapp, 18, of 624 Windom street, arrested as one of a group which showered Diamond's cab with milk bottles, was discharged. Neither Diamond nor police could identify him.

contracts and forbade any outside aid being extended the strikers. This brought the wrath of organized labor down on his head.

The Negro associations fought him because in a gubernatorial campaign in North Carolina, he was accused of saying:

"If I am elected by a single Negro vote, I shall resign as governor."

They also charged he had declared Negroes were not qualified for citizenship.

Parker defended his "Yellow Dog" decision by saying he followed the Supreme Court's ruling in an older case. His opponents said there were more recent decisions which he might have followed that would have favored the strikers.

He also defended his utterances against Negroes on the ground that they were spoken in the heat of a political campaign and that his judicial record proved he would protect the constitutional rights of Negroes. He mentioned one case in which he set aside a segregation order in Richmond, Va.

REED BACK, NO TIME FOR POLITICS

Senator Declares He Sees Little Opportunity to Get Into Senatorial Contest

WASHINGTON, May 7.—(AP.)—Returning to the Capitol today from the London naval parley, Senator Reed said he saw little opportunity for taking part in the Republican senatorial contest in his state between Senator Grundy and Secretary Davis before the primary on May 20.

The Senator remarked:

"I am hopelessly out of touch with the situaton."

"I will be very busy here from now on with the treaty which is before the Senate, and will have no chance to go to Pennsylvania within a week."

Further evidence that Senator Reed will at least be slow in taking sides between his Senate colleagues, Joseph R. Grundy, and his fellow townsman, Secretary of Labor Davis, was seen in his arrangement to meet Secretary Mellon some time today.

Thus far, Secretary Mellon has remained aloof from the primary campaign.

The Senator observed that he had learned already that his friends are divided between Grundy and Davis.

SILENT ON POLITICS

NEW YORK, May 7.—Turning a conversational thumbs-down on all questions concerning Pennsylvania politics, Senator David A. Reed, Republican, member of the London naval conference, returned to America last night aboard the liner Olympic. He left for Washington early today. He said:

"I have been away four months and am so utterly uninformed that I am unprepared to say anything concerning the Pennsylvania political situation."

The senator said he plans to return to Pittsburgh Wednesday, May 14.—Friends said it is probable that he would go into a series of conferences immediately upon his return.

URGES FEDERAL BUILDING

Asked concerning the proposed Pittsburgh Federal Building, which has been criticized as not fitting in with the traffic problems of the city, Senator Reed said he had talked the matter over with the Pittsburgh Chamber of Commerce and had suggested taking it up with the Treasury Department during his absence. He added:

"Of course, we are all anxious to have plans adjusted and the building started as soon as possible. I am sure Mr. Mellon feels that way, too. I intend taking action in the matter as soon as possible."

Senator Reed said that he had made no decision as to whom he would nominate as a successor to Postmaster George W. Gosser, who will retire soon.

"Mr. Gosser will retire in August. I asked him to remain at his post until then. I shall have to have conferences with five congressmen before a decision is reached as to who will succeed him."

Senator Reed said that he was hopeful of complete naval parity by 1935, as the result of the naval treaty. He added:

"Of course this depends upon the willingness of Congress to make naval appropriations. Under the Washington agreement, parity would not have been achieved before 1942."

PREDICTS O. K. ON TREATY

The Pennsylvania senator predicted the Senate would ratify the treaty. He said:

"Due to discussion, it probably will take three or four weeks before the Senate ratifies it."

Bankruptcy Trustee Cited in Contempt

WHEELING, W. Va., May 7.—(AP.) — Howard R. Davis, of Wheeling, trustee in three Wheeling bankruptcy cases, was cited for contempt on three charges by Judge William E. Baker in Federal Court. Davis is alleged to have ignored orders of the referee to report his findings in bankruptcy actions. He will appear May 19 to answer the citations.

Unwanted Statue, Unlike Rudy, Unveiled in Park

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., May 7.—(AP.)—Dedicated by Dolores Del Rio, Mexican actress, before a curious group of 300 persons, a bronze statue in memory of Rudolph Valentino, once known as the most popular moving picture actor, today stood in De Longpre Park.

Not a Hollywood picture star of the days of Valentino attended the service. The statue, called "Aspiration," is the work of Roger Noble Burnham, once of Boston, now of Hollywood.

Peculiarly, the art work, paid for by the late actor's admirers, was grudgingly given a place in the park by the city commissioners. They contended that no other statue of a film celebrity had been erected; that Hollywood couldn't be cluttered up with bronze memories of picture luminaries, and furthermore, "It would look like publicity."

The figure is tensed, head thrown back as though in face of a wind, and arms stiffened to the sides. It bears not the slightest resemblance to Valentino. For that was one of the agreements which permitted its erection in the park.

After the death in 1926 in New York of the actor, his friend and executor of his estate, George Ullmann, established Valentino clubs throughout the United States. From their contributions, funds for the statue were provided.

Boys Prove to Be Heroes When Companion Drowns

Seven-year-old Earl Flaherty, of 1142 Railroad street, Duquesne, was dead today despite the heroic efforts of companions to save him from drowning late yesterday.

Earl, with his brother, Robert, 9; Carl Loughery, 12, of 1138 Railroad street, and Henry Weber, 10, of 1122 Railroad street, went to the bank of the Monongahela river, near their home, to wade. Earl was first to take off his shoes and jump into the stream. In his hurry he stumbled.

His cries for help brought the Loughery boy to his aid. Young Loughery almost drowned when Flaherty seized him by the arm. Seeing Loughery's predicament, the Weber boy jumped into the water and rescued Loughery. Flaherty sank before Weber could reach him.

The body was recovered a short time later by Edward Flaherty, the father, and a party of neighbors.

Senate Takes Recess to Welcome Reed Home

By GLADSTONE WILLIAMS
Staff Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, May 7.—The Senate today paused in its deliberations over the Parker nomination to pay a unique tribute to Senator David A. Reed, of Pittsburgh, following his return to the Capitol this morning from the London Naval Conference.

Immediately after the Chamber met at noon, Sen. Thomas J. Walsh, Democrat, of Montana, arose in his place to announce that Senator Reed had returned from abroad as one of the American delegates to the Naval Parley. In recognition of this service, he asked that the Senate take a recess to receive him.

The motion was given unanimous approval, and Vice President Charles Curtis appointed a committee to escort him to the chamber.

The Senate, in violation of its usual dignified traditions, broke into a hearty round of applause as Senator Reed entered the room to the rear of the vice president's dias.

Vice President Curtis by this time had left his chair and, joined by Senator Walsh, of Montana, took up a position near the center aisle. He was the first to give the returning senatorial diplomat an enthusiastic handclasp and congratulations. Senator Walsh was next.

With the vice president on his right and the Montana senator on his left, Senator Reed then was the objective of the full membership of the chamber, each of whom filed by to shake hands and leave some word of felicitation.

GOLD STAR MOTHERS SAIL TO SEE SOLDIER SONS' GRAVES

NATION BIDS FAREWELL TO 232

First Group Off to Europe On U. S. Liner America; Officials at Ceremonies

NEW YORK, May 7.—(AP.)—America started her second A. E. F. to France today, on the thirteenth anniversary of the day on which she sent her first soldiers to the trenches over there.

Their faces wet with tears because the bands somehow could not keep from playing "keep the home fires burning"—232 gold star mothers whose boys did not come back sailed on the S. S. America, each to visit a grave.

Thirteen years ago today the camouflaged steamship Orunda slipped out of New York bearing the first Americans to France—a base hospital unit that had been recruited in Cleveland, O.

TOUCHING FAREWELL

Today more than a fourth of this first group of the 6,000 mothers who will be traveling to France throughout the summer came from Ohio.

It was to have been a formal leave-taking today, with speeches and bands and presentation of medals.

The program was carried out according to schedule—but it was not formal. Even Capt. George Fried, commander of the America, said he had to keep winking his eyes, so that no one would see that there were tears in them, while he was talking to some of those mothers.

And while General Charles P. Summerall, chief of staff of the United States army, who commanded a brigade in France, was making his speech his voice grew husky.

"I'm going to try to make them happy," was the last thing Captain Fried said. "But some of them, when they talk to me, get tears n ther eyes. It's a tough thing to see an old mother with tears in her eyes."

Early this morning, eager and anxious, a little worried lest they might miss their boat, the gold star mothers were escorted to Hoboken by army officers.

HEAPS OF FLOWERS

Military bands awaited them there on the dock—bands that kept going back again and again to "Keep the Home Fires Burning" and "The Long, Long Trail."

There were flags and heaps of flowers. Hundreds of the Gold Star mothers of New York and New Jersey were down to see them off.

Before the boat sailed there were ceremonies on the rear top deck where three of the mothers, selected from different parts of the country, received from Paul W. Chapman gold medals which the line is presenting to every mother who makes the trip.

Mrs. Helen K. Williamson, of West Palm Beach, Fla.; Mrs. Mary P. Scanlon, of Omaha, Neb., and Mrs. Nora Washburn, of Washington, received the first medals.

JOFFRE DENIES BEING ILL

PARIS, May 7.—(INS.)—Denying reports that he was confined to his home with a serious illness, Marshal Joffre, hero of the Battle of the Marne, told the International News today:

"I am in excellent health. I would appreciate your telling my American friends that I never felt better in my life.

"I am about to leave for the office of the Superior War Council, where I expect to spend the day the same as I did yesterday."

CHICAGO PRISON JAM RELIEVED

CHICAGO, May 7.—(AP.)—Steps were taken today to remove prisoners from certain sections of the Bridewell, following statements of an aldermanic committee that the city prison was a "fire trap."

Three hundred prisoners will be transferred from that section of the prison called the most hazardous. They will be moved a few at a time, to the prison farm and to other sections of the prison.

Arrangements also have been made to permit prisoners to work out their fines at the rate of $3 a day instead of 50 cents, thus lessening overcrowding. There are 1,900 prisoners in the Bridewell.

2 Braddock Stores Robbed of $500

Braddock police today were searching for thieves who stole clothing, shoes and other articles valued at $300 from the store of Harry Smitkens, 619 Braddock avenue, and an adding machine and typewriter valued at $200, from the store of B. Dougherty, 329 Braddock avenue. Entry was gained by drilling through rear doors in both instances, according to a police report.

LIGHT AWARD PROTESTED

The Allaire Light and Power Company, of Beaver County, today protested before the Public Service Commission against a contract becoming effective between the Duquesne Light Company and Moon Township commissioners, Beaver County.

Protest was based on the contention that the Duquesne Light Company would assume exclusive control of light and power contracts in that county. Hearing was continued.

Initial hearing was held on a contract between the Pennsylvania Railroad and Swissvale whereby the railroad will dedicate a strip of land near the Swissvale Station to the borough to permit widening of Braddock avenue in return for elimination of traffic handicaps by the borough. The borough will bear expense of widening.

Pitt Student Wins Honors in Chemistry

Isadore Amdur, a graduate assistant in the chemistry department of the University of Pittsburgh, has been awarded the Phillip's medal for highest honors in chemistry during his college career. The award was made by Prof. Alexander Silverman, head of the department, who claimed that Amdur's average was the highest ever received by a chemistry student at the university.

CATHOLICS OPEN EUCHARISTIC CONGRESS

Thousands Receive Blessing Of Pope in Colorful Setting on African Desert

International News Service.

TUNIS, May 7.—Scenes of splendor common in the days when Carthage, the African empire that crumbled before the might of Roman legions, shone like a jewel in the desert, were re-enacted today when celebration of high mass formally opened the first sessions of the Eucharistic Congress.

The full glory of Catholicism converged for the day about the golden throne in the Cathedral of Tunis, where Cardinal Lepicier of France, the papal legate, read the papal bull.

NOTED CARDINALS

About him, robed in silken mantles of red and white, lined with gold, knelt scores of cardinals from all parts of the world—names universally famous. Next in line were the archbishops, with a duly accredited delegate representing the far-off United States of America.

Conspicuous in the brilliant throng too was the distinct group of 100 priests and 200 pilgrims who had come from America to attend the congress.

FIRST TIME IN AFRICA

As the final intonations of the high mass merged into a great common chorus of praise to God, Cardinal Lepicier gently lifted the sacred monstrance and marched to the high steps of the cathedral to bestow the papal blessing upon the multitude outside.

It was the first time in the history of the world that an International Eucharistic Congress had been held on African soil. The Congress itself is the thirtieth on the records of the Catholic Church.

Tomorrow, the religious pageant will be continued at Carthage.

HIRAM MAXIM FIGHTS NOISE

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN,
International News Service.

NEW YORK, May 7.—Hiram P. Maxim, noted inventor of the Maxim silencer, a device for firearms, declared in an interview today that he has discontinued the manufacture of the silencer for firearms and hereafter will devote his energies to silencing noise in industry and in communities.

Silent and efficient American industrial plants and business offices—and silent big cities, too—were visualized by Maxim as not far away.

"Inside of 12 months," said Maxim as he sailed on the liner Aquitania for a six weeks' European trip, "we'll make it possible to have a quiet office or a quiet hotel room on the noisiest street in New York—or any other big city in the country.

"Even the hum of city streets can be silenced. The street noises come principally from automobile exhausts, the biggest offender being motor trucks. This noise can be abated and controlled.

"It will mean improved health for the people. It will relieve the pressure on the nerves which is playing so much havoc with many Americans. Why, insanity has increased 30 per cent in the last 10 years in our big cities!"

Bellevue Burgess Sets Cleanup Days

Burgess W. F. Cooley, of Bellevue, has designated tomorrow and Friday as clean-up days. Borough trucks will collect rubbish placed in boxes or other containers on the curb in the district north of Lincoln avenue tomorrow. Friday the district south of Lincoln avenue will be visited. Ashes, brush, tinwork and garbage will not be collected, the burgess stated.

WOMAN JUROR LATE, FIRED

Mrs. Virginia W. Roe, comely housewife, of 416 Delp street, Avalon, was discharged from further jury service by Judge Frank P. Patterson in Common Pleas court today for being late.

Judge Patterson called Mrs. Roe before the bench and asked:

"What's the reason you are not able to get here on time?"

"Well, the street car was late this morning," replied Mrs. Roe.

"How about the other times?"

She was unable to give a satisfactory reply and Judge Patterson ordered her excused. He said:

"Jurors serving in this court must report on time if the court is to do its work properly."

Mrs. Roe lost two days' pay—$8.

Man Knocked Down By Bottle From Car

Fred Dunberg, 50, of 17 Penrod street, was found at the River avenue approach of the sixth Street Bridge, North Side, early today by Chief of Police Ray Plate, of Ben Avon, who was passing in his automobile. Plate took him to Allegheny General Hospital, where he told doctors he had been struck on the head by a bottle thrown by a man in a passing automobile.

Indian Chased From Cabin By Bear

WESTWOOD, Cal.—(INS.)—Out of a sound sleep Indian Ole Swenson was awakened by a noise in an adjoining room of his cabin in the woods here.

He got up and took one look and then out the window he did go.

There he shivered in the moonlight until a big black bear had satisfied his curiosity and hunger by overturning a few pans and eating a loaf of bread.

Then the bear went home to bed. So did Indian Ole.

RIO, CAPONE AID NABBED AGAIN

CHICAGO, May 7.—(INS.)—Frank Rio and Anthony "Mops" Volpe, bodyguards and trusted first lieutenants of Alphonse "Scarface" Capone, were under arrest here today after a spectacular race with a pursuing police squad car. A third man who gave the name of Frank Mannucio was also arrested.

Rio rose to more or less prominence when he went to jail in Philadelphia for a year with Capone on a charge of carrying concealed weapons.

Three revolvers were tossed from Rio's automobile before it was stopped. The three were held for questioning without charge.

300 VICTIMS OF DELHI RIOTING

Soldiers Fire Into Mob From Armored Car; Four Rebels Killed in Bengal

International News Service.

LONDON, May 7.—Three hundred casualties have occurred in the rioting at Delhi following the arrest of Mahatma Gandhi, Nationalist leader, it was stated in official dispatches today.

Scores were shot down when police, aided by soldiers in armored cars, fired into a mob which had attacked a police automobile.

The exact number of dead is not known, but is believed to exceed 20. Many of the others were seriously wounded.

FOUR DEAD IN CLASH

CHITTAGONG, Bengal, India, May 7.—(AP.)—Four rebels were killed and two captured in an action on the south bank of the Karnafuli River opposite Chittagong this forenoon.

One constable and four villagers were killed.

The raid was an echo of an attack on the armory April 18, when two Europeans and several others were killed and the raiders escaped.

BOYCOTT THREATENED

BOMBAY, India, May 7.—(AP.)—Threat of a widespread Indian boycott of British firms today loomed as the outstanding feature of Mahatma Gandhi's non-violent campaign of civil resistance.

The authorities viewed as an ugly feature the contemplated move by certain Indian commercial organizations.

Bombay was quiet today. Excitement had subsided sufficiently to permit withdrawal of military pickets from the Indian quarters.

Authorities considered the press ordinance effective in Bombay had produced a more restrained tone in the publications.

RAID POLICE STATION

CALCUTTA, India, May 7, (AP.)—A mob today raided the police station at Ramaghat, 45 miles from Calcutta, in an attempt to liberate volunteers arrested by railway police for attacking newspaper sellers.

Several sub-inspectors, constables and excise subordinates were injured.

The mob broke down the iron gates but was unsuccessful in proceeding further. Twenty-five were arrested.

BOY READY FOR HOP TO N. Y.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., May 7.—(INS.)—Frank Goldsborough's fast biplane was groomed here today, ready for the 19-year-old aviator's projected takeoff tomorrow morning on a record dash to New York.

Goldsborough hopes to arrive there by Saturday, having outlined a three-day schedule in which to make the journey. The youthful flier established a new coast-to-coast junior flying record here Sunday when he arrived from New Jersey after 34 hours and 20 minutes in the air.

Goldsborough is the son of the late Bryce Goldsborough, pilot of the ill-fated trans-Atlantic plane "Dawn."

His route will be from Los Angeles to Phoenix, Ariz., El Paso, Tex., St. Louis, Mo., Indianapolis, Ind., Columbus, O., and thence to New York.

Faculty Shakeup In Western College

DENVER.—(INS.)—Climaxing several years dissension at Colorado Western State College, six of the faculty have been dismissed; President Richard Aspinwall has submitted his resignation, and another faculty member, discharged last summer has started suit for his 1930 salary.

Details of the shakeup were revealed by H. V. Kepner, president of the board of trustees of the college.

A factional row is believed to have precipitated the recent dismissals.

The officers will be installed in the next regular meeting.

600 DEAD, HURT IN INDIA QUAKE

RANGOON, Burma, India, May 7.—(AP.)—Casualties in Monday's earthquake today stood at 400 killed in Pegu and something over 200 killed and injured in Rangoon, according to authoritative figures.

Various reports had been circulated regarding the total. Today's figures are based upon counts now going on, as obtained through communication systems which yesterday had been disrupted.

Indian residents of Pegu, which had something in excess of 18,000 population, regarded the earthquake as punishment for arrest of Mahatma Gandhi, leader of the Indian civil disobedience movement. There were riots in Rangoon after the tremor, during which Indians stripped foreign made cloth from passersby and burned it. Police and soldiers finally brought the demonstration under control, but the disturbances were resumed yesterday morning.

Dormont Children Mourn 'Big Al' Ruehling

School children and citizens of Dormont will pay tribute to the memory of Police Chief Albert D. Ruehling Friday, when his funeral services will be held in the Bethany Lutheran Church, West Liberty avenue and Park boulevard. The body will lie in state in the church from 10 a. m. until 3 p. m., the hour of the services. Chief Ruehling died yesterday at his home, 1347 Illinois avenue.

Hundreds of children from the Kelton Avenue and Hillsdale Public schools will march to the church Friday at 11:30 a. m. to get a last glimpse of the man they loved so well. Scores of citizens who knew the chief intimately, likewise will view the bier.

John H. Seitz and Robert A. Goodwin, members of the Dormont fire department, with four others will act as a guard of honor. Capt. B. B. Miller and Lieut. Fred Wilson, of the Dormont police, will serve as a motorcycle guard as the body is taken from the Ruehling home to the church, and then to the Mt. Lebanon Cemetery. Burgess Charles Chamberlain and members of council will be honorary pallbearers.

School children knew Chief Ruehling best as "Big Al." Four times a day for 12 years he could be found at Hillsdale and West Liberty avenues piloting the youngsters across the street.

Chief Ruehling was a charter member of the Kiwanis Club of the South Hills and an active member of the Dormont Chamber of Commerce, the Bethany Lutheran Church, Knights of Malta, Junior Order United American Mechanics, Police Chiefs' Association of Pennsylvania and the Fraternal Order of Police.

He leaves his widow, Mrs. Anna Wolfinger Ruehling, who is seriously ill, and three brothers, Walter and George Ruehling, of Pittsburgh, and Frank Ruehling, of Chicago.

Funeral services for his mother, Mrs. Minnie Ruehling Miller, wife of Christopher Miller, of 412 Industry street, were held yesterday. She died Saturday.

U. S. Fleet, 140 Planes Invade New York

NEW YORK, May 7.—(AP.)—The American fleet and 30,000 Bluejackets, accompanied by 140 navy planes flying in close formation, came to town today.

Appearing out of a mist which hung over Ambrose Channel, the mighty battleship California, flying the four-starred flag of Admiral Louis McCoy Noulton, led her brood of fighting ships and fighting men through the Narrows and up the bay to anchorages in the Hudson River.

As the fleet passed Governors Island, a 17-gun salute roared a welcome and was answered.

Preceding the main body of the fleet into port were the destroyers, terriers of the sea, which came slipping in like grey ghosts yesterday and last night to drop anchor off Staten Island.

The battleship Texas, flagship of Admiral William V. Pratt, fleet commander, already was waiting at anchorage off Riverside Drive.

Taking off yesterday and this morning from the naval aircraft carriers Saratoga, Lexington and Langley at Norfolk, Va., the planes kept a rendezvous over Miller Field on Staten Island this morning and then maneuvered over the city. It was really a tactical display intended to show the speed with which a fighting, bombing squadron could arrive over the city from a fleet of carriers off the Delaware capes.

PINCHOT AIDES HERE HIT KLINE

Noon-day meetings were inaugurated at Pinchot headquarters today with verbal blasts aimed at Mayor Kline and County Commissioner Armstrong, both supporters of the Davis-Brown ticket.

Attorney Ralph H. Smith, Pinchot adherent, said:

"These noon-day meetings began at an auspicious time, following the hysteria of 'Bread and Butter Kline' and 'Cheating Joe Armstrong.'

"In the Fisher-Beidelman fight 'Bread and Butter Charlie' told the payroll to vote against the Philadelphia gang or forfeit their bread and butter.

"Now they're getting hoarse telling the payroll to vote for the Philadelphia gang or lose their jobs.

"This is a fight between clean, decent government and gang control of the worst kind."

RADIO ADDRESS

Joseph A. Richardson, former assistant United States district attorney, urged Pinchot's election in an address broadcast last night over station KQV.

A. D. Brandon, former Morals Court magistrate, today declared his intention of supporting Pinchot, according to Frank I. Gollmar, county chairman of the Pinchot campaign. Brandon issued this statement:

"I am for Gifford Pinchot for governor of Pennsylvania. He is the aggressive, hard-hitting type of man that Pennsylvania needs as its chief executive.

"His fame and good name are built upon honest public service rendered."

Brandon will serve on the Pinchot speakers' committee.

RAILROADERS INDORSE

The State Executive Board of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen has indorsed Pinchot's candidacy. After reviewing Pinchot's record while governor, the indorsement stated:

"The Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen, their wives and families, in appreciation of such honorable service, unanimously indorse and support his candidacy for another term as governor."

The resolution also states that the organization will seek the support of other organizations to aid Pinchot's candidacy "as a merit of gratitude on the part of good citizens who should show themselves to be enemies of corrupt politics and corrupt governments."

It was signed by James A. Fox, chairman; Joseph Washington, vice chairman; Charles H. Kiefer, secretary-treasurer, and C. P. Wilson, chairman of the board of directors.

MRS. LAWRENCE TALKS

Mrs. Mary Flinn Lawrence will urge support for Pinchot in a broadcast at 8:15 p. m. today over station WJAS.

In his radio address last night Richardson said:

"Pinchot proposes that the few shall not benefit at the expense of the many; that professional politicians shall not continue to direct the affairs of the state for their own interests. He believes that every citizen of the state should get the square deal to which he is entitled as a matter of right and not as a political favor.

"He proposes to abolish the present system by which coal and iron policemen are appointed, the unfair use of labor injunctions and to attempt to secure old age pensions for the helpless poor of the state.

"In his platform the ideals of the man are expressed. In a few words he advocates a square deal for every man, woman and child in the whole state."

Emmanuel to Attend 5th Century Theater

SYRACUSE, Italy, May 7.—(AP.)—King Victor Emmanuel came here today on his Yacht Savoia to witness the performances at one of the most ancient theaters in the world.

The theater, built in the fifth century B. C., and still remarkably preserved, is one of the wonders among the world's ancient ruins. It is hewn out of solid rock.

Mexican General Killed by Reveler

MEXICO CITY, May 7.—(AP.)—Gen. Ignacion Bastida, who was a revolutionary aide to Gen. Zapata 15 years ago, was killed today at Guernavaca by Ernesto Velez, a police inspector.

Bastida, it was said, celebrated too much following a feast day festival and began firing his pistol, endangering the lives of others.

'Phones First Shown At Philadelphia

PHILADELPHIA.—"Beginning of Telephony" says that the telephone was exhibited and demonstrated at the centennial exposition in Philadelphia in 1876. The experiments of Alexander Graham Bell had been crowned with definite achievement when, in March, 1876, he made himself heard over a telephone wire for the first time.

Woman Painter Shows Pictures Done in Plane

NEW YORK, May 7.—(AP.)—An artist who plants her easel in the cockpit of an airplane brought her canvases to New York today for exhibition.

She is Ilan Marian Kibbey of Kansas City, Mo., and executives of the Perargil Galleries where her paintings from an airplane will be shown May 12 believe them to be the first of their sort.

Discussing her work, Miss Kibbey said:

"My first air flight from Kansas City to St. Louis showed me the possibilities of expressing an entirely new perspective in painting."

M. E.'S MAY SIFT CANNON'S ACTS

DALLAS, Tex., May 7.—(AP.)—A contemplated attack on Bishop James Cannon, Jr., of Virginia lent an early controversial hue today to the opening of the quadrennial conference, Methodist Episcopal Church, South, here.

The charges will deal specifically with Bishop Cannon's participation in politics, according to reports.

The bishop has refused to discuss the charges or to comment on the testimony given in Washington yesterday before the Senate Lobby Committee. In this testimony, E. C. Jameson, of New York, prominent in Republican affairs, testified to an alleged discrepancy in a fund he gave Bishop Cannon for the fight against Alfred E. Smith in the last presidential race.

It was learned that five general charges against the bishop have been prepared—that he has been an active lobbyist; that he has used the Methodist Board of Temperance and Social Service, of which he is head, in his lobbying; that he hoarded food during the World War; that he had dealings with a Wall street "bucket shop," and, finally, that he endeavored to form an ecclesiastical-political combination which might precipitate a split within the church.

Knopp $7,200 Estate Left to Relatives

Inza A. Knopp, of Wilkinsburg, left a $7,200 estate by terms of his will, which was filed for probate today. He leaves $1,500 to his son-in-law, Harry J. Bennett, Jr., and the remainder to two daughters, Mrs. Goldie Swicher and Mrs. Grace L. Bennett.

Clothing for Poor Asked by Curry

The Rev. A. G. Curry, director of Goodwill Industries, is petitioning residents of Allegheny County who failed to donate to the industries during the gift day drive to send in old clothing or furniture to the industry's workshops, Liberty avenue.

and was unable to carry out the plan.

Continuing his attack here Pinchot said:

"There is one difference and it is about the only difference between gangs in Philadelphia and Pittsburgh. The Philadelphia gang acts like a gang and says nothing. The Pittsburgh gang acts the same way but talks about it.

SPEECH QUOTED

"Every newspaper reader will remember Mayor Kline's bread and butter speech not so long ago in which he threatened payrollers of Pittsburgh with losing their bread and buter if they did not vote according to orders.

"Now he is at it again. Night before last he said, 'I expect every man and woman associated with me to go along with Kline on the Davis-Brown ticket.' Then he backs up this very pointed order as follows:

"'Even if Pinchot is elected, he does not make appointments in the city of Pittsburgh. Charlie Klein does that. Neither does he make county appointments. Joe Armstrong does that. When the election is over many may find their jobs are gone.'

HITS CONTROLLER VOTE

"I commend this statement to any person of respectability and self-respect who may be thinking of supporting Francis Shunk Brown, and I ask them if they should, how would they like their company?"

The former governor asserted the controlled vote of Pittsburgh and Philadelphia is Brown's "sole and only hope" of nomination.

Senate Asks Prosecuters Here Help in Slush Quiz

WASHINGTON, May 7.—(AP.)—Chairman Nye, of the Senate Campaign Funds Committee, requested federal district attorneys at Philadelphia and Pittsburgh today to co-operate in obtaining any information of corruption or excessive expenditures in the forthcoming Pennsylvania primary.

Nye's letter was addressed to Calvin S. Boyer, United States attorney at Philadelphia; Louise E. Graham, United States attorney at Pittsburgh; Andrew T. Park, district attorney at Pittsburgh, and John Monaghan, district attorney at Philadelphia.

The letter said the committee was particularly anxious to conduct our efforts so as to prevent a corrupt campaign and a corrupt election, and we are sure that we shall have your co-operation to this end."

Senator Grundy (Rep.), Pennsylvania, and Secretary of Labor Davis are competing candidates for the senatorial nomination.

CHARGES DAVIS NON-RESIDENT

That James J. Davis, candidate for the United States Senate, is not a resident of the Sixth District of the Twenty-ninth Ward, was charged in a petition challenging the legality of Davis' Pennsylvania residence, filed with the registration commission yesterday by attorneys representing John J. O'Brien, a mechanic, of 2205 Murray avenue. O'Brien described himself as a resident of Pittsburgh and a supporter of Francis Bohlen, senatorial candidate on an anti-prohibition Republican ticket.

The commission set 8 p. m. next Monday for a hearing on the petition to give Davis a chance to prove his residence. Davis is registered from 159 Hornaday road.

The petition cites that when President Harding nominated Davis for his cabinet he made the statement:

"I nominate James J. Davis, of Illinois, to be Secretary of Labor."

The petition further alleges that in an affidavit Davis declared that he had been a resident of Pennsylvania more than 30 years, whereas, it is pointed out, in 1906 he was an office-holder in Madison County, Indiana.

Baltimore Girl First to Get Customs' Job

BALTIMORE, May 7.—(AP.)—Miss Margaret Ellis, of Baltimore, May 1 became the first woman in the United States to receive an appointment as a customs examiner, according to civil service officials. She will appraise articles of clothing, fabrics, embroideries and adornments worn by women, brought into the country through the Port of Baltimore. She entered the office of John A. Janetzke, Jr., customs appraiser here, seven years ago. Mr. Janetzke recommended her appointment to the position.

Steel Head Wills Estate to Widow

YOUNGSTOWN, O., May 7.—Elmer T. McCleary, president of the Republic Steel Corporation, who died two weeks ago after a few days illness, left an estate of $375,000, according to the will probated today. The estate was left outright to his widow, Anna, and the will contained a clause that he has "full confidence" she will care for their children, Dorothy and Elmer, Jr.

Kelly to Address Glassport Group

Congressman Clyde Kelly and Attorneys Benjamin Lencher and Joseph A. Burns will be the speakers at the banquet of the Glassport Businessmen's Association to be held May 15 in the Glassport Presbyterian Hall. The new officers of the association to be installed are: President, Attorney Samuel A. Weiss; vice president, Robert D. Paul; secretary, William P. Brader and treasurer, A. A. Raden.

Tracey Withdraws In Favor of Dwyer

John M. Tracey, a former service man and member of A. F. of L. No. 60, has withdrawn as a candidate for the Republican nomination as Assemblyman from the Third Legislative District in favor of Charles F. Dwyer. Tracey said he would work for the nomination of Senator Joseph R. Grundy.

CURRAN SPEAKS FOR PHILLIPS

William Frew, county chairman of the Phillips-Bohlen-Dorrance anti-dry ticket, announced that the candidates and Maj. Henry H. Curran will address a meeting at 8 p. m. tomorrow in Carnegie Music Hall. Col. Samuel Harden Church, president of Carnegie Institute, will preside.

Maj. Curran is president of the National Association Against the Prohibition Amendment.

MRS. MILLER SPEAKS

Frew's announcement was made last night in a broadcast over KDKA after he had allotted time for a speech to Mrs. Carroll Miller, member of the advisory committee of the Women's Organization for Prohibition Reform.

Mrs. Miller said the organization was formed a year ago by a group of women, under the leadership of Mrs. Charles H. Sabin, former National Republican Committeewoman from New York, who believed that the Eighteenth Amendment had failed of its purpose.

The women organized themselves into an association dedicated to the restoration of temperance and respect for the law, both of which are rapidly vanishing since the adoption of national prohibition, Mrs. Miller said.

"The first National convention in Cleveland last month voted unanimously to work not only for repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment, but to support the candidates for Congress who would work and vote for repeal of our present unenforceable prohibition laws," Mrs. Miller said.

LED BY MRS. THAW

"Last week the Pittsburgh branch was formed under the able leadership of Mrs. William Thaw, Jr., and it expects to carry on an aggressive campaign against existing prohibition conditions, because like millions of other women all over the country, we Pittsburgh members feel that the present situation is not only intolerable, but is fraught with great danger to the continuance of free, honest and law-abiding government.

"We do not propose to resort to arms to oppose prohibition, but mental rebellion and public opinion can be quite as effective as machine guns and highway patrols.

"The prohibitionists say the Eighteenth Amendment is based on moral grounds. If that be true, then it has no place in the Constitution for the Constitution is not a moral code, but a political document."

D. P. M'QUARRIE WARNS RIVAL

D. P. MacQuarrie, candidate for state senator in the Fortieth District, has warned one of his opponents, Park H. Martin, and the Rev. Dr. Davis E. Cruea, of the Anti-Saloon League, to stop circulating reports that he entered the contest only to split the dry vote. MacQuarrie wrote to Martin:

"I hereby make formal demand on you to make a statement repudiating such reports.

"You remember in 1926, in the presence of C. M. Barr, I withdrew in your favor in order to give you a free field in this course, and you furthermore know that I took the stump in your behalf."

The letter to Dr. Cruea stated:

"I wish to warn you that, if you persist in spreading abroad by whispering campaign and by publication that I am in the Fortieth senatorial field for the purpose of dividing the dry vote, as was stated in Mr. Vickerman's paper, 'The City and Suburban Life,' you may expect a suit on your hands for libel and slander, for the reason that such statements are not privileged."

Three Women, Man, Hurt as Car Skids

NEW KENSINGTON, Pa., May 7.—Slippery surface of Greensburg road was blamed for the wrecking of an automobile against a telephone pole and injury of three women and a man, all of whom were brought to the hospital here by Carl Clawson, Apollo, first motorist to reach them.

The injured are Mrs. William Laird, 40, and Mrs. Thomas Schaub, 19, of Walk Chalk, near here; Mr. and Mrs. William Shimp, of Latrobe, Pa.

Pittsburgh Firm's Lake Ship Aground

SAULTE STE. MARIE, Mich., May 7.—(AP.)—The ore carrier William A. Edenbern, downbound with a cargo, was hard aground in East Neebish channel below the Sault today, was reported to have been badly damaged by a collision. The vessel is operated by the Pittsburgh Steamship Company and is commanded by Captain H. A. Leisk.

Grundy Received 'Stolen Goods,' Vare Pleads

PHILADELPHIA, May 7.—(AP.)—Assuming more active work on behalf of the Davis-Brown ticket during the remaining two weeks of the primary campaign, William S. Vare is appealing to citizens to support it as a personal vindication for his rejection by the United States Senate.

Speaking at a meeting of Republican organization workers last night Mr. Vare declared that Senator Joseph R. Grundy, who was appointed by Gov. Fisher and is a candidate to succeed himself, received "stolen goods." Preceding the meeting Mr. Vare for the first time visited the Davis-Brown campaign committee's headquarters and conferred with the managers.

ARMSTRONG, JR. IN VOTE DRIVE

Joseph G. Armstrong, Jr., lone candidate for the Republican nomination for state senator in the Thirty-eighth District, made his first campaign speech at a meeting of the Nineteenth Ward Republican Club last night in the club room, 1321 Grandview avenue. Samuel J. Reno, ward chairman, presided.

After Reno asked support for the Davis-Brown slate, about 125 workers present, many of them on the city payroll, promised to support the ticket. A list of about 600 names on the city payroll living in the ward was given to the workers. Armstrong said:

"At the solicitation of friends in every section of the Thirty-eighth District I became a candidate for the Republican nomination for senator. The other candidates have retired, and I am unopposed for a seat in the General Assembly. Despite this fact I am continuing to meet the voters and will do so until the polls close the evening of May 20.

"My entire life has been lived on the South Side, where four wards of the Thirty-eighth District are located. My employment in the steel industry daily takes me into the four wards of the district in the Penn avenue and Lawrenceville sections. I know the people and the conditions in every part of the city I hope to represent at Harrisburg.

"In my work as a lawmaker, first consideration will be given to my constituents. The things most helpful to them will not be neglected."

Carrington Wins Yeager's Support

Jacob Yeager, of the Order of Railroad Telegraphers and chairman of the labor committee of the local Pinchot-for-Governor-Campaign, has indorsed Stanley M. Carrington as a candidate for the Republican nomination for Congress in the Thirty-fifth District.

Yeager stated that he worked with Carrington in many progressive movements and in this campaign Carrington stands for the principles which all who labor can support. He urged all progressive voters to give their support to the candidacy of Carrington.

M'MASTER WINS IN S. DAKOTA

SIOUX FALLS, S. D., May 7.—(AP.)—Senator W. H. McMaster, Republican independent, and Gov. W. J. Bulow, Democrat, were nominated for United States senator from South Dakota, according to unofficial returns today, on Tuesday's state primary.

Miss Gladys Pyle, secretary of state, was leading a field of five in the Republican gubernatorial race. Miss Pyle held a plurality of more than 1,000 over former Gov. Carl Gunderson, who was running second.

It appeared certain, however, that neither Miss Pyle nor Gunderson would receive the 35 per cent of the total vote necessary for nomination, and that it would be necessary to decide the nomination in party convention.

Gov. Bulow's running mate on the Democratic ticket, D. A. McCullough, was leading L. E. Corey, Wagner publisher, by a small, but apparently safe, margin for the gubernatorial nomination.

KLINE FEARFUL OF PINCHOT

City and [illegible] employes were warned by Max Kline last night at a meeting of the Second Ward Republican organization in Hotel Henry headquarters that if former Gov. Pinchot is elected the local leaders would force upon a complete slate of county candidates next fall thereby endangering jobs of present employes.

Kline had urged support for all the candidates on the Davis-Brown ticket. He implied that the strongest [illegible] would have to be made in behalf of Francis Shunk Brown, the governor being natural and the especial [illegible] weakening Brown.

"We must admit there is sentiment for our opponent, Pinchot. But if Pinchot was on our ticket the ones who are now backing him would be against him in order to be against the organization," Kline declared.

INCENTIVE TO INDEPENDENTS

"If Pinchot is elected it will be an incentive to independents to fight for all the elected county offices to be filled next year and it would then be up to every organization man and woman in the city and county payrolls to give battle for their jobs.

"But why wait until next year? It is up to us now to defeat this independent movement."

Previously Kline spoke facetiously about a report yesterday that the party was being whipped into line for Davis and Brown. He said:

"I know there are no city and county employes here tonight, so I can speak for my friends on the Davis-Brown ticket without fear of exciting the newspapers.

"But if any such employes are here, I hope we all see through the same glasses and after weighing the merits and demerits of all the candidates I believe you will all decide the Davis-Brown ticket is the best and will give it your support."

MAYOR EMBARRASSED

The Mayor said he was embarrassed by the fight between P. J. Sullivan, incumbent, and P. J. O'Malley, of the state auditor general's office, for the Congressional nomination in the Thirty-fourth District.

"I like Sullivan's opponent, for he is a nice young fellow, but I brought Sullivan out for his present position. I did so because the honor he got as a member of Congress would be a heritage to hand down to his family.

"I have no malice against the opponent, for I believe it is everyone's right to aspire for office, but I must be loyal to the boy I brought out, and I ask everyone who believes in me to assist him to Congress."

Other speakers included County Commissioner Armstrong, his son Joseph, Jr., Councilman W. Y. English, Sullivan, Clerk of Courts S. J. Topley, Public Works Director Edward O. Lang and George Metzger, candidate for Assemblyman from the Second District. Owen McManus presided.

PASTOR BACKS TICKET

The Rev. Stewart Martin Smith urged support for the Davis-Brown slate in a broadcast last night over WJAS.

Aside from the outof-town visitors attending a meeting at Hotel Henry headquarters of the Second Ward Republican organization, the guests of honor at the luncheon of the women's division of the Republican county organization, conducted by the women's meeting, were ladies and workers of the Eleventh Legislative District at Hotel Henry headquarters Burgess John Cavanaugh of Homestead presided.

The following speakers addressed both headquarters meetings: Kline, Attorney-at-Law; County Commissioner Edward V. Babcock, Recorder of Deeds S. D. Evans, Controller R. G. Woodside, Treasurer John Francone and Chester W. J. McGregor.

Reports of Davis and Brown settlement in the district were submitted by Burgess J. B. Abrams of Elizabeth, Mayor James S. Crawford of Duquesne, Mayor J. R. McVey of Clairton, Burgess Robert Morrow of West Homestead, Chairman Charles McBride of the Thirty-first Ward, Harry Keesler of Mifflin Township, Charles Shoaf of West Elizabeth, the Rev. M. A. Talley of Homestead, Harry Humble of Clairton, Chairman J. M. Hollos of Homestead Council, Squire Fishwick of the Thirty-first Ward, and Robert Jones of Homestead.

TONIGHT'S MEETINGS

City and county officials and local candidates affiliated with the Davis-Brown ticket will speak at meetings tonight of the Tenth Ward Republican organization in Vorwaerts Hall, 3137 Holmes street, where Charles Martin will preside, and of the Eighteenth Ward League of Women Voters in Liederkranz Hall, Curtin avenue, with Mrs. Lydia Perlot as chairman.

County committeemen and women of the Twelfth Legislative District will be guests at a tea tonight in the home of Mrs. Ida R. Chalfant of 31 Marion street, Crafton, one of the aides of the women's division of the Davis-Brown campaign.

On Saturday night at 8 o'clock a mass meeting of all members of ward organizations on the North Side will be held in the North Side Carnegie Hall. Principal speaker will be Bernard J. Myers, state chairman of the Davis-Brown organization.

Pest of Jailor Seeks Return To China

EL CENTRO, Cal., (INS)—Ming Sai Wu, who was locked up here as he was a pest while confined in jail with incessant questions in Chinese to fellow inmates, a story services after Wu was charged with illegal entrance into the United States and face deportation to China. That is where Wu was headed when he was arrested. Wu who had no money had been living in luxury at the county's expense while awaiting trial.

GRUNDY GUEST OF OLIVER

Senator Joseph R. Grundy is due in Pittsburgh tomorrow as the guest of George S. Oliver at a luncheon at the William Penn Hotel to women chairmen of western counties who are aiding Grundy's campaign to succeed himself.

Guests will include W. I. Mellon, W. L. Mauro, A. Lyle Lindsay, State Senator James J. Coyne and S. C. Jamison.

Mrs. W. S. Haddock, chairman of the local women's division of the Grundy campaign, predicted that the luncheon would be one of the most numerously attended women's gatherings of the campaign.

Grundy's candidacy was supported by Attorney John H. Lauer in a broadcast last night over WJAS. Attorney W. A. Blair is scheduled to broadcast a Grundy speech at 7:15 p. m. today over WCAE.

The Grundy Harmonizers, a 16-piece orchestra, were on KDKA last night with campaign talks and a musical program and will repeat tonight at 9:15 over the same station.

Lauer declared:

"I submit that to her natural resources and the beneficent effects of a protective tariff Pennsylvania owes her industrial supremacy and prosperity.

"The experience of Pennsylvania in this respect parallels that of the nation, and if we believe with the philosopher that history repeats itself, we at once perceive the wisdom of Senator Grundy in stressing as the paramount issues of his campaign the tariff."

BROWN ATTACKS TWO RIVALS

LOCK HAVEN, Pa., May 7 (AP)—Declaring they were not acting squarely with the people on the prohibition question, Francis Shunk Brown, Republican candidate for governor today rapped his rivals for the office, Gifford Pinchot, independent, and Thomas W. Phillips, Jr., adding:

"My two opponents are refusing to look the facts in the liquor situation squarely in the face. We have one candidate for governor going around the state declaring his allegiance to admittedly impracticable enforcement regardless of any human equations and refusing to concede there is something wrong with present conditions. President Hoover recognizes that there is much wrong in the existing situation and has appointed a commission to investigate with a view to ascertaining just what is the sentiment of the nation.

"The so-called wet candidate for governor is not taking into consideration certain essential facts which he knows cannot be ignored before any change can be made in the prohibition laws. He says he is for repeal, but he knows that there can be no repeal until the legislatures of the various states and the Congress of the United States have spoken."

Pygmies Called Fossils of Human Race

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., May 6 (AP)—Pygmies are living fossils of a group of the human race that should be extinct today, Matthew William Stirling, chief of the bureau of ethnology at Smithsonian Institute, said in an address last night before freshmen of Sigma Xi, chemistry fraternity.

Stirling, who was in charge of an expedition into New Guinea to study pygmies, said: "These people actually are living thousands of years from our civilization and are a race of the stone age. Our happiest hope for them is that civilization does not touch them."

PLEDGES FIGHT ON COAL POLICE

A pledge to continue his fight against the coal and iron police system was made last night by Representative M. A. Musmanno, candidate for re-election from the Twelfth Legislative District, at a meeting in the recently opened Dermont headquarters for the Davis-Brown ticket at 2918 West Liberty avenue.

The candidacies of Secretary of Labor James J. Davis, for United States Senator and Francis Shunk Brown, for governor, were indorsed on motion of M. B. Lesher, chairman of the speakers and meetings committee of the Davis-Brown campaign.

Other speakers were Representatives M. A. Dunn and Dr. J. G. Steedle, candidates for re-election from the Twelfth Legislative District. Attorney William Best presided.

Soviet Voids Alien Grants in Oil Fields

MOSCOW, May 7—(INS)—Concessions in the extensive Lena oil fields area granted to American, British and other foreign investors were void today following annulment by the Soviet concessions committee. The committee's action resulted, it was said, because the concessioners had failed to conduct exploration work agreed upon as part of the terms of the concessions.

Man Found in Coma Dies in Ambulance

Arthur King, 49, a Negro, of 229 Carrington street, was found unconscious at Arch street and Alpine avenue, North Side, early today. He died in an ambulance on the way to Allegheny General Hospital. A daughter told police that her father had been in ill health, and recently was released from Presbyterian Hospital.

Seven Routed in Fire At Detective's Home

Seven persons were routed from their beds early today when fire broke out in a frame addition to the rear of the three-story brick home of City Detective James H. Rea, of 512 West North avenue. Damage was estimated at $500. Fireman W. S. Thomas, attached to Engine Company No. 43, suffered cuts on the right hand and arm and was sent to Presbyterian Hospital for treatment.

Those routed were the Rea family, their son William Rea, his wife and daughter, and a married daughter, Mrs. Beatrice Remmensnyder and her daughter.

2 McKeesport Men Stabbed in Aliquippa

JAIL-MOTHER'S PLEA DENIED BY JUDGE

Court Holds Sue Brown Got 'Fair Trial,' Admits Records Were 'Doctored'

National Service.

SALINAS, Cal., May 7.—Dragged from home before she had time to gather up an extra piece of clothing, tried, sentenced and rushed off to jail all in the space of half an hour—Mrs. Sue Brown nevertheless had a fair trial.

Such was the decision made known today of Superior Judge H. G. Jorgensen in denying the appeal of the "jail mother" whose conviction and consequent suffering for possession of three cases of home-brew shocked the nation.

ANOTHER APPEAL

Her attorney announced steps would be taken at once for an appeal to the higher court.

Judge Jorgensen admitted in his decision that the records of the Justice Court committing Mrs. Brown had been altered after conviction, as charged by the plaintiff.

Regardless of the "doctoring of the docket," as charged by the defense, the court held that the young mother had a hearing that met all the technical requirements.

STERN JUSTICE

The fact that she had never been in a court of law before, that the judge was in a hurry to go to lunch, that she was unable to reach her husband by phone—these things were of no consequence on the hair-balanced scales of justice.

Since being released from a hospital—the hospital where she was taken after a lonely night of agony during which her baby was born and died while she was unattended—after interested persons paid her fine, Mrs. Brown has been living near Los Angeles with her children and mother.

PERMIT HELD NOT VALID

Judge Frank P. Patterson yesterday granted a rule to Maj. Robert M. Ewing, representing the Commonwealth, demanding that the Krivan Hall Association, Springdale, show cause by what warrant it claims to have the right to operate.

The Commonwealth sets forth that on April 5 last the association was raided by Federal prohibition agents and a large quantity of liquor found. Following the raid it is alleged the place was restocked.

The hearing on the rule was made returnable May 26. Michael Cinzala and others are also plaintiffs in the case against the association, claiming it is not being legally operated.

Constable Found Guilty of Conspiracy

MERCER, Pa., May 7.—Constable Charles Brennon, of Pine Township, and Harry Bell, of Grove City, were found guilty of conspiracy against Christ Page, Grove City restaurant man, and also violating the liquor laws in county court. It was charged that Brannon and Bell were instrumental in planting three bottles of liquor in Page's restaurant and then called the county authorities.

Bituminous Coal Output Declines

WASHINGTON, May 7.—(AP.)—April bituminous coal production, statistics compiled by the Bureau of Mines showed, declined slightly under March production, but was 570,000 tons higher than in April 1929.

In April 1930, 37,750,000 tons were mined, as against 35,775,000 in March, and 37,380,000 in April 1929.

What Pittsburghers Ask —In Paris

Some of the questions asked and services rendered Pittsburghers in Paris by our SERVICE AIMEE, 4 Rue Daunou, include:

Where can I get a good cup of American coffee?

How much should one tip a porter on the wagon lit?

How can one hire an automobile for a day?

Please recommend an English-speaking doctor.

Who is a good dressmaker, not too famous, or expensive?

Where can one play golf?

Where can one dance?

What are the addresses of American churches?

Where can I get American ham and eggs?

Who is a good hair-dresser and how does one go about making an appointment?

These are just a few of the many "first aids" we are able to render Pittsburghers abroad. It is the source of great satisfaction to get this help from someone you know, who understands, and upon whom you can depend. Shopping information is most frequently sought, directions are next, then assistance in obtaining railway and theater tickets and hotel reservations come next in order. "From the financial point of view, in connection with naval budgets, we find a most promising outlook. While this bill will not be greatly affected, ratification of the agreement will curb the upward trend of our naval budgets, and huge sums will be saved on account of expanding programs, large replacement costs, and attendant growing costs of maintenance and operation, which are all effectively circumscribed by this new agreement."

The committee warned that naval costs will go up in the future as the fleet ages.

The measure carries $49,600,000 for new ship construction, an increase of $2,843,000 over last year.

It provides $11,100,000 to carry on work on the 10 cruiser program, $7,050,000 for three light cruisers under a separate program, $5,750,000 to begin work on a $19,000,000 aircraft carrier and $7,500,000 to carry on work on six submarines.

In addition, $7,400,000 is provided to complete modernization of the battleships Pennsylvania and Arizona.

Although the bill reaches a new high total, the committee ... under the budget estimates $1,710,556.

The navy's strength is provided for substantially as at present including 8,866 commissioned officers and 84,500 enlisted men.

A total of $32,230,000 is provided for naval aviation, an increase of $800,000. The committee said will give the navy the 1,000 planes provided in the five-year program. The committee provides $1,100,000 to carry on work on the new airship being built by the Goodyear-Zeppelin Company.

The bill authorizes the President to spend $10,000,000 if necessary, to drill oil-offsetting wells for protection of naval oil reserves.

Gobs for Talkies, But Uncle Sam Turns Down Plea

WASHINGTON, May 7 —

ADMITS NAVY UNPREPARED

WASHINGTON, May 7 —

... Navy ... and peace-time ... prepared for war ... Congressional ... Secretary of the ... Admiral ... in the House ... committee ... it was ... stated today.

Adams said:

It is doubtful whether the funds that are appropriated will make it possible to do everything necessary to prepare the fleet for war.

"The forces afloat continue to report that urgent repair work is deferred and that funds for navy yard overhauls are inadequate.

While these repairs do not restrict the peace-time operations, the deferment detracts from the general reliability of vessels. This condition would be particularly noticeable during war-time operations when repair facilities will be meager and congested."

Admiral C. F. Hughes, chief of naval operations, complained because the navy must man warships with skeleton crews.

FIREMAN HURT AS CAR BURNS

One fireman was injured while combating flames which destroyed an automobile said to police to have been stolen in Verona boulevard and Blackadore avenue, Lincoln Park, early today. William Fireman, 34, of Verona boulevard, Lincoln Park, a member of Lincoln Park Volunteer Fire Company No. 1, sustained deep cuts of the right arm from broken glass. He was able to go home after his injuries were dressed.

The automobile, according to Pittsburgh police, was owned by L. Lebowitz of 5806 Hobart street, Squirrel Hill, and was reported stolen from Station street and Frankstown avenue shortly after midnight.

Members of the fire company said they could find no trace of the occupants.

TEAPOT DOME DANGER DENIED

WASHINGTON, May 7 — INS —

The famous Teapot Dome lateral reserve was leased to Harry F. Sinclair, Mammoth Oil Company president, by Secretary Denby, Admiral Robert E. Coontz, chief of naval operations, testified today before the Senate committee investigating the leases.

Coontz, ... the Navy ... Sinclair ... Teapot Dome ... reserve.

This is the testimony of Secretary of the Navy Adams and Rear Admiral R. H. Rousseau, forward in their appropriations sub-committee hearings made public today.

Adams said:

Since closing down this reserve a period of about two years, no definite evidence has developed that there is more than a very slight amount of drainage from the reserve to the immediately adjoining wells outside."

Adams ... Teapot Dome ... Sinclair ... Fe Ells Hills, California, reserve ... because private companies have ... wells on the heart of the reserve.

BRANCH SCORES D. A. R. STAND

SANTA CRUZ, Cal., May 7 — AP —

A resolution adopted by the Santa Cruz chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution protesting against the attitude of the National D. A. R. in opposing American participation in the league court was forwarded today to the parent organization and all other chapters in the United States.

The resolution, adopted last night, attributed the attitude of the D. A. R. as in a high degree militaristic and opposed to that world consciousness which this chapter feels can alone bring about security and lasting peace.

A resolution disapproving political activity by the D. A. R. also was adopted.

Colorado County Has One Baby Born in 1929

DENVER, Colo., May 7 — AP —

The year 1929 will go down in Park County as the year the baby was born.

Only one birth was recorded in the county and it was noted as a mining district.

Hinsdale County, ... known for its vast distances and rugged mountains, almost matched Park County. It recorded only two births, secretary of the state board of health reported.

Statute Limits Halt Julian Indictments

LOS ANGELES, Cal., May 7 — AP —

As far as new indictments and prosecutions are concerned, the state today wrote finis in connection with the $100,000,000 Julian Petroleum Corporation oil swindle. The statute of limitations expired at midnight. The foreman of the county grand jury announced that no further action would be taken unless further illegal acts in connection with the stock selling occurred after May 6, 1927.

JOBLESS PLANS STUDIED HERE

A move to stabilize employment in Pittsburgh, aimed at times ordained yesterday by Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt of New York, has been taken up by a special committee of the Chamber of Commerce, it was announced today by President James Rae, it was learned today.

Members of the committee have held a number of conferences with business leaders with gratifying results, he said. The indications are that the committee may include in its program recommendations made to Gov. Roosevelt.

In this event a survey will be made of unemployment in the Pittsburgh district, small job campaigns will be stimulated and local employment relating to ... under public auspices will be co-ordinated.

The One Grand Piano Opportunity of 1930

IF one lives long enough—one is almost certain to have many opportunities to profit in obtaining the things one wants. Opportunities come and go—each year seemingly, bringing one or more of still greater value than all the rest .... So it is NOW, with pianos .... Of all the opportunities to procure a fine baby grand, since we have been in business—this is the one which surpasses all others. There never has been another its equal—to the best of our knowledge.

This Opportunity Gives Us a Quota of 40 Everett Baby Grand Pianos to Offer at a Saving of $104.49 each ... at $34.50 as an Initial Payment ... Upon Terms of $18.50 per month

This is the Everett Piano Company's own proposition. The Company has allotted 1000 of its style "49 Sheraton" Model, Everett baby grands, to 50 of its most representative dealers to sell at this special reduction and upon these special terms.

These 50 music houses, of which we're one, are cooperating with Everett to make this proposition possible.

The proposition, boiled down, gives 1000 families the opportunity to divide $125,000, in the shape of savings, among themselves — this $125,000 being derived by reducing the price of the pianos, curtailing advertising, and by Everett and the dealers, who are cooperating, cutting down their usual margin of profit.

In other words, the makers, and ourselves, believe that sharing $125,000 with 1000 homes, which will take advantage of this opportunity, is simply a sound and economical business proposition and an enduring advertisement.

All of us would like to extend it — but business must make a living profit.

This is The Whole Proposition in Few Words

1. The Everett is the most moderately priced fine grand piano in America. At its regular price — it is conceded to be the best value in the moderate price grand piano field.

2. The model chosen for this cooperative proposition is generally thought to be Everett's most beautiful style and is regularly and nationally priced at $695, F.O.B. factory.

3. With 6 per cent interest added, were you to purchase one on the terms granted under this arrangement, the total price would be $749.49.

4. On this proposition you may make your selection from our quota of forty grands, for $645, with no interest or carrying charges, to be added.

5. Instead of a usual cash payment of $69.50 (10%), your initial cash payment, under this proposition, is $34.50 — a little less than half.

6. Instead of usual payments of $35 per month, plus a carrying charge, your monthly payments will be only $18.50, with no carrying charge to be added.

7. As guarantees for your protection, all of which are given you in writing:

a. You may have your money back, at any time within 30 days, if for any reason you are not thoroughly satisfied.

b. You may exchange your piano, at any time within six months, without loss of a single penny.

c. You may exchange your piano, at the end of the first year, at a cost not to exceed $1.25 per month for the whole year's use of your piano.

d. Or, you may exchange it, at the end of the second year, at a cost not to exceed $2.70 per month for two year's use.

8. You have the privilege of making larger payments than $18.50 a month, and effect additional savings by earning profit sharing dividends of $1.50 per month, in cash, for each and every month you thus shorten your payment period.

9. The piano is Warranted, unconditionally. The Warranty will be given to you in writing and signed jointly by the Everett Piano Company and ourselves.

10. A matching seat, also by Everett, is included without extra charge.

11. The piano will be delivered immediately.

12. And finally, should you pass on before your payments have been completed, it will be our privilege and practice to cancel the unpaid balance of your account, and turn over a receipt in full for the piano to your family.

The essence and intent of this entire proposition, both on the part of the Everett Piano Company and our house is to supply you with a fine, beautiful baby grand piano of standard make and known reputation; to save you money; to make your payments small and easy; to give you every protection and safeguard in your purchase we can think of — even more than you yourself could have suggested, all for $645 without interest, carrying charges or extras of any nature to be added. The unusual high character, benefits and advantages of this whole proposition are so clearly outstanding, it must be very plain that those at interest cannot delay.

This is the most compelling opportunity we have ever announced. And owing to the fact that our quota of these beautiful grands is strictly limited to forty instruments — we cannot impress upon you too strongly, to select and reserve your grand, at your very earliest convenience.

SHOWERS HALT FOREST FIRES

GREENSBURG, Pa., May 7.—Forest fires have swept through more than 3,000 acres of timber in Westmoreland County in the past few days, it is estimated by V. M. Bearer, district forester, of Ligonier.

The fire wardens and crews at one time battled 31 fires at the same time.

CONNELLSVILLE, Pa., May 7.—Seven forest fires, burning simultaneously within a radius of five miles, kept fire wardens and more than 100 volunteers busy for more than 37 consecutive hours before a rain extinguished the last of them.

Between 800 and 900 acres were burned over.

JOHNSTOWN, May 7.—More than 50 forest fires raged in the Gallitzin district, burning over between 600 and 700 acres of timber.

FRANKLIN, Pa., May 7.—Venango County forest and brush fires since last Friday have burned over 2,500 acres of woodland, district foresters estimated. Two new fires were reported, one near Victory fire tower, near the Pittsburgh road, and the other in the Two Mile Run district.

CUMBERLAND, Md., May 7.—A force of 125 men is fighting a fire on Tussey Mountain, just over the line in Pennsylvania, which has destroyed much timber. Much trouble has been experienced saving houses and barns. Fire has also been burning on Martin's Mountain and Green Ridge, east of Cumberland.

According to wardens this has been the worst spring in years for forest fires, which have broken out almost simultaneously at many points.

RHEUMATIC PAINS WERE BANISHED BY NEW KONJOLA

"It Is a Pleasure to Endorse the Medicine That Ended My Suffering," Says Grateful Lady.

What cheerful, encouraging news is that which Konjola, the new and different medicine, is bringing to victims of rheumatism, many of whom had just about abandoned hope of ever escaping from the cruel clutches of this dread ailment.

MRS. ANNIE ROVESTI

Also stomach, liver, kidney and bowel troubles, neuritis and nervousness are finding their master in this new medicine of 32 ingredients, 22 of which are the juices of roots and herbs of known medicinal value. Konjola, remember, is not a medicine designed to give mere temporary relief. Konjola is not that kind of medicine. Konjola contains no alcohol, no nerve-deadening drugs, no heart-depressing chemicals. This new medicine cleanses and stimulates; opens the door for Nature to assert itself. Six or eight bottles should be taken to receive a fair treatment. Would you see how Konjola works? Then consider the experience of Mrs. Annie Rovesti, 313 Hickman street, Bridgeville, Pa., near Pittsburgh. Then visit the Konjola Man, who is at the Dow Drug Store, Penn avenue and Sixth Street, this city, and hear the remarkable story of this remarkable medicine. Just recently Mrs. Rovetti said to the Konjola Man:

"It is a pleasure to indorse Konjola, the medicine that ended my suffering, and I tried many other remedies without results before I put Konjola to the test. I had rheumatism in my limbs and, as everyone knows who has had this dread ailment, the aches and pains were dreadful. In addition to rheumatism, I suffered from indigestion; my appetite was poor, and I could not sleep soundly nor get my proper rest. Severe headaches were common occurrences.

"After reading many indorsements of Konjola, I decided to give it a trial. By the time I had finished the third bottle my condition had improved wonderfully. This gave me faith and encouragement, and I eagerly continued with the treatment. Ten bottles of Konjola completely solved my health problems. I now eat hearty meals; food digests better; I sleep better, and rheumatism is practically gone. I feel and look better than I have for years, and I gladly give Konjola all the credit for the new health I am now enjoying."

Konjola has won and kept a million friends just by doing what it is designed to do. All that is asked for this master medicine is that it be given a chance to prove its merits.

The Konjola Man is at the Dow Drug Store, Penn Avenue and Sixth Street, Pittsburgh, where he is meeting the public daily, introducing and explaining the merits of this new and different medicine.

THE LIGHT THAT NEVER FAILS TO SHOW UP THINGS AS THEY ARE

DID you ever stop to think that man's progress through the ages almost parallels the evolution and development of light? In the cave-man days he went to bed with the chickens, if there were any chickens; and as late as the eighteenth century he depended almost wholly upon the fat of land animals and the oil of the whale to light his way in the world. Then electricity! And only within very recent years has science turned its attention to the relationship of good light and good eyesight, a principle still far from commonly applied. And as pioneers with the new, modern, diffused lighting, on the new First and Arcade floors, Kaufmann's once more puts shoulder to the wheel of progress. We think (and we are supported in this by the best thought of lighting engineers) that this recessed, diffused form of illumination will in time supplant every other. It is the one kind of light that throws no shadow; goods can be seen and examined for what they really are. But far more important, it makes no glare and RESTS the eyes instead of taxing them. On that ground alone, it is a blessing . . . a perpetual honor to Ben Franklin, Thomas Edison and all who have labored to bring the world out of darkness.

DRY LAW ISSUE IN INDIANA

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., May 7. —(AP.)—Indiana's delegation in the National House of Representatives of 10 Republicans and three Democrats came safely through the primary election held yesterday, it was indicated today, when figures had been assembled from each district.

In at least two districts the fall campaign may be fought out on the anti-dry and dry issue. The Democrats in the Thirteenth District nominated an anti-dry, Samuel B. Pettengill, of South Bend, to make the race against Andrew J. Hickey, Republican, who has been approved by the Anti-Saloon League. Thomas P. Riddle, of Ray, another anti-dry, had a lead over three opponents for the Democratic nomination in the Twelfth District. If he is nominated he will oppose David Hogg, of Fort Wayne, a Republican whose candidacy was also approved by the Anti-Saloon League.

Two Republicans campaigned for the Seventh District nomination on anti-dry platforms, but both were trailing in the early count. Indianapolis is the center of the Seventh District and is represented in Congress by Louis Ludlow, Democrat, who is a dry.

The primary passed off quietly in most parts of the state and brought out only a light vote. In Lake County, however, nine persons were arrested and charged with conspiracy to violate the election laws. One of those held in $10,000 bond was M. H. Marquardt, 39, campaign manager for William Fulton, who was Republican candidate for renomination as commissioner of Lake County.

Besides her son, Paul, she leaves another son, Frank Coyle, of Canton, O., and three sisters.

Engine, Cars Run Over Boy, He Escapes

EDMUNDSON, Md., May 7.—(AP.)—A freight engine and two cars last night passed over 2-year-old Vernon Adams here and a hurried examination showed only cuts and bruises. A doctor said the boy would recover unless it later developed he was injured internally. The child was carried home by a neighbor who witnessed the accident.

Less than a fortnight ago a Baltimore infant, almost the same age, was struck by an engine, knocked from a trestle and only slightly injured.

MORROW SILENT ON DRY THREAT

NEWARK, N. J., May 7.—(INS.)—Silence from Dwight W. Morrow today greeted the announcement of the Anti-Saloon League of New Jersey that if he declared himself anti-dry in his campaign for the Republican nomination for United States Senator against Joseph S. Frelinghuysen, a dry candidate would be named to fight him.

At Morrow's campaign headquarters it was stated that he will have no statements to make prior to the night of May 15, when, in a speech in Newark, he will state his position on the various issues before the people—including the prohibition issue.

The action of the Anti-Saloon League of New Jersey was taken at a meeting of the "headquarters committee" at the Newark office. F. Scott McBride, national superintendent of the organization, was present.

Although Morrow has not yet declared his position on prohibition, it is understood he will be anti-dry. Former Senator Frelinghuysen is also anti-dry.

Former Gov. Edward A. Stokes, of New Jersey, visited Morrow at the latter's home in Englewood, N. J., last night.

Flying Field Used By Bird on Test Trip

NEW YORK, May 7.—(AP.)—A sagacious endurance flier has vanished from Mitchel Field. He volplaned and landed outside the supply department. After partaking of a slice of bread and half a glass of water he took to the air again. The flier who picked an aviation field when he wanted service was a blue carrier pigeon.

Russian Producer Signs With Lasky

MOSCOW, May 7. —(AP.)—Serge Mikhailovich Eisenstein, producer of the famous motion picture "Potemkin," has signed a contract to direct a number of talkies in Hollywood with Jesse L. Lasky, vice president of the Paramount Famous Players Lasky Corporation. On the fulfillment of his contract, he will return to Moscow.

MISSION MEET FOR LUTHERANS

Several hundred women are expected to attend the annual meeting of the Women's Missionary Conference of Western Pennsylvania, Joint Lutheran Synod of Ohio, in the St. Luke's Evangelical Lutheran Church, West View, tomorrow.

The Rev. F. H. Meyers, of New York acting executive director of the National Lutheran Council, will speak at 2 p. m. Miss Katherine Lehman, of Bellevue, O., general president, and Mrs. Alfred Stroud, of the Pittsburgh Inner-Mission staff, also will speak. At 7:45 p. m. a thank-offering program will be given under direction of Miss Ottila Braun.

6 BOYS HELD IN THEFTS

Six youths admitted in Morals Court today the holdup of half a dozen drug and grocery stores and theft of numerous automobiles last month. Their loot totaled about $325. All were held for court by Magistrate Thomas D. Jones.

They were Robert Halloway, 1009 Smithton avenue; Anthony Talarico, 12 Mitchell street; Joseph Williamson, 10 Courtright street; Joseph White, 1811 Laurel street; Frank Biodi, 1139 Woodlawn avenue, and Steve Waters, 1011 Grand avenue.

Police testified their arrest occurred May 2 after they had been traced by the license number of an automobile, following the robbery of a butcher shop on the North Side.

DR. MACARTNEY HITS LIBERALS

PHILADELPHIA, May 7.—Dr. Clarence Edward Macartney, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, Pittsburgh, speaking at the first commencement exercises of the new Westminster Theological seminary here, denounced liberalists in the Presbyterian denomination and declared that a large portion of Protestantism has turned from the Bible to a book which is a strange conglomerate of fact and fable, of Stone Age morality and divine precepts. He said:

"Instead of a religion based upon the revealed truth of the Bible, we now have a pseudo-Christianity which every man is to evolve out of his own mind and experience much as the spider weaves his attenuated web.

"A deleted Bible has resulted in a diluted gospel. Protestantism, as it loses its faith in the Bible, is losing its religion."

Westminster Seminary, where Dr. Macartney spoke, was started last year by a group of former students and faculty members of the Princeton Theological Seminary following dissolution of the board of directors of the institution by the Presbyterian general assembly. The dissolution was construed by the dissenting group as hostile to the evangelical faith.

SLAYERS GIVEN MONTH RESPITE

Martin Avery and William H. Sled, young Negroes sentenced to die in the electric chair for the murder of William J. Kretz, Sr., Webster avenue druggist, today were granted an extra month of life by Gov. Fisher from May 26 to June 30, so the Pardon Board may consider their applications for commutation of sentence.

Avery and Sled pleaded guilty to the murder which occured during an attempted holdup of the Kretz store at 1800 Webster avenue.

$1,500,000 Curtis Gift to Memorial

PHILADELPHIA, May 7.—(AP.)—Announcement of the gift of $1,500,000 by Cyrus H. K. Curtis to the projected Benjamin Franklin Memorial and Franklin Institute Museum was made here.

Of the total gift, $500,000 will go to the $5,000,000 fund for the building and $1,000,000 will go to the endowment fund to sustain the museum. The memorial and museum are to be erected on the Parkway here.

Berlin Policeman Injured by Reds

BERLIN, May 7.—(AP.)—A police lieutenant was injured and 22 Communists arrested during demonstrations on the first anniversary of the outlawing of the Communist "League of Red-Front Fighters."

The assailants of the lieutenant escaped. Communists found carrying weapons or wearing the uniforms of the outlawed organization, were jailed.

Mrs. Anna Taft Gives 2 Millions to College

CINCINNATI, O., May 7.—(AP.)—Mrs. Anna Taft, sister-in-law of the late Chief Justice William Howard Taft, yesterday gave $2,000,000 to the University of Cincinnati as a memorial to her husband, Charles P. Taft, philanthropist and publisher, who died last December. The fund is to be used to further the study of humanities in the college of liberal arts and the graduate school.

3 Days in Cell Start Pastor's Jail Book

LOS ANGELES, May 7.—(INS.)—Although this is but his third day in jail, the Rev. Robert P. Shuler, convicted of contempt of court, already has started a book on jail conditions. He was sentenced to 20 days and fined $100 on charges of criticising local judges' decisions.

SWEETEST STORY EVER TOLD

Another Proof that This Great Discovery Has Real Value.

"Driving a truck in all sorts of weather and making frequent deliveries cannot be said to be the easiest job in the world. The exposure to the weather is likely to result in unpleasant consequences." That was what Mr. Victor Muknowis, of Pinchenville, Ohio, learned. Telling about his experiences, he said: "I caught an occasional cold that never got quite cleared up before another one came along. This led to headaches and noises in my head. I used to look around to see who was coming for I was sure I heard a horn, only to find no one in sight. Soon I had a cough—not a hard one, but I had to clear my nose and throat every morning. This was so disagreeable I did not want any breakfast. This led to heavier lunches on the road, and they did not agree with me. One morning I woke up with a backache, and that stayed with me off and on for months. My shoulders felt stiff, and I would have pains in my legs and arms.

"I began to think I was getting too old for outdoor work. I had to take great care of my stomach, and every night I felt utterly worn out. I was hunting an easier job when one of my buddies told me he had used World's Tonic. His case was a good deal like mine, so I decided to see what World's Tonic would do for me.

"Say, it was wonderful how quickly all these aches and pains disappeared. In a month I was eating what I wanted, had all the strength I needed for everything, and was sleeping like a baby. From what I hear, experiences like mine are an old story to you fellows, but believe me it is the sweetest story I ever told. World's Tonic has made that truck job feel like a snap now. I'll tell the world."

Yes, it is an old story to people around World's Tonic headquarters. But it is a real one at that, because it shows one more added to the great number who have been helped by this remarkable medicine, which can be obtained at Dow's, May's & Liggett's, Mayflower, or any other first-class drug store. HEIR OF JOHN D., BRIDE TO TOUR

HANOVER, N. H., May 7.—(INS.)—Nelson A. Rockefeller, Dartmouth senior, let some of his classmates in on a secret today—his honeymoon will be a seven-month cruise around the world, with long stops in China and India.

Rockefeller, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Rockefeller, Jr., and Miss Mary Todhunter Clark, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Hamilton Clark, of Cynwyd, Pa., will be united in marriage in St. Asath's Episcopal Church, Bala, Pa., on June 23, soon after young Rockefeller graduates. The father of the bride was formerly head of the Pennsylvania Railroad system.

Following the round-the-world cruise, young Rockefeller and his bride will make their home in a new $75,000 house J. D. Rockefeller, Jr., is building for them at Pocantico Hills, N. Y. Young Rockefeller told his classmates he planned to enter his father's office.

'GIANT' JAILED AS BIGAMIST

CHICAGO, May 7.—(INS.)—Eiler V. Krarup, 7 feet tall, and said to be the son of a Danish nobleman, was held here today on a charge of bigamy.

Mrs. Miaiam Heideman Krarup charged he married her in Detroit in 1923 and left her and their 3-year-old daughter in Calumet, Mich., in 1927. Mrs. Krarup is a writer of poetry.

Krarup's supposed second wife is the former Lois Damler, daughter of an executive of Sears, Roebuck & Co.

Tucker declares Krarup, while attached to the Department of Commerce, was named corespondent in divorce proceedings by a nephew of Chief Justice Charles Evans Hughes.

Queen Marie Leaves For Balshik Palace

BUCHAREST, Rumania, May 7.—(AP.)—Queen Marie, of Rumania, departed today for a long stay at the Palace of Balshik, where she will be joined by her daughter, Princess Ileana, on the latter's return from Egypt, May 14.

Princess Ileana is expected to leave at the end of the month for a visit to England.

Ex-Naval Officer Hydrographer Head

MONTE CARLO, May 7.—(AP.)—Rear Admiral Andrew T. Long, U. S. N. retired, yesterday was elected president of the Internation Hydrographic Bureau.

Traffic Officer Foster Parent To 35, Dies

ST. LOUIS, May 7.—(AP.)—Police Sergeant Joseph Schneider, St. Louis' model traffic officer, who adopted and reared 35 children, died yesterday from an illness of several months resulting from a paralytic stroke last December 11. He was 54 years old.

For years he directed traffic on one of the city's busiest corners. He won national recognition for his skill as a traffic officer and was often called "the human semaphore." Childless, he and his wife have acted as foster parents to 18 homeless boys and girls and legally adopted 17. Twenty children are residing now at his home.

FIRE DESTROYS 21-YEAR ESSAY

ALLEGANY, N. Y., May 7.—(AP.)—A manuscript on morals, which Father George Skelly had only recently completed after 21 years' effort, was among the possessions destroyed when the monastery, seminary and church at St. Bonaventure were burned Monday. Father Skelly was the dean of history at St. Bonaventure College.

Father Thomas Plassman, president of the college, today fixed the loss at $1,450,000. He said the building loss was $450,000 and the contents $1,000,000.

The last water was poured on the ruins last night.

Seminarians who are to be ordained to the priesthood shortly were transferred to Niagara University at Niagara Falls, N. Y., and other students were sent to their homes for the balance of the school term.

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS

ANOTHER 'RIDE' VICTIM SLAIN

CHICAGO, May 7.—(AP.)—Another gangster went for his last ride today. His mutilated body was found face down in a ditch along the Joliet road, a favorite battleground of bootleggers.

County highway police believed the victim was "Big Jack" Heinman, a Capone clansman.

The man apparently had been tortured before he was slain. A machine gun had sprayed a dozen bullets into his head.

The scene was beyond the city limits at Ninety-third and Harlem avenues, a mile from the spot where John (Dingbat) Oberta and his bodyguard were found slain a few weeks ago.

Detroit Club Woman Seeks Congress Seat

DETROIT, May 7.—(AP.)—Mrs. Maud Slocum Moross, Detroit club woman, today announced her candidacy for Republican nomination for representative in Congress from the Sixth Michigan District. She thus became the second candidate opposing the renomination of Representative Grant M. Hudson. State Senator Seymour Person, of Dansing, announced several days ago.

Hudson is seeking renomination as a dry. Person is running as a wet and Mrs. Moross has indicated she does not consider the issue of paramount importance.

PRINCESS' LOVE AFFAIR TOLD

DENVER, Colo., May 7.—(AP.)—Men spectators have crowded the courtroom here to hear testimony in a case involving the alleged theft of a purported princess' love, but Denver women have evinced little interest in the trial.

Yesterday only two women, one, Princess Marie Alimova Kunkel, for whose love William J. Kunkel, 28-year-old New York fruit broker, has brought suit against William Bryan Quigley, Denver attorney, attended the trial. The other woman was a friend of the princess.

Kunkel testified that he called at Quigley's New York apartment and found Mrs. Kunkel there and also described a scene at the Pennsylvenia Station in New York, which he said occurred when his wife was served with notice of his divorce action against her. Quigley, he said, embraced and kissed Mrs. Kunkel in his presence before she boarded the train.

'Parrot Fever' Hinted In Woman's Death

CHICAGO, May 7.—(AP.)—The possibility that psittacosis, or "parrot fever" may have caused the death of Mrs. Helen Walters, 70, yesterday, is being investigated by the coroner's office. Mrs. Walters was found unconscious in her home. At her bedside were two parrots. She was taken to a hospital, where she died.

Pittsburgh Man Hit-Run Victim

AMBRIDGE, Pa., May 7.—Believed by police to be a victim of a hit-and-run driver, Sebastiano Tetracco, 35, of 1304 Leitz avenue, Pittsburgh, is in the Sewickley Hospital in a serious condition. Tetracco was found unconscious on Duss avenue by Harold Grimes, Beaver, and Miss Olive Smith, New Brighton, and taken to the hospital.

Mrs. Hope Cromwell Weds in New York

PHILADELPHIA, May 7.—(INS.)—Mrs. Hope Beale Cromwell, of Haverford, divorced wife of Oliver E. Cromwell, son of Mrs. E. T. Stotesbury, prominent Philadelphia society matron, was married in New York yesterday to William Quigley, former Penn football star and local investment broker, friends revealed today. Mrs. Quigley is a granddaughter of the late Truxton Beale, minister to Greece and Persia under President Harding.

In dress it's Distinction

in a cigarette it's Taste

IT'S THE UNUSUAL that distinguishes a gown. Again, it's the unusual that sets Chesterfield apart.

STYLE in a gown, "chic" in a hat—and in a Chesterfield, Taste!

TASTE IS THE REAL REASON for Chesterfield's enduring popularity . . . the better taste of choice tobaccos, mild and ripe, blended and cross-blended to a rich delicacy of flavor, unique in a cigarette—in every sense of the word . . . "TASTE above everything".

We state it as our honest belief that the tobaccos used in Chesterfield cigarettes are of finer quality and hence of better taste than in any other cigarette at the price. LIGGETT & MYERS TOBACCO CO.

Real Estate

An exchange deal has been closed through the C. L. Saxton Company and the Richey-Barnhart Company for the Fidelity Trust Company to William H. Taylor involving a 12-room brick house and garage for three cars at 1655 Shady avenue, near Forbes street, lot 70x200 feet. The buyer occupied the property May 1. In part payment, the Fidelity Trust Company accepted a nine-room brick house and two-car garage on 35x120 feet at 6557 Bartlett street, Squirrel Hill.

In the downtown district, J. E. Tierney, of the Real Estate Company of Pittsburgh, leased for Carl S. Cuda to Samuel Lubin and Isadore Smalley a store in Diamond square at the rear of 430 Market street to be used as a flower shop. The same brokers leased to Matthew Mishkinis a store at 19 Diamond square for a sandwich shop. They also leased for the Pittsburgh Brewing Company to the Elco Tire Company a store at Market street and the Boulevard of the Allies, and for Pannier Brothers Company to the Pittsburgh Parts Manufacturing Company a store at 207 Sandusky street, North Side.

In the East End, M. J. Sweeney sold for J. J. Madden to Hyman Weiss a seven-room brick house and garage at 1029 Duffield street for $12,700, and for Charles O. Miller to Morris Grumet a nine-room brick house and garage at 924 Chislett street for $12,000.

Edward P. Daume, of the Commonwealth Real Estate Company, talked on the local tax problem yesterday before the Pittsburgh Real Estate Board following their noon luncheon at the William Penn Hotel. He declared that high taxes are due to the indifference of the tax payers and may only be remedied through organized effort.

Two rows of four brick houses, each at 1241-55 Murdoch street, Squirrel Hill, have been sold by the Colonial Trust Company, executor of the estate of Charles P. Hitchens, to William G. Bechman. The lot is 150x200 feet. It is understood that the consideration was in the neighborhood of $60,000.

The Rt. Rev. Hugh C. Boyle, Bishop of the Roman Catholic Diocese of Pittsburgh, has taken title from Anthony Napierkowski to a brick house on 75x135 feet at 248 Forty-fourth street, Lawrenceville.

In Homewood, the Finance Realty Company represented by A. M. Thomas, sold for Emanuel Friedman to Annie S. Gardiner, a double brick house and three garages at 7411-13 Finance street for $10,000.

A house in Norwich avenue, Brookline, lot 30x120 feet, has been conveyed by Jessie Davis to William T. Whale.

In Overbrook, John H. Hehman has sold to Harry Vance, Sr., a new six-room brick house on 52x125 feet at 210 Harvard street, Englewood Gardens Plan.

In Crafton, Earle R. Seaver has conveyed to John M. Reed 50x140 feet with a house in McMunn avenue.

A plot of two acres in the Kittanning road, O'Hara Township, has been sold by Herbert G. Lytle, et al, to Grant Curry.

Building permit applications included:

Twenty-seventh Ward—W. B. Gordon, brick dwelling and garage, 3723 Brighton road, $12,000.

Eleventh Ward—G. A. Johnston, brick dwelling, 420-22 North Graham street, $8,500.

HOLLYWOOD AND BROADWAY COMMENT; EVENTS IN AMUSEMENT REALM

When Big Film Names Need Ready Cash to Pawn Shops They Go

By DOROTHY HERZOG

HOLLYWOOD, May 7.

Ernest K. Trattner, author, vows this is true. A cunning young thing hurried into a Hollywood bookstore and breathlessly ordered a copy of the "Passion Play" by Elinor Glyn!

John Barrymore's new release, "The Man From Blankley's," has come to a local theater. Mister Barrymore, how could you . . .

There's a certain jeweler on Hollywood boulevard who is going quite a flashing business. He runs a pawnbroke department on the side. The economic situation in the colony is such that frequently big names need ready cash. They pawn their jewelry at the regular 6 per cent or whatever the interest is. A month or so later, they redeem it. The jeweler makes a nice profit on the static transaction.

John Barrymore

THOSE UNPAID BILLS

I wonder why money is so tight in this town. When you stop to think that flick salaries run from $500 a week into thousands it seems absurd for folks to be broke. That they are is quite evident from the desultory way in which most bills are paid.

As an example, Bess Schenk, one of the W. K. modistes here, has gone into bankruptcy. She is reckoned to have several hundred thousand dollars in unpaid bills. Can't collect.

Renee Adoree

Ernst Lubitsch calls Jack Buchanon the lead in his new operetta, "Monte Cristo." Mr. Book.

Renee Adoree is very ill in a local hospital. She has few visitors. Hollywood has time only for success.

IN MEXICO NOW

The "So This Is Mexico" troupe trailed to Pico Canyon in the San Fernandez Valley. Purpose: Locations. Rex Lease heroes in this fun. Rex was prowling around the scenery between shots when suddenly he let out a yell. An assistant cameraman and a prop man rushed to him. Rex had spotted a snake. The cameraman like a darn idiot (says he) clunked a heavy stick on the snake's head. The propman did likewise to its tail. A Tom Mix looped a wire over the tail and the snake was photographed alive. Then it was killed. Turned out to be a rattler— four feet 11 inches long with 11 rattlers to its credit. That makes you an Elk. But speaking of "So This Is Mexico," Armida, Mexican actress, has arrived from New York to traipse opposite Rex Lease.

GOING BOAT RIDING

The Raymond Griffiths and the Wells Roots plan to cruise down the California-Mexican coast in Ray's boat.

Elsie Janis is among the new ones to fall for a yacht. Anchored, like most of 'em at San Pedro.

Zelma O'Neill is headed London-wards via New York. Zelma finished her share in "Follow Through," with Nancy Carroll and Buddy Rogers and is out to cover 6,000 miles or so and join her husband, Anthony Bushell, in London. They will summer in England and on the continent and return to the Gilded Coast this fall.

Credit Men Will Attend Convention

A number of credit executives of the local stores will attend the annual convention of the National Retail Credit Association at Toronto, Canada, June 17 and 18, it was announced by J. R. Truesdale, secretary of the Retail Credit Men's Association, of Pittsburgh. Mr. Truesdale also announced that the merchant owned Credit Bureau, Inc., with which the association is affiliated, will issue a monthly bulletin dealing with collections generally and information as to judgments and executions issued.

WALTER WINCHELL On Broadway

Miracle

Last night we two fell back in love again.
Oh, I could charge it to a score of things;
The roses that I bore you, or the pain
Of memory that rises up and clings
To lovers who have watched their castles fall
And sullen-eyed have left the dreary scene.
I only know that love came back to call
And found a welcome heart-felt and serene.

So, dear, it was to share your food and wine,
To feel your lips against my own once more,
To hold you close to me and call you mine,
And laugh like children as the clock struck four;

What strange, queer-sounding words are gloom and pain—
Last night we two fell back in love again!

—Don Wahn.

Of All Things!

The producer of a recent play casualty is seeking $500,000 damages from a dramatic critic in New York because the critic, according to the plaintiff, "witnessed but ten minutes" of his production and then disparaged it.

The incident recalls the time Heywood Broun was sued by an actor for writing: "He's the world's rottenest actor!" The court dismissed the action with this comment:

"If the critic had said that you were the world's greatest actor it wouldn't mean that you were. So when he says you are the world's rottenest actor, it doesn't mean that you are."

Say Me a Big Woid!

Take it from Billy Selwyn he overheard two dialeticians in the Garment Center talk sweatshop.

"How's business?" asked the first.

"Ach," ach'd the other as he shrugged his shoulders, "it's phenomenal—but it'll get better!"

The King Queen

Maizie King is the queen among ciggie lassies on Broadway. She also owns the Abbey coatroom concession. She used to peddle flowers there before La Guinan got stage struck, and she is a shrewd person. A good sport and gambler at heart, Miss King will never argue with you about the steep tariff she exacts for her peanuts, dolls, souvenirs or ciggies. If you grumble, "Golly, that's expensive, isn't it?" she shames you into paying pronto with: "Very well, big spender—I'll match you for it."

And she rarely comes in second.

The Morning Mail

"Dear Rock Man," affectionately writes George Beatty, "last night I went to see a certain Broadway hit show starring a renowned comedian. I went to see him hoping I could get some new jokes for my act. Imagine my embarrassment upon discovering that he was using five gags of mine!"

Ethel Barry-Boring You

Mr. Jay E. House, who col'mns for the Philly Public Ledger, comments on Ethel Barrymore's recent blast regarding New York's dramatic critics. He says in part:

"... our own advice to Miss Barrymore is to forget the terrible writing men and get into a better play than those in which she has been recently appearing. If Miss Barrymore could find a good play, she'd be surprised at the celerity with which her grievances would erase themselves."

Mr. Percy Hammond, the N. Y. Herald Trib critic, defends the craft by reminding her that her last two plays were shoddy. Mr. Hammond, in case you've forgotten, was singled out for her abuse sometime ago. But when remorse set in, Miss Barrymore refused to open her new theater unless the critic promised to attend the premiere.

"One or two of the critics ought to be shot at dawn!" Mr. H. quotes Miss B., and then he is reminded of what Nora Bayes used to say, "Why wait till dawn?"

Perhaps all of us are taking it too seriously and are revealing a great amount of sensitiveness. For after all, what she said was: "New York is full of the most terrible men who write," when she might have said: "New York is full of men who write terribly."

By Way of Report

Hundreds of columns ago it was recorded here that those white X's on the windows of buildings in construction were put there to remind carpenters that they must be careful and not smash panes while juggling planks, etc.

Other writers have written on the subject, each offering a different reason. A prominent builder settled this argument so far as this corner is concerned. The white X's or marks are put there, it appears, so that the glazier may stand across the way and check up, instead of going through the building to count them.

The Crack Terrible

A housewife postcards that "The Singing Fool" might be described as the world's best talkie, but that to her it's just her husband taking a bath.

Sounds Familiar

George Fanelli asserts he heard it at a table away up at Woodmansten Inn. An excited celebrity-worshiper breathlessly chirped:

"I hear that two movie stars are in here some place!"

"What am I supposed to do," snapped her bored escort, "run a temperature?"

Anything for a Laugh

Mr. Donald Pond, one of the Evening Telegram's dramatic staff, reviews the new play "Courtesan" and says in part:

"Then things begin to happen. The husband, who she thinks will take her back any time, comes to town with their six-year-old son, whom she has never seen."

Motherhood in the modern manner.

The Penalty of Fame

"Mr. Walter Winchell, Daily Mirror, N. Y.," indignantly writes L. C. T., "this is just to say if I had my way I'd dump all Broadway columnists into the East River with the rest of the garbage. Why the devil can't you let a fellow (or fellows) alone after they have found success. As for your column about Amos 'n' Andy stealing Miller and Lyles' stuff, have you ever stopped to consider that Amos 'n' Andy have been doing that routine for five years, even though they were unknown to the radio? You columnists are always jealous of anyone who is good because you are so rotten yourself."

But we never said anything of the sort about Andy 'n' Amos. It was written by Mr. M. Hellinger, of No. 235 E. 48th St., and we trust that L. C. T. will give him a piece of his (or her) alleged mind.

Cards, Dancing Scored as Part Of Church Life

PHILADELPHIA, May 7.—(AP.)—Cards and dancing in connection with church activities were denounced by Dr. William J. Miller, of Philadelphia, in addressing the spring conference of the Evangelical Lutheran Synod of Eastern Pennsylvania.

Pastors of 50 churches in Eastern Pennsylvania and New Jersey are attending the conference.

THURSTON WILL BRING MAGIC TO ALVIN NEXT WEEK

Tomorrow morning seats go on sale for the one week return engagement in the Alvin of Thurston, the magician. Matinees will be given Wednesday and Saturday. Since his visit last January, Thurston has added an entirely new illusion to his performance, known as "Black Art."

William Gillette is appearing on the Nixon stage this week in "Sherlock Holmes." The engagement marks the final appearance of Mr. Gillette's portrayal of Holmes on any stage.

Walter F. Jones, character man with the George Sharp Players, plays Dion Boucicault's aged hero, Old Tom, in "After Dark," current production in the Pitt.

AUTO LICENSES GAIN 59,723

HARRISBURG, May 7.—(AP.)—An increase of 54,861 in the total number of passenger motor vehicles registered in Pennsylvania from January 1 to April 30, over the corresponding period in 1929, was reported by the Bureau of Motor Vehicles, Department of Revenue. In the commercial motor vehicle registration class there was an increase of 4,466 over the 1929 figures and increases also were reported for registration of motor omnibuses, trailers and dealers, making the increase for the period in total registrations 59,723.

The number of licenses issued in this period was 1,888,691 as compared with 1,838,469 in 1929, and the total receipts for the period were $27,281,819, an increase of $3,936,200 over the $23,345,618 figure for the same period in 1929.

The total number of passenger motor vehicles registered from January 1 to April 30, this year, is 1,337,747, while 200,290 commercial motor vehicles have been registered.

However, during the month of April the only increase in comparison with April, 1929, was in the receipts from licenses, and this was due to higher fees. Licenses issued in April fell off this year by 10,660 in comparison with the corresponding month in 1929 but the receipts increased $45,143. Decreases during April of 1930 in comparison with the same month in 1929 were noted in total registrations to the extent of 16,594, there being 87,266 in April, 1929, and 70,672 in April, 1930.

Engineer Halts Train, Saves Autoist

SHARON, Pa., May 7.—August Griese, of Oakdale Heights, Cleveland, escaped serious injury when he backed his automobile into the path of an Erie freight train. Engineer H. M. Booth stopped the train before it struck the auto.

Butler Man Killed By Steam Shovel

BUTLER, Pa., May 7.—(AP.)—Struck by a steam shovel while at work in Memorial cemetery, Kenneth Wood, 20, was instantly killed.

3 GET 4 YEARS FOR ARSON

WASHINGTON, Pa., May 7.—Dewey Knight, Harry Knight and Harold Knight, brothers, until recently in the employ of the Superior Mining Company, were sentenced to four years in the workhouse when they entered a plea of guilty to having started a fire which destroyed the tipple at the Superior coal mine at Eldersville April 20 with a loss of $150,000. Approximately 300 men were thrown out of work.

Dewey Knight, a forman for the company, said his other two brothers did not like Superintendent P. J. McMahon. They had been drinking on Sunday, April 20, and that night took gasoline and oil waste and started the blaze.

FOUR TRAINMEN HURT IN WRECK

BROWNSVILLE, Pa., May 17.—Four trainmen were injured when two locomotives, operating as a doubleheader, wrecked near the Derry mine on the Scott's Run branch of the Monongahela Railway Company. A defective switch was assigned as the cause.

Those injured were O. E. Johnson, fireman, Morgantown, W. Va.; Roy A. Green, Morgantown, W. Va.; H. A. McCombs, Brownsville, and Harry Minehart, Jr., South Brownsville. Other members of the crews escaped with cuts and bruises.

Churchmen Meeting At Beaver Falls

BEAVER FALLS, Pa., May 7.—Delegates from Beaver, Butler and Lawrence counties will gather here today for the annual spring convention of Christian churches of District No. 2, in the First Christian Church.

Speakers during the all-day session will be the Rev. Bert Wilson, Indianapolis, Ind.; the Rev. Jesse B. Porter, New Castle; the Rev. H. Glenn Carpenter, Beaver; the Rev. H. A. Denton, state secretary; Miss Mary Sheldrake, Beaver Falls; Miss Catherine Reed, Beaver, and the Rev. G. S. Bennett, New Castle.

W. B. Jones, Banker, Dies in Youngstown

YOUNGSTOWN, O., May 7.—W. B. Jones, 70, president of the Metropolitan Savings and Loan Company, and affiliated with banking interests of the Valley for many years, died today after a short illness.

Mr. Jones was connected with the auditing department of the Youngstown Sheet and Tube Company in the early days of the organization, when it was first being developed by James A. Campbell.

Franklin Company Building New Plant

FRANKLIN, Pa., May 7.—Inspection of the ruined dewaxing plant of the Franklin Creek Refining Company, indicated today that the fire loss is greater than originally estimated. First reports were that the loss would run about $30,000. A new dewaxing plant, larger than the one destroyed by fire is now in process of erection. It will not be ready for two months. The plant will continue to operate, though some of the refining processes will be curtailed.

A GRAND COFFEE

that is today's inheritance from the good living of the OLD SOUTH

NOWHERE in the Old South, which meant nowhere perhaps in the whole world, could be found such rich old wines, such temptingly brown roasts, such brilliant assemblages of distinguished men and lovely women as adorned the old Maxwell House in Nashville. Most famous of all its specialties was its special coffee, a rare blend extraordinarily fragrant, full flavored, smooth and potent, rich in aroma.

So satisfying and mellow was this coffee that people throughout Dixie sought it for their homes. The news of its goodness spread and spread. Today, more than ever, it is prized by coffee lovers all over America. Why don't you savor its merit? Why not buy a pound of Maxwell House Coffee and try it at breakfast tomorrow?

GOOD to the LAST DROP

There is only one blend of Maxwell House Coffee. The quality that has made it famous is always the same and there is always the same net weight of coffee as specified on the friendly blue tin, no matter where or from whom you buy it. Try it without risk of disappointment; if you are not fully satisfied, your money will be unhesitatingly returned.

MAXWELL HOUSE Coffee

ARGENTINE RED PARDONED

BUENOS AIRES, May 7.—(AP)—After 20 years imprisonment at Ushuaia penal colony, the anarchist Simon Radowitzky, imprisoned for throwing a bomb in Buenos Aires, is returning to civilization aboard an Argentine transport. His sentence has been commuted by President Yrigoyen.

The President's decree stipulated that he be deported. He will be trans-shipped to a steamer for Montevideo. It is reported he plans to reside in Uruguay.

However Radowitzky hopes for authorization to enter the United States. His parents live in Milwaukee, Wis. A letter from them, begging for the pardon of their son, was largely instrumental in moving President Yrigoyen to issue the decree unprecedented in Argentine law.

In 1918 he escaped from Ushuaia in the uniform of a guard and was picked up by a mysterious motorboat. The boat was piloted by an expert navigator, whose identity has never been learned, through the Straits of Magellan and the dangerous waters off Patagonia, and landed in Chile.

Shortly afterwards, Radowitzky was re-arrested after killing a police agent.

He was originally sentenced for killing the police commissioner and his secretary at Buenos Aires in revenge for what he alleged was a massacre of workers two months before. Surrounded by the police, he attempted to commit suicide and was seriously wounded.

LIONS IN STATE ELECT KRAMER

NEW CASTLE, Pa., May 7.—(AP)—Daniel Kramer, of Reading, was named governor of the Fourteenth District, Lions' International, at the annual convention here. The district embraces Pennsylvania.

Kramer's home city was chosen as the 1931 convention city. Wilkinsburg, the only other contender for the convention, withdrew to make the selection of Reading unanimous.

The election of Kramer was announced tonight at the annual banquet and ball which brought the meetings to a close.

Edwin Vankeuren, of Lebanon, was announced as the winner of the annual inter-club oratorical contest.

An automobile tour of Lawrence County, a luncheon and the final business were on the last day's program.

STUDENTS HERE IN STATE MEET

Students from five city high schools and others from 15 schools in the county will be among the 600 students who will go to Philadelphia tomorrow to take part in the state championship activities sponsored by the Pennsylvania Forensic League. They will compete at the University of Pennsylvania for state honors in orchestra, band, debating, oratory, dramatic reading and extemporaneous speaking contests.

In all, there will be more than 1,500 pupils taking part, coming from all parts of the state. Peabody, Westinghouse, Allegheny, Oliver and Schenley high schools will have representatives in the contests.

FEDERAL HEADS PAY TRIBUTE TO RED CROSS

Humanitarianism Lauded At Annual Convention; Capper and Klein Speak

WASHINGTON, May 7.—(AP.)—Champions of industry and agriculture joined today in thanking the American Red Cross for blended humanitarian and economic aid rendered in both fields.

Senator Capper, of Kansas, addressing the annual convention luncheon of the Red Cross, termed the organization the "twentieth century's most efficient trouble-shooter." He asserted it justified itself hourly in ministering "continually to the aches and pains of a continent," and that most of its relief was in behalf of the stricken farmer.

KLEIN JOINS TRIBUTE

Julius Klein, assistant secretary of commerce, told the convention's 1,000 delegates that their "humanitarian achievements were of profound consequence to business." Speedy first aid, he said, had often prevented disintegration of the economic structure over wide areas.

Tracing the results of disaster in the business field, the assistant commerce secretary described how even a partial business paralysis in the stricken area slowed up the currents of trade in far-distant districts.

Therein lies one of the supreme needs for a well-organized system of universal relief," he said. "Our present-day world of economic affairs is so intensely integrated, so closely bound together, that business in one section can no loger sit back in smug uncncern over a dsaster in a remote land.

"It has been truly said that distance is dead. And any agency of prompt amelioration of misery anywhere is, by that very circumstance, a factor of the very first importance in the maintenance of industrial and commercial stability."

Klein said he believed the business men of the United States acknowledged gladly that they owed a real debt of gratitude to the American Red Cross—one that should be recognized in practical ways.

CAPPER SOUNDS PRAISE

Senator Capper, in praising the disaster relief work of the Red Cross, asserted equal account should be taken of the less spectacular work of teaching farmer and city dweller alike better health methods and better food habits.

He said he was not surprised to find that a greater part of the disaster relief of the Red Cross has been expended in behalf of the stricken farmer. In the Mississippi valley flood of 1927, Capper said, approximately $17,000,000 was expended by the organization for relief, not only for medical care and housing, but for livestock feed, the replacement of both livestock and poultry, the reconstruction of farm buildings and the reclearing of land.

Auto Hurts Boy, Crashes Glass; Driver Fined

FARRELL, Pa., May 7.—When H. Q. Walker, West Middlesex, cranked his car in Market avenue, he forgot it was in gear. The machine backed down the street, striking Frank Szabo, 13, of Fruit avenue, and then crashed into a plate glass window of Pete Hauti's poolroom. Szabo was taken to the office of a physician, where he was treated for minor injuries. Walker was fined $10 on a charge of reckless driving.

LONDON LABOR PARTY BEATEN

LONDON, May 7.—(AP.)—The Labor government yesterday suffered defeat in one of the most significant Parliamentary by-elections since the formation of the cabinet last June. It was the first since the close of the naval conference.

Sir Cyril Cobb, Conservative, was elected by 240 votes in the West Fulham constituency of London over J. W. Banfield, Laborite. Division of the Liberal votes counted heavily and brought victory to the Conservatives.

The vote was Cobb, 16,223; Banfield, 15,983.

PENAL SYSTEM CONDEMNED AS FAILURE

Law-Making Vain Gesture To Reduce Crime; Expert Says, Urging Mind Study

By EWDARD B. LOCKETT.
International News Service.

WASHINGTON, May 7.—The law making of Congress is but a vain gesture in America's effort to reduce crime, William A. Healy, of Boston, famous psychiatrist and one of the trio which defended Nathan Leopold and Richard Loeb in their famous murder trail, told International News Service today.

Healy is here attending the International Congress on Mental Hygiene.

He condemned the American penal system as an utter failure. Congress, he said, has gone on enacting new laws for years, building up legal barriers which are but invitations for the mentally sick to crash through.

PREVENTION URGED

Instead of law-making, said the psychiatrist, the nation should have been studying its law-breakers, finding crime motivation, working for prevention rather than cure by punishment. The best of laws alone, he continued, will never solve the crime problem. There must be sympathetic, intelligent supervision of the mental conduct of the child, and it must be followed up with adult habit and conduct records. Under such conditions, and under these alone, said Healy, can a nation hope to control and suppress crime.

Prisons, said Healy, are the devil's workshops. Men kept inside idle must think, he added. Their thoughts are far from reconstructive with nothing but punishment to think about.

OPTIMISTIC ON YOUTH

For American youth, however, the crimnologist had nothing but encouragement and optimism, the signs of the times, mentally speaking, he said, are healthy.

He declared:

Look at the improvement over the Victorian era. Look at the immoral conditions of that age, where immorality was rampant, but never mentioned in conversation. Youth of today is frank, but the mind is basically more healthy than those of other times.

Healy suggested colonization of criminals under comprehensive supervision and observation as the path of eradication of crime.

First U. S. Troops Sailed to War 13 Years Ago

WASHINGTON, May 7.—(INS.)—It was 13 years ago today that America's first contribution in men to the Great War sailed on the steamship Orduna, of the Cunard Line, then in use as a British transport.

It was Base Hospital No. 4, together with some extra medical officers, including First Lieut. William T. Fitzsimmons, Medical Corps, the first American officer killed in the war.

FIGHTING 42ND TO MAKE TOUR

NEW YORK, May 7.—(AP.)—Four hundred strong, the Rainbow Division is going back to the Plains of Champagne this summer—a pilgrimage of the veterans of the Fighting Forty-second to the battlefield where they helped stop the last big German offensive of the World War.

Representing 26 states and the District of Columbia, the veterans—many with their wives—will sail from New York July 16 on the liner President Roosevelt, to revisit the battlefields and trench sectors where they spent the good part of their year and a half in France.

Gen. Henri Gouraud, who commanded the Rainbow Division at Champagne, will greet the veterans at Chalons Sur Marne.

During their nine-day tour of the battlefields they will visit the fighting grounds in the Oureq River Valley, north of Chateau Thierry and the Argonne—Verdun, Remy, Navarin Farm, Chalons, St. Mihiel, Bar Le Duc and Rheims.

The expedition sails for home on the George Washington, August 7, following a week of sightseeing in Paris.

Col. John J. Mangan, of New York, president of the Rainbow Division Veterans, will head the party.

Rural Carrier Held In Girl's Injuries

ALIQUIPPA, Pa., May 7.—George Hopkins, R. F. D. No. 3, Coraopolis, was held for court by Justice Charles Hayward on a charge of failure to stop following an accident. Hopkins is accused of running down and injuring Anna Begg, 16, Aliquippa.

"Crows-Feet" are Hastened by "NERVES"

"NERVES" cause more wrinkles and "Crows-Feet" than age. First come recurring nervous troubles—jumpy, jangled nerves, or blue, irritable spells, usually followed by a Nervous Headache, Neuralgia, Nervous Indigestion, Sleeplessness and other serious nervous troubles. Then creams, powders, and facials are useless—wrinkles soon creep in. "Control your 'NERVES'," say leading beauty experts, to keep your youth and charm. It's so easy now to quiet your "NERVES" and help keep "Crows-feet" out.

Just drop a Dr. Miles' Effervescent NERVINE Tablet into a glass of water. You'll like the pleasant effervescent drink it makes. You'll be delighted with the way it relaxes tense "NERVES." This time-tested NERVINE formula is harmless. Now it is combined with bicarbonate of soda and citric acid in handy Effervescent Tablets which tend to correct acidosis—a frequent cause of nervousness.

Don't let "NERVES" rob you of charm and beauty. Get a package at your drug store today. If not fully satisfied with results—your druggist will refund your money. At All Drug Stores. (B6)

2 NEW FAST TRAINS to Washington and Baltimore

For the greater convenience of Pittsburgh travelers, the Baltimore & Ohio inaugurated on April 27 two new fast trains to Washington and Baltimore. (All time shown is Standard Time.)

"The BLUE RIDGE LIMITED"

Lv. Pittsburgh . . . . . 12.30 p. m.
Ar. Washington . . . . . 7.50 p. m.
Ar. Baltimore (Camden Station) . . 8.45 p. m.

This train makes the run from Pittsburgh to Washington in seven hours and twenty minutes, faster by more than an hour than any other railroad and over the shortest route by sixty-six miles.

"The BLUE RIDGE LIMITED" carries the latest type of equipment, including individual seat coaches, Colonial dining cars and parlor cars.

"The WILLIAM PENN"
All-Pullman

Lv. Pittsburgh . . . . . 11.50 p. m.
Ar. Washington . . . . . 7.15 a. m.
Ar. Baltimore (Camden Station) . . 8.40 a. m.

The equipment of "The WILLIAM PENN" includes standard Pullman sleepers and club car to Washington and Baltimore, also sleeper to Philadelphia, arriving 10.29 a. m. The club car (with newspapers and magazines) and sleepers are parked in Pittsburgh for occupancy at 9.00 p. m. Dining car serves breakfast from Washington to Philadelphia.

In addition to the convenient schedules and comfortable equipment of these fine trains, when you travel on the Baltimore & Ohio we try to make you feel at home—to render the extra courtesies and attentive service that will make your trip more enjoyable.

Try one of these new trains on your next trip to Washington or the East.

PREMIER KING FOR ELECTIONS

OTTAWA, May 7.—(AP.)—Premier Mackenzie King announced in the House of Commons that a general election would be held at the earliest possible date this year.

He indicated that since there was a general expectancy of an election and that uncertainty attendant upon elections was always apt to have a prejudicial effect upon business, he thought it best to hold the balloting as quickly as possible.

He also agreed with R. B. Bennett, opposition leader, that in view of the Imperial and economic conferences to be held this year in London, the people should be given an opportunity to say what representatives should go to the conferences from the Dominion.

Mr. Mackinzie King suggested that Mr. Bennett confer with him to arrange for bringing the business of the present session of Parliament to "an orderly and speedy conclusion." He pointed out that the House of Commons had had before it nearly all the legislation which the government had intended to introduce.

The premier's announcement came immediately after Mr. Bennett had moved his budget amendment, in which he declared that the government had lost the people's confidence.

Ex-Kaiser Leads Firemen to Blaze

LONDON, May 7.—(INS.)—Ex-Kaiser Wilhelm of Germany, tried his hand at fire-fighting.

According to a Central News dispatch from Amsterdam, the ex-kaiser quickly marshaled his servants when fire broke out at a little village near Doorn, where he is living in exile.

The blaze was in the home of a local burgher, Herr Brand, a friend of the ex-kaiser's. When the former German emperor and his eager volunteers arrived on the scene they found the fire already extinguished.

CONNELLSVILLE, Pa., May 7.—J. M. Cecil has been named chairman of a civic board organized at South Connellsville. Other officers are Thomas C. Phalin, treasurer, and W. H. Atkins, secretary.

DOPE FORGERY CHARGED MAN

Howard J. Powell, 36, of Tenth avenue, Homestead, was held in Central Police Station today for a hearing before the United States commissioner, for the alleged forging of physicians' names to prescriptions with which he procured morphine.

Powell was arrested last night in the pharmacy of W. F. Heidenreich, at 1 Smithfield street, by Cornerman Norbert Graney, who had been summoned by a clerk. Powell made for the exit when he saw the policeman, but was caught before he could reach the street.

Thirty-two prescriptions, each for morphine, and bearing the names of different physicians which were forged, were found in Powell's pockets, police said. Powell, sought by the Federal narcotic agents for a year, obtained the drug in this manner, police revealed. Besides the prescriptions police reported finding a hypodermic needle, in Powell's possession.

COUNCIL BALKS AT 11TH ST. COSTS

SIDE WALKS of PITTSBURGH

by WILLIAM DFARR

With Mayor Kline's decision that cases involving women and minors need not necessarily be heard in Morals Court, that court loses much of its color. It has been an unusual parade there since Morals Court was set up some 10 years ago by Magistrate Tensard De Wolfe. Habitual women drunkards; men who beat up their wives as regularly as Saturday; girls who ran away from home because, so they said, they were ill-treated; Hill district folks whose Saturday night chitt'lin' parties rocked the neighborhood—these were the characters who faced "Jedge, your honor."

Many of the prisoners seem surprised when they are asked by the magistrate why they were arrested. They were merely standing there on the corner, it seems, and the cop came up and took them away. This is the most popular excuse, albeit a poor one.

Of all the magistrates who have officiated there, Albert Duff Brandon enjoyed the post most. A keen student of publicity, he liked the prominence the position gave him and he liked the laughs that were produced there. In examining the prisoners he was adept at bringing out the unusual.

A year or so ago, Brandon sentenced to the hospital at Mayview a prisoner whose mental workings were faulty. A few weeks later Brandon himself was inspecting the hospital when he came across the prisoner.

"Well, well," the prisoner spoke his surprise, "you here, too! Well, I'm sorry, but you'll get used to it."

There was the time, too, when the late Rufus Pinckney, a jovial Negro policeman, arrested a young woman who was forever walking up and down the streets of Rufus' beat, alone.

"Why I was just going for a stroll, Judge," the woman explained.

"Jedge," Rufus exclaimed, "that gal knows my beat better than I do."

Kate McDermott has been one of the steadiest patrons of Morals Court. Kate is an habitual drunkard whose visits to the court have long since passed the stage where one keeps count. Always in the morning she has been filled with remorse and promises to mend her ways. Not so long ago Kate was discharged one morning when her plea for freedom was especially impressive. As the magistrate discharged her, a reporter turned to another and offered to bet $10 that Kate would be back next morning. The bet was made, the reporter slipped out of the building, handed Kate a dollar and sure enough, next day Kate was back, having spent the dollar for what the donor intended.

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal. May 7.

The Supreme Court of the United States prohibited the sale of anything in which liquor might be held or transported, bottles, jugs, barrels, buckets, gourds, flasks, corks, labels, boxes, mails and burlap sacks.

Can't sell any of these, but you can sell the wheat and corn that its supposed to be made with. In other words, according to the decision, you are allowed to make, but not allowed to have anything to hold it in. You see, it's on account of decisions like this that they got to be careful the type of men they put on the Supreme bench. Yours,

WILL.

12½ PER CENT GAIN SHOWN BY SEWICKLEY

Bethel With 100 Per Cent Increase Makes Record Growth; Reports Delayed

Sewickley's population increased 12½ per cent in the last 10 years, according to complete census figures made public today. The present population is 5,581 as compared with 4,955 in 1920.

Bethel Township, with a growth of more than 109 per cent, was credited with being among the most rapidly developing rural communities. It has a population of 5,482 as against 2,406 a decade ago.

Rechecking of the figures in Mt. Lebanon township, showed a population of 13,476. In 1920 this township had only 2,258.

The Sixteenth ward shows a population of 26,098, against 21,664 ten years ago. St. Clair borough, with a population of more than 6,500 was annexed to the ward within the period.

GROWTH IN FINDLAY

Findley Township rose from 1,926 to 2,775 in the last 10 years. Dravosburg gained 91 inhabitants, with 2,291 as the present population.

Osborne borough has 506 against 358 in 1920.

The Seventeenth Ward, Pittsburgh, in the heart of the South Side, dropped back 2,000 in its population, showing only 23,356 against 25,374 in 1920.

Little progress was reported today in the compilation of census returns from some of the country districts. In the region north of the Ohio river the blame for delay was placed on farmers who ignored the farm schedules sent out in advance by the government. It was declared that in most instances these documents had been used to light the fires, necessitating repeated calls and tedious work by the enumerators.

DISTRICTS MISSING

Missing districts in all the wards on the North Side and the Sixteenth and Eighteenth wards on the South Side, prevent the compilation of the total for the city. The supervisors hesitate to hazard a guess on the total, although they express the hope that Pittsburgh will attain the 700,000 class. In the standing of the large cities of the country Pittsburgh is expected to rank next after Baltimore.

Town in California Leads in Census Gain

WASHINGTON, May 7.—(AP.)—Compton, Cal., with a 1930 census tally of 12,291, a 731.59 per cent increase over 1920, today took the increase precentage lead among cities of 10,000 away from Hopewell, Va., which reported 11,325 population, an increase of 710.7 per cent. Culver City, Cal., gained 1011.5 per cent, but its population, barely more than 5,000, did not fall within the classification.

The production, which stars Molly Picon and recently completed a six-month run in New York, is brought here through the courtesy of Charles Sable. The committee, headed by Mrs. L. A. Harris, includes Mrs. Barnett Davis, Mrs. Arthur Obernauer, Mrs. I. Lebeau, Mrs. A. H. Weitzman, Mrs. David Roth, Mrs. Morris Colker, Mrs. Frank Rubenstein and Mrs. Jacob Davis.

Tickets will be sold in advance of the performance at the Hirsch Book Store, 1623 Center avenue, Schiff Music Shop, Fifth avenue and Magee street, and Phillips Pharmacy, Phillips and Murray avenues.

Auto Injury Fatal To Russellton Man

William Whitcomb, 67, of Russellton, died last night in Allegheny Valley Hospital, Tarentum, from a fractured skull suffered Monday when he was struck by an automobile near his home, the coroner's office reported. Hospital authorities were unable to furnish deputy coroners with the driver's name.

Lose Pound-a-Week Menu

DIET NO. 9

To reduce one pound a week, a series of safe and sane diets has been prepared by Dr. A. I. Ringer, consultant on metabolism for the Medical Information Bureau of the New York Academy of Medicine. They are appearing daily in the Sun-Telegraph. Here is the ninth day's diet for tomorrow:

BREAKFAST
One apple
Omelet, made of two eggs
Four tablespoonsful of cereal
(without milk or sugar)
Coffee, one cup, with milk
(no sugar)

LUNCH
Moderate portion of tuna fish salad
(without dressing)
Water cress salad with lemon juice
Thin slice of bread
Tea, one cup, with milk
(no sugar)

DINNER
One plate of beef broth
Shredded celery salad
Stewed rhubard
Moderate portion of roast fowl
Coffee, one cup, with milk

Diet Hints

It's no longer fashionable to be plump. Girls with plentiful curves wear the new style dresses. Present-day fashions demand a rounded slenderness, which avoids both extremes—plumpness and emaciation.

The slender figure is here to stay, and plump girls must conform. But to achieve the slim waistline, they shouldn't resort to drastic diets, which will ruin their health, and perhaps their beauty.

"Safe and sane" reducing diets maintain bodily health, and reduce weight at the rate of about one pound a week. The Sun-Telegraph diets include plenty of fresh and cooked vegetables, moderate helpings of meat and fish, and either one slice of bread or one potato at both lunch and dinner.

GIRL UNAFRAID

CHAPTER XXV.

White curtain blowing in and out the open window, sending a ghastly whisper through the dark room . . .

Sinking into troubled dreams to rouse with a start to depressing reality . . .

Turning over wearily because the pillow under her cheek was wet . . . Ken's voice sounding in her memory just as she dozed, "Perhaps you're right; perhaps it's best."

The space of window at the foot of the bed gray with dawn. Far away, the rattle of the first car . . . coming nearer.

She woke with a start. Midmorning sunshine streaming into the room. The shrill summons of the telephone.

She slipped from bed and heavily made her way to the wall phone. Tom had said he would ring her today. She wished now that he would not.

Ken's voice coming over the wire. "Ardeth, I've got to see you."

Heart thumping so that she could not keep her voice steady. "What's the use, Ken?"

"Lots of use. Is it fair to condemn a man unheard?"

She was silent for a breath of time, half supporting herself by the phone, heavy eyes watching the curtain blow in and out.

Finally, in a tired voice, "But what is there to say? I know what happened."

"Do you?" His voice was bitter. "Going to hold to your own version, aren't you?"

"What else can I think?" she asked wildly. "I waited . . . and then, to see you . . ."

"Ardeth, I'm coming right over!" he said and hung up before she could protest.

Sees Ken
Does Not Answer His Question

She pulled on her clothes with shaking hands. The white-faced girl who looked back at her from the mirror was a stranger. She flung on her coat, pulled a small hat down until its brim shaded her eyes.

She was standing on the pavement before the entrance of the hotel when Ken's car pulled up.

Her heart leaped painfully as their eyes met. No bright and laughing charm about Ken today. His face was pale. His mouth grim.

He opened the door of the car and she got in without a word.

Sunday calm over the city. Church bells ringing near and far. Children, self-conscious in their best clothes walking through the sunshine to Sunday school. Stacks of the morning papers in corner stores. An air of leisurely well being over the city. Bleakness only in her heart . . .

"Well," Ken said finally in a tight voice. "Through with me, aren't you?"

She moved her hands slightly, but did not answer.

Mother Dying
Feels That He Is Responsible

He gave a mirthless laugh. "Don't blame you . . . It's the only way out, I guess. Here's what happened, whether you want to hear it or not. Late yesterday, Dr. Knowles got in touch with me. He's an old friend . . . And he told me that mother—" he gulped, "my mother's in a bad way, Ardeth. She—she's going. Just a matter of time—"

He suddenly stopped.

Ardeth found that her cold hand had gone to cover his own on the wheel. He did not seem to feel it and after a moment she took it back.

"I can't believe it!" Sharp protest in that which almost rose to panic. For a moment he battled silently, then resumed more quietly. "Well . . . it's what comes to us all, I guess. But to watch it—day by day! No hope—the doctor said. Of course, she doesn't know! She thinks it's something else—that she's getting better . . . but that time—that time I told you about, when she just about starved herself and lived in that cold, moldy room—that started it, Ardeth. And when I remember she did it for me—so I could live in comfort—like a fool—God, I feel as though I had murdered her!"

"No! No, Ken! You couldn't help it! How could you know?"

She was watching him with eyes gone wet. Ken stared straight ahead. His profile had sharpened with suffering, his eyes were flinched.

An interval when only the hum of the tires on the asphalt broke the silence.

Ken's news had swept away Ardeth's resentment. She did not wonder how Ken had come to be at Tait's last night, dancing after receiving such shocking knowledge. Taits and dancing—Cecile and the heartbreak of last night were very far away and trivial in this moment.

Ardeth Moved
Horrified by Ken's Story

Newsboys calling through the sunshine. Salt wind tingling the blood. Everything speaking of life and motion, this bright autumn morning. How could there be any death?

With the inability of youth to grasp the actuality she was moved—horrified—yet not entirely comprehending. Even the man spoke as one who felt the spell of sorrow yet missed its dark meaning.

"You know—I can't realize it, Ardeth. Oh—I know we all die—but still—my mother . . . I actually know—"

He drew a deep breath. "She's always been a little thing—but the spirit of a soldier. I used—I used to call her Spider Kelly—to tease her. Such a dainty, imperious little thing, you know, it sounded funny. And I'd swoop on her—times when I came home, and grab her up under one arm and pack her around like that—and she scolding me ir that gentle dignified way and pretending she didn't like it—while I laughed . . .

He suddenly stopped speaking.

After a long moment. "Well . . . When I went home—after seeing Dr. Knowles, she springs on me that it's Cecile's birthday."

Cecile's Party
Mother Wanted Him To Attend

"You know, Ardeth," Ken's voice was badgered. "Mother's completely sold on Cecile. All my life—Oh, well, I've told you that. Well—ever since we were kids I've gone to Cecile's birthday party. It used to be ice cream fights, you know, when we were youngsters. And since she's grown up, dinners and dances. You know, those things start and pretty soon they're more than a habit. They—well, they sort of weave into a fellow's life as a thing he has to do. And she—and Mother—took it for granted I'd come this year—as always. And I'd forgotten every last thing about it."

Ken had been driving the car up the steep streets which led to the crest of Telegraph Hill. Now he swung out into the broad automobile drive and came to a stop by the parapet. The cliff fell away before them. Far below the waterfront spread like a fan, white fingers of wharves outstretched into a bay like indigo. Miniature ferryboats plowed their way in a churn of foam to the Alameda and the Marin shores stretched opposite under the rich wash of autumn sunshine.

Ken fastened somber eyes on them as he spoke. "I'd clear forgotten anything about Cecile's party until I got home last night and found mother all in a twitter because I was late. Lord, it knocked me flat—" He moved restlessly in the seat. "To go anywhere, after hearing from Doc . . . and yet I couldn't let her guess . . . I was pretty nearly crazy—"

WOULD AVOID CHANGE IN GRADES

Lack of Funds Cited as Bar to Elaborate Ramp And Runway Near Depot

Council, pleading lack of funds, is planning to adopt a proposal to improve the Pennsylvania Railroad site near Eleventh street without changing grades, building ramps or in any way adopting the provisions of the City Planning Commission.

The choice lies between "Plan "T," which does not allow for a charge in the grade of any street, and Plan "Z," which provides for an elaborate system of ramps and runways.

DIFFERENCE IN COST

The problem, according to seven of nine members of Council, rests between "T," costing between $400,000 and $600,000, and "Z," costing between $1,500,000 and $3,000,000.

Councilman W. Y. English maintained that the Pennsylvania Railroad is giving the city the "worst of the deal" as far as this project is concerned.

"It is high time we get the top men of the company here to tell us how much money they have made by the sale of property and how much they have invested," he said.

SEES BIG PROFIT

English claimed that the Pennsylvania Railroad, because of the widening of Grant street and other improvements made by the city, has been enabled to sell $4,418,000 worth of land. He maintained that more than 60,800 square feet can be sold for $7,000,000, whereas only $3,000,000 could have been charged before the city improved Grant street.

Councilman Robert J. Alderdice tried to get a choice of the plans voted upon yesterday. He was aided by Councilman Harry A. Little. The proposal failed, all being loath to commit themselves until the last possible moment.

PITT BANQUET HEAD NAMED

The 300 sudents of the downtown division of the University of Pittsburgh have chosen Clarence D. Weimer, president of the downtown division students' association, to act as chairman of the committee arranging for their annual banquet and dance, scheduled for Saturday evening in the Hotel Schenley. The Rev. Dr. Carl Wallace Petty and Dr. Vincent W. Lanfear will be the speakers. Dean Robert C. Clothier, dean of men at the university will be toastmaster.

Art In Industry

The largest tabloid colorgravure section ever published by any Pittsburgh newspaper will be a part of next Sunday's Sun-Telegraph, supplementing the regular eight-page colorgravure section, the tabloid is a photographic presentation of the new first floor of Kaufmann's store.

It is a 24-page advertisement that tells an inspiring story, pictorially, reproduced in natural colors and monotone.

Included are some of the famous Boardman Robinson murals. "Art in Industry" is the keynote of the tabloid which depicts the influences of art in modern-day commerce. The architect presents his story as do the producers.

A few of the page headings are "Power and Light," "Glass Glorified," "Metal Magic," "Winged Stairways," "Modern Display," "The Saga of Steel," "Fire and Water," "Miles of Wire," "Pure Cool and Healthful Air," and "Final Steps."

Be sure to look for and read this modern story of Art in Industry as presented in the latest medium of perfect Art reproduction—Sun-Telegraph Colorgravure — next Sunday, May 11.

Patrolman and Wife Escape Fire in Home

When Mrs. C. P. Clockgetter discovered fire in her kitchen today she awakened her husband, a patrolman, and both fled from their home at 239 Lehigh avenue, East End. Damage was estimated at $800. The fire was blamed on a blowtorch left behind by a plumber.

Liquor in Raid Forfeited to U. S.

Judge R. M. Gibson today in Federal court condemned and forfeited to the government 189 pint bottles of whisky, 10 bottles of gin, 51 bottles of ale and eight bottles of champagne. The liquor was seized April 5 on the second floor of a building at 330 Liberty avenue.

Aged Man Dies From Gunshot Wound

Louis Martin, 70, of Bakerstown, died in Allegheny General Hospital early today from a gunshot wound in his head, inflicted, the coroner's office was told, with suicidal intent. The shooting occurred in the victim's home shortly after midnight.

LIBERTY PUPILS GIVE PROGRAM

Students of the Liberty School, Ellsworth avenue, yesterday presented a special May day program for the last meeting of the Liberty School Parent-Teacher Association.

Miss Lucetta Burns, assisted by Miss Margaret Lennon and Miss Margaret Sullivan, prepared the program and rehearsed the children in their parts.

The feature of the affair was a May pole dance which was arranged by Miss Sullivan. Members of the girls' gym classes took part in the dance.

Nelson Is Named Election Judge

A. L. Nelson, 419 Ross avenue, Wilkinsburg, has been appointed judge of elections for the Second district of the Third Ward by Judge Harry H. Rowand, in Quarter Sessions Court. He replaces Wallet Johnston, moved from the district.

May Build Ducking Stool To Dip Man Scold Here

Charles Rizzo, 55, of Duffield street, Morningside, is asking the courts for an arrest of judgment today following his being found guilty in Criminal Court of being a common scold.

The verdict is said by local court authorities to be the first on record in which a man has been convicted on this charge. Common law, many centuries old, defines the common scold charge against women and provided the ducking stool as the penalty. There is no ducking stool in Allegheny County, and should Visiting Judge A. B. Smith, of Susquehanna County, who tried the case, eventually impose the time-honored sentence, it would be necessary for the County Commissioners to have such a stool installed.

Attorney F. J. Lagario, for Rizzo, made a motion to quash the indictment before Presiding Judge Harry H. Rowand before the trial started. He was opposed by Assistant District Attorney John F. Haggerty and Judge Rowand refused the motion and assigned the case to Judge Smith for trial.

About a dozen neighbors of Rizzo testified that he would come home late at night from his work for a gas company and disturb the neighborhood by loud cursing and blaspheming. Some witnesses said he would shout so loud it would awaken them.

When the jury of eight women and four men brought in its verdict, Attorney Legario immediately announced that he would move for an arrest of judgment on the grounds that there was no law under which a man could be indicted as a common scold. If this motion fails the attorney said the case would likely be appealed to the Supreme Court.

SUPPORT CASE ARGUED

Responsibility of a grandfather to support his grandchildren was a legal point argued yesterday, before the Superior Court of Pennsylvania.

The action was the appeal of Harry L. Forcey, Clearfield, from a decision of the Clearfield court, requiring him to pay $125 a month, on a complaint brought by the daughter-in-law, Margaret R. Forcey, for the support of her children. She married the respondent's son, Samuel A. Forcey, but obtained a divorce. The latter died February 8, 1929, following the divorce. Mrs. Forcey claims she taught school, but had to quit to permit her to look after her aged parents.

There was no refusal on the part of the grandfather, Harry L. Forcey, to support the children, provided he did so in his own home. He refused to do so while they were with the mother in her home, hence the action.

Education Week Plans Discussed

Dr. Samuel B. Linhart, chairman of the education committee of the Chamber of Commerce, discussed with members of his committee, at a meeting yesterday, plans for the observance of national education week here November 11. The chamber will sponsor a meeting for teachers and school heads here and will endeavor to bring leading educators in this country, and likely, an European authority here as speakers.

1 DEAD, 1 HURT IN AUTO LEAP

Two men were injured, one fatally when the automobile they were about to put into a garage for the night went over a 50-foot embankment at Mobile and Oak avenues, Turtle Creek, early today. Ralph E. Kincaid, 32, of 305 Locust street, Turtle Creek, died two hours later in the McKeesport Hospital. Thomas Story, 38, of 307 Locust street, driver of the car, was hurt slightly.

Kincaid was thrown from the automobile when Story lost control of it, the machine passing over his chest and skull. Story remained in the car during its mad flight down the hillside and escaped with minor lacerations.

Both men were taken to the office of Dr. William T. Tomlinson, Grant and Sycamore streets, Turtle Creek, who ordered Kincaid taken to the hospital.

Story was able to go home.

Shorthand Author Talks to Students

John R. Gregg, author of "Gregg Shorthand," addressed the students of Duffs Iron City College yesterday afternoon in the school's auditorium. Mr. Gregg spoke on the value of business training and the business tactics of President Hoover in preventing a panic after the Wall Street crash last year. He also praised the educational system of Pittsburgh, pointing it out as one of the outstanding educational centers of the country.

ARCHITECT SUES COUNTY FOR $175,000

Federal Court Hearing Case Against Cambria District Over Court House Contract

The county of Cambria is defendant in a suit being tried before Federal Judge Nelson McVicar, in which the plaintiff, James Riely Gordon, of New York, an architect, is seeking to collect from the county approximately $175,000. Gordon claims the money is due him for designing and supervising the construction of the Cambria County courthouse at Ebensburg.

Gordon avers that the county commissioners in 1914 engaged him to draw plans for the building, which were accepted and construction work started in 1916. Subsequently a new board of commissioners, the plaintiff claims, stopped the work, which was not resumed until Gordon was authorized under a mandamus proceeding he instituted in the Cambria County court.

Because of the World War and other delays the construction was not completed until 1923. The case is being tried by a large array of counsel.

CUT IN FIGHT, MAN MAY DIE

Slashed about the arms and head with a butcher knife, Martin Naccarati, 53, of 4702 Lorigan street, was in a serious condition in West Penn Hospital today while police were searching for his assailant.

Naccarati was in the store of Alfred Corco, at 4686 Lorigan street, last night when, according to police, Dominick Guidone, 52, of 4618 Juniper street, walked in and began quarreling with him. Guidone was said to have demanded $200 which Naccarati's son owed him and the argument arose. Guidone then seized the knife and cut Niccarati, police said. Running into the street, Guidone stuck the blade of the knife into a telephone pole and made his escape.

Children Continue City Cleanup Work

A large number of the 200,000 children enlisted in the Chamber of Commerce's "Clean-up, Paint-up, Plant-up" campaign, will continue their cleanup work through the spring and summer, although the campaign officially closes Saturday. One of the last demonstrations of the campaign will be held tomorrow afternoon at the Taylor Alderdice High School, Squirrel Hill. At 1:30 o'clock, several hundred students, headed by the school band, will parade with their shovels and brooms.

Unfortunate Give $101.50 to Fund

The industrially handicapped men and women who are being aided at the Goodwill Industries have voluntarily contributed $101.50 to the social welfare fund of the Methodist Episcopal Church Union for which an appeal for $300,000 is being made, M. L. Benedum, honorary chairman, announced today. Mr. Benedum added that the contributions from these people were unsolicited and were taken up by the Goodwill workers among themselves.

Three men were injured, two probably fatally, when 86 pounds of dynamite exploded aboard this dredge, apparently from crossed wires. The force of the blast shook buildings for miles and caused property damage estimated at about $250,000.

Camera Question Box

The Sun-Telegraph's "Camera Question Box" each day will ask a question of public interest to Pittsburghers and will photograph those interviewed.

Today's question: Is the world in need of a new moral code or should our moral standards remain Puritanical and minor deviations be excused?

MAJ. ROBERT TAGGART, North Side, retired: The old moral code is good enough for all of us. After all, our parents knew what is good for us. We don't change very much, from year to year, and neither should our moral code.

Major Taggart

THEODORE DeNINNO, East End, salesman: Our moral code is all right—it's built so you don't have to pay any attention to it. It's just one of those things, to the modern generation. Give us back our whisky and everything will be okey.

T. DeNinno

LORRAINE GRAHAM, Mt. Washington, cashier: Well, I guess this generation is about as good as any other. What we need, though, is not a new moral code but more people who believe in the old one.

Miss Graham

JACK HUWIG, Aldine Theater, assistant manager: Yes, we need a new code. This one is all shot. Some day, when our fanatics stop to think what it's all about, instead of going by their superstitions, they'll realize that the European single standard for men and women is the ideal thing. Then they'll realize we have no right to meddle in the lives of others, that individuality is good for a nation, that what was good for our grandfather is not good enough for us.

Jack Huwig

LEONARD VALENTINE, Oakland, usher: The intolerant crude, superstitious outlook of many of our Puritanical and lop-sided moralists is going to run this country into the dust if some sensible people don't rally to the cry of freedom and train our youth to a new moral outlook and a wholesome, frank, acknowledgement of the facts of life. In other words, we must stop forcing our own beliefs on others.

L. Valentine

Real Estate was and is and always will be a good investment. Turn to the Classified Section for Pittsburgh opportunities.

MISS DOROTHY FRANCES, William Penn Hotel, trans-continental hiker: Well, with a few exceptions, our moral code is all right. I do think people ought to have more freedom of action and more tolerance. But I think the moral code imbread in the American people, rich and poor, is what makes it possible for me to hike from New York to San Francisco without a gun and only a smile for protection.

Miss Frances

The Ross Township School Board has fixed the 1930 school tax levy at 13¼ mills, in addition to a per capita assessment of $2, the same as last year. William Marquis was re-elected treasurer, along with the entire staff of teachers. Louis C. Lustenberger is president of the board.

BLAST QUIZ ON IN AMBRIDGE

Fire Chief A. G. Fisher and Police Chief J. P. Flocker, of Ambridge, today continued their investigation into the cause of two explosions, followed by fire, which wrecked a building, damaged two others and resulted in the death of Joe Musilino, 40, yesterday. Search of the ruins at Merchant and Thirteenth streets for another body went forward during the day.

Chief Fisher was of the opinion today that neither a bomb nor gas caused the blasts, as fire followed too quickly in the wake of the detonations. He said he believed 25 gallons of gasoline had been used.

Investigation disclosed that Musilino was about to leave the building when the blasts occurred. A part of a door handle was clutched in his hand when his body was discovered. A .38 calibre revolver and ammunition were found in his clothing and a flashlight nearby, investigators said.

Akron, O., Firm Gets Munhall Sewer Job

A contract for the building of sewers, totaling approximately $200,000, has been let by Munhall to the Shullo Construction Company, of Akron, O. The Akron company was awarded the work by council at a meeting yesterday afternoon. A score of local companies bid for the job.

The contract calls for the building of a network of sewers, totaling approximately 20 miles. They will be principally for the Homestead Park district, connecting with the new storm sewers the adjacent boroughs have already completed.

25 TRUE BILLS COVER MANY VIOLATIONS

Steubenville Man Will be Tried Over Citizenship Fraud; Bogus Money Casse

The federal grand jury has returned 25 indictments, 18 of them actions under the Jones "five and ten" amendment to the Volstead act. United States Attorney Louis E. Graham is personally making the presentation before the jury.

Antonio Innocenzi, 30, of Steubenville, O., was indicted on a charge of swearing falsely to material facts in his preliminary hearing for naturalization, and illegally procuring citizenship.

TAKES TRIP ABROAD

He was accused of concealing a trip to Italy while his application for naturalization was pending, and falsely claiming he was not married. According to the indictment he was married May 5, 1924, at Acquita, Italy.

The following were indicted for alleged violations of the prohibition act and with maintaining common nuisances at the following places: Fred H. Drumm, alias Fred H. Moore, restaurant, 134 South Beatty street; Joseph DeAngelo, club, 116 South Diamond street, North Side; Markos Mylonas, drug store, Wylie avenue; Anna Polcora, saloon, 5011 Frankstown avenue, and Robert Klein, club, 123 West Main street, Carnegie.

Ramsay, Gerald Springer, Wade I. Stewart, William L. Moff, Sofie Moff, Thomas Janton, Frank Ipavec and Herman Murdough.

3 CHILDREN HIT BY AUTOS

Three children, injured when struck by automobiles while playing in streets last night, were recovering today, while the drivers were at liberty pending hearings in Traffic Court.

Suffering lacerations of the head and a probable fracture of the skull when he was struck by a machine driven, police said, by J. F. Nellis, 27, of 327 McKee place, King Neeley, 7, 4028 Vincent street, was taken to Presbyterian Hospital. The accident occurred near the boy's home.

Ethel Renom, 4, of 906 Montis way, was treated for lacerations of the forehead after being struck by an automobile operated by Harry P. Bittner, 35, of 2129 Liberty avenue, near her home, according to police.

When she was struck by an automobile at Chestnut street and Spring Garden avenue, Aurelia Funk, 5, of Crestnut street, sustained lacerations of the head, nose and wrists, and was taken to Allegheny General Hospital by Joseph Brogvich, 17, of 523 Tripoli street, driver of the car, police reported.

NEAR 70, HAPPY IN AIR FLIGHT

"The most dangerous part of flying is getting in and getting out of these contraptions."

Thus spoke Mrs. Fiske Fairman somewhere between 17 and 70, after a joy hop with E. Q. B. Henriques, chief pilot for Main Flying Service, at the Pittsburgh-Greensburg airport yesterday afternoon.

The quaint little, old passenger, a faint aroma of lavender revealing her proximity to 70, whispered to the pilot before taking off.

"Let's take a loop," she pleaded.

"Well—maam," the pilot hesitated.

"Go ahead son! My daughter had one."

Pilot Henriques did "everything but." He side-slipped, rolled, fish-tailed and dived. Breathless, Mrs. Fairman's friends, guests at an aero-bridge given by Mrs. Samuel E. Diescher, of South Negley avenue, ran to her upon her descent.

"Scared?—Humph. I guess not—it was wonderful!

"It's just the thing to sweep the cobwebs away," she enthused.

Complaint on Coal Freight Rates Filed

A complaint alleging that the freight rates on coal are unreasonably high from the Pennsylvania bituminous fields to the northeastern part of the United States will be filed today with the Interstate Commerce Commission. The complaint will be filed in behalf of bituminous coal operators of Pennsylvania and Maryland.

The local operators charge that the rates are discriminating against this district and advantageous to the West Virginia fields.

MELLON AGAIN AIDS MUSEUM

R. B. Mellon's second gift to Carnegie Museum within a few days is being recorded by the hammers and axes of workmen today. They are tearing down a row of one and two-story wooden buildings directly opposite the handsome stone Carnegie Institute at Forbes and Dithridge streets.

The property will be cleared of shacks that for many years have been termed an "eye-sore" to the district, spotted for the most part with beautiful institutional structures.

When cleared and the property deeded to the city for the widening of Forbes street, the remaining spot adjoining the Greek Church, Dithridge street, will be terraced and made into a lawn.

And Forbes street will be widened at that point, it was learned.

The gift follows the orders of Mr. Mellon, who instructed that the property, which the banking concern owns, be cleared and made presentable.

The first gift to the museum was a collection of old wood carvings, part of which are now being shown.

GENARIO CASE NEARS JURY

Genario Pirielo, 55, of Highland avenue, Stowe township, may learn his fate today, following his trial in Criminal Court charged with the murder of Anthony Colosimo, 36, a contractor of 430 Woodward avenue, McKees Rocks, last November 29.

Arguments of the attorneys and the charge of visiting Judge William T. Darr, of Jefferson County, were to be made this morning, following the completion of the testimony yesterday. The judge refused a motion of defense counsel to instruct the jury to return a verdict of not guilty.

Pirielo, his wife, Julia and his son, Pasquale, all took the witness stand and said Pirielo was in Cressline, O., at the time Colosimo was shot to death in a new building at 813 Broadway, Stowe township, which the dead man had just built for the defendant.

PAYROLL MAN AT LIBERTY ON BAIL

District Attorney Pushes Inquiry Into Immoral Actions; 11 Others Held

A state employe who evaded arrest in the raid, Monday night, on the boat Manitou, docked in the Monongahela River near the foot of Wood street, was at liberty today in $2,000 bail pending a hearing before Alderman Thomas A. Flanigan.

He is W. H. Leinenweber, of 421 South Main street, according to First Assistant District Attorney George F. P. Langfitt, who declined to tell what Leinenweber, who surrendered yesterday, had told him during a three-hour questioning.

County detectives today swore out a warrant for the arrest of B. A. Wilkoff, said to have an office in the House Building, who is alleged to have provided the girls for the show.

Three young women and eight men arrested in the raid will be arraigned Friday before Alderman Flanigan, county detectives announced yesterday.

Leinenweber was said to be an attache of the state auditor general's office.

The government has become interested in the raid. Its interest concerns the seizure by county detectives of reels of alleged uncensored films. United States Attorney Louis E. Graham has assigned his assistant, Attorney Lloyd W. Bryan, to determine if the films were unlawfully transported into Pennsylvania.

$50,000 ASKED IN SON'S DEATH

John J. Stedelman and his wife Margaret Stedelman, Becks Run road, yesterday filed suit for $50,000 damages against Leo A. Nowakowski for the death of their son, Henry G. Stadelman, 21, in an automobile accident March 9 last.

The parents claim that they were riding in a machine owned and operated by Henry Rechtenwald. The Nowakowski car collided with the Rechtenwald car at Walters and Anthony streets, Stadelman being instantly killed. It is alleged in the bill of particulars filed in Common Pleas Court that the accident was due to reckless driving on the part of the defendant. Nowakowski lived in Forty-sixth street.

PATRICIA PITT'S SPRIGHTLY COMMENT ON PITTSBURGH'S SOCIETY HAPPENINGS

Kingsley Association's Auxiliary to Give Benefit Bridge

There are more things going on, haven't you noticed, for a time of the year when there's supposed to be nothing but weddings? Benefits have adopted the youthful spirit of spring, and are attracting ever so many folks.

And last night the Stage and Play Society held its closing performance of the year in the Carnegie Music Hall.

But first of all I want to tell you some more about the benefit bridge the Woman's Auxiliary of the Kingsley Association will hold at the home of Mrs. Frederick Ickes Merrick, of beautiful Hollyrood road, Morewood Heights, on Tuesday, May 20.

Mrs. Merrick's young daughters, Elanor and Marguerite and Rosetta, will be aides.

And serving on the committee are Mrs. Charles S. Wunder, Mrs. Donald S. Gaston, Mrs. Donald Pettit, Mrs. D. Hartin Boyd, Mrs. Francis C. McClure, Mrs. Edward Bech, Mrs. B. Houston Hill, Mrs. Walter Dearth, Miss Virginia Furey, Mrs. Arthur Little and Mrs. William E. Schmertz, III.

Never have I seen a more springtime audience than that at the Stage and Play Society performance last night. Lovely gowns in chiffons and tulles and lace fashioned in the new gracious mode of evening, and the smart new brief wraps added charm to the distinguished throngs who came to see the final effort of the year of the Stage and Play Society.

Stage Society

As I mentioned some time ago, two plays were given, "Study of a Girl in a Hat," by Carroll Pittshugh, president of the society, and "The Man Who Married a Dumb Wife," by Anatole France.

Mrs. J. L. Dawson Painter and George O. Burgwin, Jr., appeared in the Pittshugh play, and Mrs. Percy Kammerer and her daughter, Eleanor, Mrs. F. Le Moyne Page, Letty Scott, Harold Geoghegan, C. F. C. Arensberg and his son, C. F. C. Arensberg, Jr., Alan Donnelly, Howard Wilbert, Charles McClintock and George S. Oliver in the France drama.

After the show was over the Pittshughs entertained the actors and actresses of the evening in the Pittsburgh Golf Club.

Taking tickets was Mrs. Joseph M. Scribner, who wore an interesting gown of coral chiffon and coral taffeta, with a shoulder spray of coral flowers.

Spring Frocks

A personification of spring was the daffodil yellow organdie gown worn by Frances Fitzgerald. It was fashioned with a full, tiered skirt with the ruffles bound in lettuce green and with a high waistline.

Mrs. William Booth wore a vivid tango chiffon gown with an interesting cape of taffeta in a deeper shade reaching to the waistline.

Genevieve Bell chose a pink chiffon gown and a blue evening shawl. And I might add that shawls were much worn last evening. Anne Scott arrived with her fiance, John H. Ricketson, III, and she wore a gown of dahlia chiffon with a brief train. Mrs. William Singer Moorhead was in rose lace, and Mrs. T. Howe Nimick in black crepe.

Others I noticed were Mrs. George Singer Ebbert in black lace, Mrs. Henry O'Neill, Mrs. Ambrose Nevin Diehl, who wore violet lace and chiffon, and Mrs. H. Allen Machesney in black velvet.

Mrs. Simon T. Patterson came in a flowered chiffon gown and Mrs. T. M. Jones, III, in a printed black chiffon gown. Mrs. Frederic Ickes Merrick, in black, arrived with her young daughter Eleanor and Mrs. William McCullough in flowered chiffon arrived with her daughter, Bettie, who wore an interesting frock of jade green taffeta, with the long skirt with a brief train boasting rows and rows of green taffeta ruffles. And she wore a smart evening shawl.

Printed Chiffons

Green moire was worn by Mrs. A. Cameron Mann, and rose crepe and an evening shawl by Mary Shiras. Mrs. Reginald Church chose dahlia crepe for her gown.

Very striking was the green ensemble worn by Louise Evans. Her frock was of jade green chiffon, fashioned with a long, even skirt, and her brief evening coat was of green velvet with two circular ruffles forming a border.

Talking with a group of friends was Miss Neil Stewart, who chose a flowered chiffon gown, and Mrs. Elisabeth M. Vermorcken in a black costume.

Martha Edmondson chose a Kelly green crepe gown made with a train and a black velvet wrap, and Betty McCance was in yellow crepe. Mrs. W. J. Jones wore black chiffon, and Mrs. John W. Lawrence, dahlia chiffon. Among the late arrivals were Miss Lillian Dermitt, in red crepe, and Mrs. James Madison Graham, Jr., in flowered green chiffon. Miss Marie Dermitt wore black chiffon and tulle, and Mrs. Mortimer Miller, turquoise blue moire.

Smart Wraps

Mrs. Donald Pettit chose yellow chiffon, and Mrs. William Frew, a black costume, and Mrs. Gordon King, green chiffon. Ellen McClay looked smart in a rose chiffon gown, and her mother, Mrs. Samuel McClay, wore blue chiffon.

Blue taffeta was worn by Neil Stewart and black taffeta and tulle by her mother, Mrs. William Zang. And Neil had a lovely white evening shawl.

Mrs. C. F. C. Arensberg was there as were Harriet Fickes in fleet blue tulle and her mother, Mrs. Edwin C. Fickes, in black tulle.

Mrs. William Ferguson wore green chiffon; Mrs. Edwin F. Scheetz, flowered taffeta, and Miss Katherine MacCloskey, fleet blue tulle.

Mrs. Harry Darlington, Jr., who has been at the Ambassador, has been joined by her sister, Mrs. Peter Shields, of Philadelphia.

Mrs. G. H. Wilson Honored At Tuesday Musical Club's Luncheon

Gifts, surprises, lovely flowers, music, food, cheers, much laughter and even here and there a tear or two all unforgettably mixed themselves up at the annual luncheon of the Tuesday Musical Club yesterday in upper Memorial Hall.

The tears were rather an aside, for everyone wanted to make a joyful occasion of saying goodby to Mrs. George H. Wilson, much loved member who is leaving Pittsburgh to return to her girlhood home in Kingston, Mass.

As an appreciation of her invaluable services (she has been assistant secretary and treasurer for 22 years) the club is presenting Mrs. Wilson with an annuity and a radio. The latter she will find already installed when she reaches her new-old home. Mrs. Joseph W. Marsh, on behalf of the past presidents of whom she is one, presented the 75-year young honor guest with a gorgeous bouquet.

The program was given under the direction of Mrs. Wilson's daughter, Mrs. Edward B. Lee. It was Dr. Sigmund Spaeth's screamingly ridiculous Jack and Jill in the various operatic versions, with Mrs. Lee as the hooded, robed and bald German professor, and Miss Helen Maree Greenwood, Mrs. B. O. Austin, Mrs. Henry E. Cole, Mrs. Richard Allen, Mrs. Harvey Fouse and Mrs. M. W. St. John as the musicians.

In the morning the club met to hear its annual reports and to elect officers. The latter are: First vice president, Mrs. A. M. Dudley; second vice president, Mrs. Charles N. Boyd; recording secretary, Mrs. Henrietta M. Bodycombe; Federation secretary, Mrs. J. Smith Christy; treasurer, Mrs. Lewis E. Huseman; chairman of ways and means, Mrs. David A. Pitcairn; club choral chairman, Mrs. S. H. Nichols; altruistic chairman, Mrs. F. F. Rohrer; ensemble chairman, Mrs. Ethel Reeder Jones; extension chairman, Mrs. J. C. Ackerman; manuscript chairman, Mrs. Ruth Stephen Porter; directors, Mrs. Charles H. Barnard, Miss Jessie M. Harper, Mrs. Marie Crawford Pease and Mrs. H. Talbot Peterson; active membership committee, Mrs. Marion Clarke Bollinger, Mrs. John A. Byerly, Mrs. Walter E. Close, Mrs. Frances Bennett Gooding, Miss Mabel King and Mrs. W. A. Weldin.

Officers Elected

Mrs. Lee, reporting for the juniors, stated that no other parent club in the state has more than three junior organizations, whereas Tuesday Musical has 13 flourishing "children." The choral report showed that this group has contributed more than $1,800 to the Stephen Collins Foster Memorial within the year.

Mrs. Wilson says she is coming back for the dedication of the memorial.

Marjorie Evans Stewart sang two groups of compositions by Martanne Genet at the dinner given last night in the latter's honor by the Wilkinsburg Business and Professional Women's Club. The first group of songs included "The Love Cycle," the words of which are by Nelle Richmond Eberhart, the second group being "My Love is a Blossom" and "Lotus Blossom," which are set to words by Grace Thompson-Seton. Gertrude Avayda Guffey read poems in manuscript, among them being "The Road Towards Home," "The Cross at the End of the Square," "My Grandther" and others. The meeting, which was designated as "artists' night," was held in the Penn-Lincoln Hotel.

The May events of the New Era Club include the annual luncheon next Wednesday at the Pittsburgh Country Club, forestry day on May 21 at the Homeopathic Hospital and a social meeting May 28 at Mrs. Louis W. Sperber's home in Wilkinsburg. Mrs. John Howard Phillips is taking reservations for the luncheon, the program for which is to be given by Mrs. Adele Eggers Furniss, soprano, and Mrs. Paul Kelly, reader. The tree planting at the hospital on forestry day will be followed by the usual social afternoon and buffet luncheon at Mrs. Charles S. Miller's home in Heberton avenue.

Election of officers will take place next Wednesday at the annual luncheon meeting of the Pittsburgh Girls' Conference to be held in Central Branch Y. W. C. A. at 12:15 o'clock. The nominating committee, members of which are now receiving suggestions for the ticket, includes Mrs. Richard B. Perry, chairman; Mrs. Mary Clark Burnett, Miss Esther M. Hawes, Miss Katherine Quig and Mrs. Sidney L. Kaufmann.

The membership committee members of the College Club will be hostesses Saturday afternoon at a bridge tea in honor of all members of the club admitted during the last year. Assisting the chairman, Mrs. J. Reynolds Pierpoint, will be Mrs. H. Lee Briney, Mrs. Philip Hodill, Mrs. C. A. Carpenter, Mrs. Alexander P. Reed, Mrs. Robert Watson Schmertz, Mrs. Cornelius Scully, Mrs. Robert Todd and Mrs. Walter Wellinger and all sponsors of the new members. A reception will be held from 2:30 until 3 o'clock, when the bridge will begin.

PITTSBURGH

EVENING WRAPS ARE BOTH SUMPTUOUS AND SIMPLE

Sketched in Paris

Paris Bureau, Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

PARIS, MAY 7.—The evening wrap covers a lot of territory, sartorially speaking, of course. It can be just a little wisp of a scarf, a short little cape, a coat on bolero lines, a three-quarter jacket, or a long trailing affair. The young woman, this season, has shown a decided preference for the short simple wrap, often of chiffon velvet, that is free of any trimming, thus providing a happy contrast to her full, long skirt with its crips flaring line.

Short jackets of ermine are also much in evidence here also short black velvet wraps trimmed with the same pelt. However, there are always women who prefer the wrap of sumptuous fabric and lavish embellishment, and their preferences have not been overlooked by the couturiers. Therefore, although this is specifically the season of the little wrap, there are plenty of magnificent creations to be found, and if your taste runs to a lovely wrap, richly ornamented, you will still be very much of the mode, for this is a season of individual preference in the matter of the wardrobe.

YOU MAY be all wrapped up in the little wrap, but just the same, we feel that you will readily concede the claims of the rich wrap cut on more generous lines. We are therefore sending you two drawings of a wrap that is credited with being one of the loveliest and most sumptuous of the many handsome wraps that are on view in the latest Paquin collection. This model is in brown georgette, richly trimmed with sable marten. It is much shorter at one side and has a diagonal or spiral line that is accentuated by the three bands of fur. In deference to the importance of the cape, the right side of the wrap is cut on circular cape lines, while the left side is cut so that the arm may be hidden inside it. The shawl collar of fur is of even width throughout its length and ends in a becoming square line in front. The wrap is lined with matching brown chiffon velvet.

POLITICAL GAG LAW IN SPAIN

MADRID, May 7.—(AP.)—A government ban was placed today on political assembly and speech as a consequence of disorders since last Thursday growing out of Republican utterances of Don Miguel De Unamuno, rector of the university at Salamanca.

The action was taken by the Ministry of Interior, headed by Enrique Marco, last night, after a lengthy cabinet meeting.

It was the second time since the accession of Premier General Damaso Berenguer that the gag has been applied to the politicians, so long and effectively repressed during the regime of General Primo De Rivera.

Shantung Ensembles

Featuring Casual Jackets, Peplums and the Finest Shantung Obtainable

$19.50

Only two of the ensembles can be shown, but they will illustrate the casual chic of the peplum-like jacket, (left) and the jaunty nipped-in blouse and smart jabots on the youthful model. (right) Six models in all.

An extra value for the opening of the summer season. Pure silk shantungs . . . excellent styles and workmanship. Regular $25 ensembles, you'll say!

The skirts have low flares; dresses are sleeveless or have capped sleeves. The coats do several things, they make an ensemble that is formal enough for street wear, business and shopping, and supply a dash of fashion by the nipped-in waistline on three of the models, the mannish tailoring on two of them, and full, flaring revers on the other.

The Colors: White, eggshell, brown, black, shell pink, green, blue, orchid and maize.

The Sizes: Misses' sizes, 14 to 20; women's sizes 36 to 44; and half sizes, 14½ to 22½.

Chickie Is Exultant When Barry Comes Back

CHAPTER LXXIX

Chickie paused at the steps. She turned back at him. "You mean you're going to propose again?"

"Again and again."

She shook her head.

"That means he's coming, and Chickie—" It was settled between her and him.

Inquires About Tour

She went to a steamship company. The clerk was young. He looked up all manners of tours for her, saying cheerfully: "Oh, yes—many of these tours only last a month or six weeks. Five are longer than three months."

Finally she inquired about the Gulf Steamship Company that gave the date Barry had named. Could he find out when that boat was due to return?

Well—he guessed he could. Guessed he could do more than that. She might drop in the next day—keep dropping in—

At the end of the week he had the information. The boat was scheduled to end its run in the middle of August or thereabouts.

A month longer—he would be back—he would rush to her. Could she wait? Dared she wait? She went tumbling up the street, glowing giddy with excitement and relief. Not so long—

Pictures of Mary and Lucy came into her mind. She made calculations, comparisons. She seized mightily with a kind of madness on this new refuge from her fears.

Scolded by Janina

Another month—oh, let the dead quiet of his eyes reproach her; let the cold pallor in his voice about that his love was gone. Let it! She would be freed—

The day the steamer was due in Savannah Chickie sent a message. It was this: "Come at once! You must. Another week will be too late."

That week passed and another. She became ill with a cold, blind despair. She grew so pale that Janina wearied of twitting her, gave up inviting her to parties. With Chickie's last refusal she turned scornfully: "Stella Wilson was yellow, Chickie! But you've got a streak that runs from your head to your feet!" Let any yappling

A Telephone Call

That night she said to Jennie: "I get my vacation next week."

Jennie's sweet eyes raised. "Well, I'm glad dear, you need it, you're all worn out."

And because her mother's standing behind the chair, Jan put soft hand across Chickie's forehead; she fled into her own room, bursting into tears.

It was Tuesday, the first week of September. There was a box in Chickie's drawer and on a day when she thought her heart was broken she had gathered all his letters, tied them here, writing on the cover: "Jennie or Jonathan, Burn this as is, please." By order of your darling Chickie.

Now she took this box and stole into the kitchen, lifted the cover from the stove, watched the clean golden flames wreathe about the many sheets, even about his picture.

Jennie said: "What destruction is this, dear?"

Chickie laughed: "Oh, your darling daughter's past!"

Strange the phone should ring just then. Chickie ran to it and even running knew.

"You want to see me, Chickie?"

Barry Returns

Quiet like that. But it was thunder sweeping through her heart, opening with joy.

She whispered in a voice all broken: "Barry! Really, you're here?"

"Yes."

"You're coming? Tonight—oh, really?"

"Not tonight, Chickie. I can't. I've only a little while now—"

"Oh. Oh, wait, wait a moment—" She clung to the phone, fighting against the hardness in her throat. Finally: "I have to see you, Barry, please—"

"Tonight, Chickie? Can you meet me then?"

He told her the place, the restaurant where they often ate—the booth they used to take.

In her relief it seemed that all her veins were melting—warmed. She kept crying as she tried to dress and murmuring to herself: "Stop—oh, I'll look a fright—oh, here! Here—"

With a little light rush she went through the narrow passage to the booth, her pretty hand extended. She said: "Barry! I knew you'd come, Barry—"

Be Discreet in Passing Gossip, and Be Happy, Advises Fay King

OH, I WISH I HADN'T TOLD MARY!
FAY-KING.
WHAT DO YOU THINK OF THAT I DON'T THINK DORIS SHOULD HAVE TOLD ME THAT ABOUT JANE! I'LL NOT MENTION IT TO A SOUL!
IF SOMEONE HAS BETRAYED A CONFIDENCE TO YOU, YOU CAN RIGHT THE WRONG BY NOT REPEATING IT

Tact is no quality more to be admired than discretion.

To be discreet gives one the power to judge justly and to be aware of how much harm can be caused by misinterpreting or repeating what is best left unsaid.

The discreet person will weigh well the importance of all she hears and even what she sees.

She will not scamper from one friend to another anticipating the momentary enthusiasm her choice bit of unexpected gossip will arouse.

She will not remember, and will as readily forget, what is best forgotten and not remembered.

Even the one who has betrayed a confidence will feel relieved when she realizes the one to whom she talked—is discreet.

Cultivate the quality of being discreet.

Madge Reviews Katherine's Marriage and Parting

I found no answer to my mental query concerning Hal Meredith in either Katherine's actions or words as she went downstairs with me to the dining room, where Katie served luncheon with a lightness of manner which showed that she had completely shed the memory of her recent encounter with Mrs. Thorn and the disciplinary interview with me which had followed it. Through the swinging door at Katie's frequent entrances and exits I could catch glimpses of Mrs. Thorn busily engaged at sink with Katie's apology the hatchet had been buried temporarily at least and the two lowwomen were at peace.

Katherine made a fine pretense of doing full justice to Katie's excellent luncheon, but I saw that in reality she ate chantily and that the meal was an ordeal to her. I had intended to have Jim drive her to the station because I wished to be at hand for the telegram from Marion which I expected and which I wished no one to receive save myself. But as I watched Katherine I resolved to remain with her until I had put her on the train and excusing myself, ran upstairs to the extension telephone and put in a call for the Western Union.

"I am expecting a telegram very shortly." I told the operator giving my name and telephone number, "but I have to go away for a little while and I do not wish it telephoned to the house while I am gone. If it comes, please hold it there until I telephone again."

Very well Mrs. Graham," the operator said courteously, then repeated my instructions and I went back to the dining room relieved of the fear that if Marion's telegram said "No," my father would know the signature from the school and I would be put in the position of having betrayed part of the young girl's confidence in me.

I also did but scant justice to Katie's delicious food, for my brain was busy with Katherine's problem—no new one to me, but one which my selfish absorption in my own affairs had pushed out of my heart in the last few months. Kaleidoscopically, as I laughed and talked and pretended to eat, there passed before the eyes of my brain endless pictures of Katherine as I had known her since the day in the first weeks of my marriage, when she had come to nurse Mother Graham through an unexpected illness.

Katherine Binnot she had been then, a small, brown-eyed brown-haired sprite, with an exquisite elfin beauty which was still hers, though the years had ripened it.

I experienced again the queer little feeling—not jealousy, yet near it—which I had known when she had recognized a photograph of Jack Bickett, the brother-cousin with whom I had been brought up and whose wish to marry me I only had found out dramatically after my wedding, when Jack was yet ignorant of my marriage. Katherine had naively confessed her romantic interest in Jack, whom she had never seen, and I had fought down the unworthy cousin-in-the-manger feeling which her confidence had given me.

Swiftly there followed other pictures of the winsome little sister Katherine starting for France as a member of the hospital unit of my brother-in-law Edwin Braithwaite, famous surgeon, Katherine later helping Doris's sister Harriet, her staunch friend, to combat Edwin Braithwaite's infatuation for the little nurse whom she wisely realized was only a manifestation of the fatherhood he never had known. Katherine finding Jack desperately wounded in France, Katherine, a radiant bride bravely facing life beside a bridegroom so ravaged physically and mentally by his war experiences that we who loved them both trembled for the outcome of the experiment.

Our doubts had been justified in the years since then, though no one had ever heard a complaint from Katherine. But Jack Bickett, the companion and ideal of my young girlhood, the man whom my mother had wished me to marry, and who was in truth a "parfait gentil knight," had seemed possessed of a devil ever since his marriage. Dour, stern and silent, he had almost crushed Katherine's delicate sprightliness. Once I myself had called him severely to account for his treatment of Katherine that I think he never quite forgave me for the interference, although he mended his ways somewhat afterward.

But for his present conduct I could find no excuse whatever. Nearly two years have gone by since he went to the wilds of South America upon one of the expeditions that make up most of his professional life (he is an engineer of parts) and he not only refused Katherine's entreaty to go with him, but sternly banned her second wish to go back to her profession while he was gone. He had consented finally to my plea that she come to me, and once in the farmhouse Katherine sensibly, and with my aid and sanction, had taken some hospital cases before our compact concerning Junior had confined her presence to our house.

It had not made it easier for her to learn from one of her husband's infrequent letters that a woman was at the camp, although, to do Jack justice, I do not think he had any knowledge of her coming when he forbade Katherine's joining the expedition. But the fact that this woman, the sister of one of Jack's comrades, was romantically impressed by the tall, gloomy engineer and showed her predilection plainly had come to us from other sources than Jack's letters.

Then Hall Meredith had come back into Katherine's life.

The Marry-Go-Round

New Styles in Villains

Styles in "villains," as well as in everything else, have changed.

You can no longer spot a "villain" a block away, by his silk hat, diamond scarf-pin and flowing black mustache. Oh, no! He is far more likely to have angel-blue eyes, a collegiate mop of blond hair and to sport an intellectual-looking pair of horn-rimmed spectacles.

He does not boldly pursue the trembling young girl (ful. crying Ha! I'll get you yet, my proud beauty!)

Oh dear, no. He lolls indolently in your piazza swing, helps himself to your cigarets, sips your dad's pre-war stock—and talks "modernism."

By "modernism" I mean the old, old "I-love-you—You-love-me . . . Marriage-is-an-antique-convention . . . Be-fair-to-yourself . . . live-your-own-life . . . Love-is-all" stuff!

When a man begins talking like that, let him TALK—but listen with your fingers crossed, sister. The words may be new, but the tune is the same old tune that the Serpent crooned to Eve in the Garden.

It all sounds so convincing and sensible and sophisticated! So rational—and idealistic! So superior and spiritual—and inspiring!

You naturally hate to admit that you're just a "horse-and-buggy" or a "crocheted tidy" at heart. Just an old-fashioned girl with a wedding-ring complex! A "horse-hair sofa!" A mid-Victorian relic!

But reason it out! He may love you madly, as he vows, but not so madly that he is willing to sign a life-contract to that effect.

He may want to share his dreams with you—but he is not offering to share any of your responsibilities with you. He may be willing to go to the ends of the earth for you—but he is not promising to go to WORK for you.

* * *

In short he is not looking for LOVE; he is looking for an adventure. And whatever he's letting himself in for he wants all the emergency exits left open, so that he can skip gaily out of it the first moment he's bored.

There is no such THING as 'Free Love.' Love is the most precious and highly-priced thing in the world. And when a man really loves a woman, he doesn't stop to bargain with her, nor to cavil at the price. He is not afraid to "tie himself up." The only thing on earth that he's afraid of is that he may not be able to tie HER up.

I have never known one of these professional 'Modernists' who did not go mid-Victorian and insist on good old-fashioned marriage the moment he met a woman for whom he cared enough.

So, when the fair-haired Boy Friend starts talking this heady "Live-your-own-life" stuff on a moonlight spring evening, just ask him to put it in WRITING. And don't waste another marcel on him!

Personally, I much prefer the old-style villain who spelt Sin with a capital "S" and loved wickedness, to the 1930 model who calls it "Modernism"—and loves nothing on earth but HIMSELF.

How to Keep Well

By DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND

Healthy Hair

So many letters have reached me asking for pertinent information on the care of the hair that I am again writing on this subject.

DR. COPELAND

There is a lot of misinformation given the public about the hair. It would be a good idea if you wish to be informed thoroughly in the matter to get a good book on histology and study the hair. What we have on our scalps is really dead substance. The hair follicle, buried in the substance of the scalp, is the living thing. Each individual hair is pushed off the hair follicle. The individual hair rests upon this just as the strawberry rests upon the hull.

No harmless substance that you put on the hair does anything to stimulate its growth or change its nature. The only thing that will stimulate the growth of hair is something that will improve the circulation of the scalp. The hair of the head is just as dependent upon the blood supply of the scalp as the plants in the garden are dependent upon the moisture and nourishment taken from the soil.

Clipping, singeing and the application of lotions do nothing to the hair itself. They have no effect whatever upon the growth of the hair. There are stimulating lotions which can be applied to the scalp, and which will perhaps improve the circulation of the scalp. In that way they benefit the hair and promote the growth.

Most persons who are bald have weak-acting hearts. The blood is not sent in forceful stream to the crown of the head. If the person having this sort of a heart is in the habit of wearing a heavy and tight-fitting hat that practice will serve to cut off the circulation and reduce the amount of blood sent to the scalp. That is why one who has a tendency to baldness must be careful about selecting a suitable headgear.

If you ever saw several specimens of hair under a microscope you would understand the difference between straight hair and curly hair. Curly hair has peculiar kinks, in a sense like the joints of a bamboo pole. These cannot be produced by any artificial means. The curling iron, of course, accomplishes a lot in producing an artificial appearance of curliness of the hair.

Unfortunately the hair cannot be trained to grow from the scalp in any other way than nature arranged in the first place. I have a cowlick in front of a double crown behind. If I were to wear my hair short it would stick up in front and on the top of my head. Nothing that human genius can invent could make it do otherwise.

Everything that improves the general health enriches the blood and builds up the body will help the hair. That is to say, all these things give health to the scalp as they do to the rest of the body.

Answers to Health Queries

A. G. S. Q.—Is it advisable for a person to marry who has been cured of tuberculosis?

Answer—Follow your doctor's instructions, but certainly if the cure is complete marriage is proper.

G. C. J. Q.—What would you advise for nervousness?

Answer—First build up your general health. Avoid constipation. Sleep rest, fresh air, gentle exercise, change of scene and diversion are essential.

E. H. Q.—What do you advise for arthritis?

Answer—Massage, baking, mud baths, electricity, X-ray, vaccines all have their value. Change of climate is also beneficial.

* * * *

M. R. C. Q.—How can I reduce?

A.—Weight reduction is chiefly a matter of self-control as regards diet. Eat very sparingly of starches, sugars and fats.

MARY P. T. Q.—How can I get rid of pimples and blackheads?

A.—Correct your diet by cutting down on sugar, starches and coffee. Eat simple food. Avoid constipation.

Household Hints

Mildew on leather can be removed by rubbing first with vaseline and then with a soft cloth.

Corn syrup may be used in the proportion of one and one-half cups of syrup to each cup of sugar.

Clean spots from white kid gloves by rubbing with alcohol. This dries quickly and does not leave an unpleasant odor.

Carpet brooms last much longer and are more satisfactory if from the first they are steeped once a week in boiling suds. The hot water strengthens them and also makes them more pliable, so that they do not have such wearing effect upon the carpets.

Tomorrow's Horoscope

Thursday, May 8

An eventful and probably intriguing day is the forecast made from the predominant lunar and mutual configurations. This applies largely to the nature of social, domestic and affectional matters, although somewhat of the same complexion will be noticeable in new adventures or undertakings of a business nature. The finances are adversely aspected and should not be put in jeopardy by loans, ill-advised investment or personal extravagance or recklessness. There may be much pleasure or social activity of a rather singular nature.

Those whose birthday it is may look for an interesting and eventful year, with possibly social, domestic or affectional matters engaging the attention. However, any new ventures or projects may have some progress, provided the funds are judiciously invested and not jeopardized by loans or ill-advised expenditures. Personal indulgence and extravagance are likewise warned against.

A child born on this day may be gifted by many social and personal graces, fitting it for success in life, although it may have strong leanings to social and romantic affairs or pleasures, with extravagant tendencies or indulgencies.

ARMAND CLEANSING CREAM

The Beauty Box

By HELEN FOLLETT

Under the surface of the human scalp is a thin layer of padding. When that warps and tightens, the free circulation of the blood is retarded. Since the glorious crown lives on the blood streams getting from them the nourishment necessary to push out their little overlapping cells, it is vitally necessary that circulation should be normal. Therefore, scalp massage is beneficial. Fingers should dig deep, and the scalp should be moved about. Mere surface rubbing does precisely nothing.

Medical reports show that there are more knock-kneed girls than boys. It is as clear as air. Boys have more exercise, they eat simpler and more nourishing food than girls. Deficiencies of bone structure are overcome. Because of exercise, the digestive furnaces fire up better, nutriment in the blood is properly distributed and the building processes of growth go on normally as they should. Straight legs must get an early start. Let the mammas take notice.

When the candidate for more wool atop her head has her shampoo at the beauty shop she should avoid the hot-air dryer, if possible. Radiant lamps are better, and hand-rubbing of the scalp is better than the lamp. The rays of the sun may bleach the hair slightly, but they are helpful to the growth. A simple tonic is made by combining one ounce each of castor oil and rubbing alcohol. Apply every night.

A coated tongue calls attention to some digestive disturbance. The girl who is thus afflicted should have in the medicine closet a mixture of salt and baking soda, equal parts. A small quantity sprinkled on the tongue will sweeten the breath. The combination is excellent for the gums when they are pale and bleed easily.

Garden Memory

Looking out into the garden
I can see you walking there
With the golden sunlight falling
On the red-gold of your hair.
Tall and stately as a lily
Swaying on its slender stem,
With your gold hair in the sunlight
Like a golden diadem.

Hollyhocks and roses nodding
Greet you gaily as you pass;
Far beyond, the weeping willows
Trail their branches on the grass.
You are framed in yellow roses
Where the vine-clad trellis stands;
Golden sunlight all about you,
Yellow roses in your hands.

I shall hold this garden memory
Through the years, shall see you there
Always, with the golden sunlight
On the red-gold of your hair.

Correct Manners

By MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

Ensemble Conscious

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

1. This is not exactly etiquet, but do you think a rather dark blue and a bright red would clash? (I caused a lot of commotion by sewing a set of red cuffs and collar on a sort of royal blue dress.)

2. Is it proper, or permissible, when a girl drops a pair of gloves or something, unseen by her escort, to tell him about it, or just pick them up herself?

R. E. P.

1. I COULD see—in my mind's eye—that this might be a very questionable combination of colors. Of course it is difficult for one who has not seen the exact shades to pass judgment on the combination—but it does sound a bit more like a striking combination in a banner than one that we would choose for a dress. And if the combination caused a "lot of comment" it probably needs revision. Nowadays we have become so ensemble-conscious that we have to be more careful than in older days when not so much attention was paid to color-combinations.

2. I don't see much point in a girl's making such a fuss about picking up something that she has dropped. It seems the natural thing to do to pick up what we have dropped, and not call for assistance in such an unimportant detail.

A Hospitable Gesture

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

Is it correct to invite the mother and father of the young man I go about with to tea some Sunday afternoon at my home? My parents and his know each other slightly. Friends tell me that they should not be invited until we are engaged. I am not yet engaged to him, but will be on my birthday. My mother would like to invite them up next month and would like to know whether or not this is correct. Also, should his two younger sisters, 18 and 11, be invited?

DAILY SUBSCRIBER.

By all means have your mother invite your fiance's parents to tea on the first Sunday afternoon that it will be convenient. This is a charming and hospitable gesture. It doesn't make any difference whether or not your engagement has been announced—the invitation is correct, for you and your mother are simply "extending the hospitality" of your home, and extending a very delightful hospitality. Too, Sunday tea-time is, I think, one of the most lovely hours of the week.

For the first visit, I believe I should like to have you invite the parents, and not the two daughters. Save their invitations for the next time.

YOUNGSTOWN'S RITCHIE ORDERS HEAD TESTIFIES BAIL QUIZ

YOUNGSTOWN, O., May 7.—Taking of depositions in the Sheet and Tube-Bethlehem merger controversy here was confined to questioning of Frank Purnell, president of the Youngstown Sheet and Tube Company and Elton Hoyt II of Cleveland, partner in Pickands, Mather & Co.

Questioning linked President Eugene G. Grace of Bethlehem with purchase of Sheet and Tube stock. Hoyt admitted having discussed the matter with Grace and said the two went over the Sheet and Tube stockholders list. When Hoyt said his firm could not approach Julian Kennedy, Pittsburgh engineer, with regard to his stock, because of a controversy, Grace replied that he would take care of the matter.

President Purnell testified that he had not discussed his position in the merged companies with anyone, and that he did not know what his status is to be. He said that last year he received a salary of $40,000 from Sheet and Tube and a bonus of $50,000, or a total of $90,000. On April 1 Purnell's salary was increased to $50,000 per year.

Eaton attorneys desired to question James A. Campbell, but he had gone to New York. He will be questioned next week, and attorneys are also arranging to take depositions from Julian Kennedy, of Pittsburgh. Arrangements will be made to get depositions from Grace and Charles M. Schwab, chairman of Bethlehem.

Hoyt testified his firm spent nearly $7,000,000 for Sheet and Tube stock. He said he had selected Grayson M. P. Murphy of New York, to purchase stock for him because of friendship, but admitted Murphy had never previously handled any stock transactions for Pickands, Mather & Co.

BALTIMORE, May 7.—(AP)—Gov. Ritchie said here that formal charges that motorists are being held up for exorbitant bond charges in Prince George County will be laid by his office before the County Commissioners and J. Frank Parran, state's attorney.

Gov. Ritchie said the county authorities should be familiar with the complaints but that he intended to bring formal charges to their attention May 20.

The decision followed a conference between the Governor, E. Austin Baughman, commissioner of motor vehicles, J. Chew Sheriff, justice of the peace, Ralph W. Brown, constable, John Joseph Cassidy, state policeman, and representatives of the American Automobile Association.

Gov. Ritchie referred to the case in which Sergt. Cassidy, posing as a motorist from Washington, was arrested for speeding by Constable Brown. Cassidy was charged with driving 66 miles an hour although it was later brought out he had not driven faster than 55 miles an hour. He was forced to pay $100 to a professional bondsman, he testified. During the time between his arrest and trial, Sergt. Cassidy testified the bondsman fixed the case and the charge was amended to "exceeding 40 miles an hour." The case was tried before Justice Sheriff in Hyattsville and the charges were dismissed.

SENATE OFFICE THEFTS WORRY

WASHINGTON, May 7.—(AP)—The changing of all locks on the several hundred senatorial offices was under consideration by Capitol officials to check petty thievery in the Senate office building.

Senators McKellar, Brock and Smoot disclosed in the Senate that their offices had been visited after working hours.

Brock and Smoot lost some pens and all three offices were left in disorder with desks and file cases open and papers strewn around.

It developed today that Senator Moses' office also had been entered.

McKellar thought it might have been secret service agents who entered his office, but Chief Moran denied this and officials of the Capitol blamed it on sneak thieves.

No change in the protective system has been effected since the office building was constructed more than 20 years ago.

TRIPLE SLAYER DIES FRIDAY

MOUNDSVILLE, W. Va., May 7.—(AP)—Walter Crabtree, 37, convicted Hampshire County slayer sentenced to die on the gallows next Friday, will go to his death at 9 p. m., eastern standard time, unless executive clemency is extended, it was said by Warden A. C. Scroggins.

Crabtree's execution will be the first under the regime of Warden Scroggins and he is following a custom established by his predecessor, Dr. L. M. Robinson, in setting executions at 9 o'clock in the evening. Prior to Dr. Robinson's administration, executions were carried out at 5 p. m., or the sunset hour.

Crabtree prays daily with the prison chaplain, and when asked today if he had made his peace with God, he replied:

"I don't know how I'm fixed there."

The condemned man added that he would mount the gallows unafraid to die.

He was convicted of the killing of Justice of the Peace H. Carter Inskeep, of Romney. Two other men were also slain at the same time, but Crabtree was not tried for the other killings because of the Inskeep case conviction.

BRADFORD, Pa., May 7.—(AP)—A drilling rig near Bolivar, N. Y., was blown down and demolished by a high wind just as the drillers, Hanley & Byrd, of Bolivar, had reached the 5,000 foot level, where they expected to strike gas. Hanley & Byrd also owned the well.

POTOMAC RIVER BRIDGE URGED

BALTIMORE, Md., May 7.—(AP)—The Southern Maryland Society proposed state construction of a $4,000,000 Potomac River bridge to facilitate marketing in Baltimore the products of the northern neck of Virginia. The bridge, to join Charles County in Maryland and King George County in Virginia, would, in the opinion of officers of the society, pay for itself in 10 years.

The society through a committee headed by its president Dr. N. E. Barry Iglehart, plans to urge that the span be considered as a state project and a conference to urge this upon B. Howell Griswold, chairman of the Chesapeake Bay Bridge Commission, has been proposed by the committee.

N. Y. OFFICIALS LOSE APPEAL

ALBANY, N. Y., May 7 (AP.)—By order of the Court of Appeals, Maurice Connolly, former president of Queens Borough, New York City, and Frederick E. Seeley, borough engineer, must serve one year in jail and pay fines of $500 each for conspiring to defraud the borough of a sum estimated at from $10,000,000 to $16,000,000.

The State Court of Appeals upheld their conviction and sentence.

Connolly and Seeley were convicted by a Supreme Court jury a year ago last October of defrauding the city in contracts for a sewerage system for the borough. It was charged that Connolly and Seeley had approved only contracts calling for sewer pipe on which the late John M. Phillips, styled the "Sewer Pipe King," held a monopoly in the borough and which he sold to the city at high prices. They allegedly divided the profits thus obtained.

Tod Resigns From Youngstown Tube Co.

YOUNGSTOWN, O., May 7.—John Tod, of this city, reputed to own 60,000 shares of common stock of the Youngstown Sheet and Tube Company, resigned today as a director of the company. YACHT THIEVES' PLOT BALKED

NEW YORK, May 7 (AP.)—While multi-millionaire Col. Jacob C. Jacobs, of San Francisco, was in Europe what is believed to have been a partially successful attempt to smuggle rare liquors and costly automotive rugs and lingerie from his yacht the Cythera, moored in Sherman's dry-dock, Brooklyn, it became known here.

Jacobs' wedding customs duties regarded that while the yacht lay in dry dock two big laundry trucks drove up and were loaded with what appeared to be dirty linen. Upon investigation Golden declared he found forbidden liquors and valuable rugs, women's wear and lingerie in one of the trucks. While he was searching other trucks, he said, the others drove off at high speed. The second truck was traced to its garage later, but it was bare of contraband.

SLAYER GIVEN JAIL TERM

BALTIMORE, May 7 (AP.)—Two sentences of 18 years to run concurrently were imposed by Judge Robert F. Stanton, in Criminal Court, on Vincent Sacco convicted by a jury last week of second degree murder of Robert Klinefelder of Lebanon, Pa. Immediately after the first sentence was pronounced Sacco pleaded guilty to the murder of Cyrus Buchman, also of Lebanon, and received the second sentence.

Sacco had been indicted for the murder April 6, of both men, but was tried only on the charge of killing Klinefelder.

As soon as sentence was pronounced, Sacco was taken to the penitentiary. Warden Patrick J. Brady said the prisoner would be examined by a physician tomorrow and given a cell and assigned to work.

Drink lots of good water—you can get it on [illegible] also get from any pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys also to neutralize the acids in the system so they are no longer a source of irritation, thus often relieving bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, cannot injure, makes a delightful effervescent lithia water drink, which everyone should take now and then to help keep their kidneys clean and active. Try this, and keep up the water drinking, and no doubt you will wonder what became of your kidney trouble and backache.

The Rainbow's End is within Your reach

DID you ever feel so desperate you wanted to jump out of a window? That's the wrong end of the rainbow.

Ill health is a burden on body, mind and friends. But Nature never fails to signal her dangers. Lack of appetite, flabby flesh, loss of strength and skin troubles is a warning from Nature. This is her way of pleading for help.

The basic requirement for good health is rich, red blood—those vitalizing elements in the blood that build and sustain the body.

Thousands of people have a low blood count—to this may be attributed "run down" systems, skin troubles, and even more serious ailments.

It is dangerous to let the blood count remain below normal.

When S.S.S. is indicated in your case you owe it to yourself and friends to try it.

If you desire firm flesh, a glowing complexion, energy, vitality and the blessings of health you must keep your blood in good condition.

S.S.S. has been a blessing to millions of people who have taken advantage of its wonderful medicinal properties. It gives to Nature what it needs to build you up so that your system may throw off the cause.

With an increase in the red-blood-cells, you will be on the right road to Health. This is Nature's way to body power and to clear skin. Naturally, with your strength restored, it is easier to fight disease and infection; to enjoy your food and to sleep soundly. When firm flesh takes the place of that which was once flabby, you will feel strong—your nerves will become steady—more happiness and friends will follow.

Take S.S.S. daily at mealtime. It helps Nature build rich, red-blood-cells. It is made from strictly fresh vegetable drugs and has stood the test for over 100 years. All good drug stores sell S.S.S. in two sizes. Ask for the larger size. It is more economical.

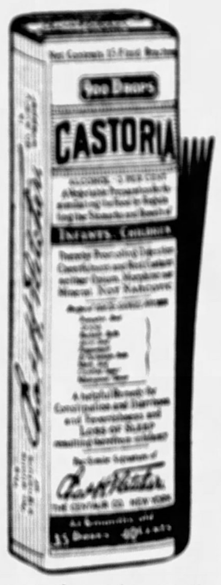
An Ailing CHILD



Are you prepared to render first aid and quick comfort the moment your youngster has an upset of any sort? Could you do the right thing—immediately—though the emergency came without warning—perhaps tonight? Castoria is a mother's standby at such times. There is nothing like it in emergencies, and nothing better for everyday use. For a sudden attack of colic, or the gentle relief of constipation, to allay a feverish condition, or to soothe a fretful baby that can't sleep. This pure vegetable preparation is always ready to ease an ailing youngster. It is just as harmless as the recipe on the wrapper reads. If you see Chas. H. Fletcher's signature, it is genuine Castoria. It is harmless to the smallest infant; doctors will tell you so.

You can tell from the recipe on the wrapper how mild it is, and how good for little systems. But continue with Castoria until a child is grown.

MOTORISTS demanded American Oil Company service in Lawrenceville and here it is -- at 39th and Butler.

Of course, the chief interest lies in the fact that you can now get Amoco-Gas, Orange American Gas and Amoco Motor Oil at this location.

But this is only one of the features. You'll get prompt service from courteous attendants. Complete oiling and greasing service is given by experts who know every nook and cranny of your car. You'll appreciate the little courtesies, too -- a wipe for your windshield, air for your tires, water for your battery and clean, modern rest-rooms.

In other words, you'll get typical American Oil service -- prompt, efficient and courteous. Place this station on your regular calling list and pay your first call today.

ENS SHIFTS OUTFIELD

SPORT COMMENT
by JAMES J. LONG

Buc Pitchers Wobbly. Complete But Six Tilts. Batted for 22 Homers.

Hubbell Adds to String. Earl Smith Goes Out. Most Fouls by Heavies.

SLAB BRACE NEEDED TO STOP SLIDE

A TREMENDOUS BRACE on the part of the Pittsburgh pitchers will be necessary before there can be any hope of stopping the Pirate slide. It is true that the club as a whole has played loosely in spots. Any team will look bad when it is having a losing streak. Yesterday, for instance, though there is no denying that Remy Kremer was hit hard by the great slugging array presented by the Giants, it must be admitted that his support also was atrocious and that he was not wholly to blame for the Bucs' sixth defeat in the last eight games.

But in the main the slump of the Rovers has been due to ineffective pitching. Things have come to such a pass that it will be a decided novelty when Manager Ens succeeds in finding a flinger on his staff capable of lasting nine innings. The spectacle of a Pirate chucker going the route hasn't been enjoyed since April 26, when Ervin Brame went through to a victory over the Cardinals. And even then the enemy scored seven runs to the Corsairs' nine. In every one of the eight games played since that date, Ens has been forced to use two or more moundsmen.

Remy Kremer.

AS A MATTER of fact, the pitching department has been a source of trouble ever since the season opened, even when the Pirates were on their winning drive. It was their attack that was holding them up then. In view of the continuance of that powerful backing on the offensive, making only a fair grade of slab work necessary to win, the failure of the home hurlers to hold up their end has been all the more disappointing.

In only six of the 17 games played up to today were the Bucs able to get by with a single pitcher. In every one of the 11 other contests, two or more twirlers were pressed into service. On a few occasions the shifting was due to the need for a pinch-hitter, but in the great majority of cases the changes were rendered necessary by ineffectiveness.

TO ERVIN BRAME goes the distinction of being the only Pittsburgh pitcher who has gone the distance in every start up to date. Brame has started three times and pitched three full contests, being credited with exactly half of the complete games pitched by Pirate hillmen. Kremer turned in two of the three other full numbers and Larry French one.

Kremer has started six games and in four of them has been lifted before the finish, though he was not charged with a defeat until yesterday. French has started four times and has been taken out three times. Jess Petty has started twice, Steve Swetonic once and Percy Jones once, failing on every occasion to go the distance. Jones did not pitch poorly, but was lifted for a pinch-hitter.

Ervin Brame.

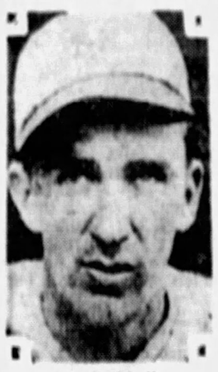
THE HOME-RUN ball is about the only thing the local pitchers have appeared able to throw consistently. They hold the doubtful honor of leading both major leagues in that respect. Yesterday marked the second time this spring they have been reached for four homers in one game. In one other contest they were found for three, and in another they were nicked for two. In only three of the 17 games played by the Bucs up to today did their opponents fail to make one or more home runs.

ALL TOLD, THE Pirate flingers have been smacked for 22 homers. And 19 of these four-baggers by the enemy have been made in the last 11 games. The contest with the Braves here last Friday was the only game in the last 11 in which Pittsburgh's opponents did hit for the circuit at least once.

The home runs credited to the seven other clubs in the National League up to date total 72, and with 22 of them charged against Pittsburgh it follows that Pirate pitchers have been hit for almost one-third of the whole crop. The Bucs themselves have made only seven homers. The total for both leagues is 144. It's a big spring for circuit clouts, and the fates, unhappily, seem to have picked the Pirates to be the chief sufferers.

BY KNOCKING OFF the Browns yesterday, Rube Walberg, left-hander, hung up his fifth victory of the spring and became the first pitcher in the majors to win five games. He is charged with one defeat. Malone, of the Cubs; Seibold, of the Braves; Lyons, of the White Sox; Stewart, of the Browns, and Ferrell, of the Indians, have won four games each.

Gray, of the Browns, and Carroll, of the Tigers, have lost four games each without turning in a victory. Clark, of the Dodgers, Crowder, of the Browns, and Uhle, of the Tigers, have been beaten four times, but Clark has two games in the victory column and Crowder and Uhle one each.



Carl Hubbell.

THOUGH CARL HUBBELL did not finish yesterday's game at Forbes Field he received credit in the pitching records for the Giants' victory, and that gives him a clean slate against the Pirates for a period of almost two years. In that time he has won six consecutive decisions over the locals. The Rovers have not beaten him since August 23, 1928, when they knocked him off the rubber in the fifth inning. Later in that season Hubbell won one game from the Forbes Field athletes and last year he toppled them four times in a row.

THE ATTACK THAT the Giants presented yesterday, with Pat Crawford playing second base instead of the lighter-hitting Eddie Marshall, is likely to be a nightmare to many a pitcher before the season is over. All the way down to the pitcher the men in the batting order are not only natural .300 hitters, but sluggers into the bargain. It's an array of extraordinary power.

In the latest compilation of the National League averages, Terry was hitting .390, Lindstrom and Ott .364, Jackson .359, Hogan 357, and Crawford .308. Including yesterday's game, Reese is hitting .458, while Leach has climbed to .273 and is rising at a rate that probably will put him over the .300 mark before long.

UNLESS SOME OTHER major league club decides to pick him up as a free agent after giving him the go-by when St. Louis asked waivers on him a few days ago, the unconditional release of Earl Smith by the Cardinals will mean the passing of the scrappy catcher from the big show.

Smith, who was a Pirate from July 14, 1924, until July 9, 1928, played with four National League clubs during his major league career

TEUTON BOXER PROMISES TO OBEY EDICTS

NEW YORK, May 7.—(AP.)—Max Schmeling, Teuton heavyweight, finally has made his peace with the New York State Athletic Commission.

The solons of swat announce they are ready to grant Schmeling the license he needs to fight Jack Sharkey for the heavyweight championship in the Yankee stadium June 12 if the German will agree to three conditions:

1. That he defend his title in New York within a year if he defeats Sharkey.
2. That he meet an opponent approved by the commission.
3. That the match be staged by a promoter acceptable to the commission.

MAX ACCEPTS CONDITIONS

To all three of these conditions, Schmeling readily agreed during the progress of a three-hour session with the commissioners yesterday, and it was announced that his license would be granted at the next meeting of the commission.

On the suggestion of Schmeling's counsel, it was decided that the German heavyweight would not sign for the 1931 fight until October 15 of this year. Schmeling's contract with his original manager, Arthur Buelow, does not expire until October 14, and the boxer's counsel argued that if he signed for the 1931 bout now Buelow might have some claim to a portion of the receipts.

REFUSED SCOTT BOUT

It was Schmeling's contract with Buelow that first involved the heavyweight in difficulties with the commission. Shortly after he arrived here, Schmeling became involved in a controversy with Buelow, declined to recognize the latter's right to make matches for him, and placed himself under the guidance of Joe Jacobs.

Buelow signed Schmeling for a bout with Phil Scott but Max declined to go through with it. He was promptly suspended along with Jacobs, and their licenses revoked.

PIE TRAYNOR

Traynor, captain and star third baseman of the Pirates, who has been out of the game this year since the training camp days because of iritis, broke into the lineup yesterday in the second game against the Giants at Forbes Field. He had only two chances in the field, but he made two hits in five times at bat. Photo shows him back on the bag, r'arin' to go.

EXPLANATIONS OF RIPLEY'S CARTOONS OF YESTERDAY: ALBERT JOHNSON WON TWO FUTURITIES IN ONE DAY—In 1922, the entries for the Pimlico Futurity were so many that the officials consented to run the race in two divisions. Johnson won both divisions, riding Blossom Time in the first division and Sally's Alley in the second. This never happened before 1922, and cannot happen again, since the track's regulations now are that only enough entries for one race will be allowed. TOMORROW—THE LAD WHO WON A TRACK MEET SINGLE-HANDED

ENS LAUDED AT BANQUET

Hundreds of Pirates fans paid a marked tribute to Manager Jewel Ens of the Pirates at a testimonial banquet held in the Schenley Hotel last night.

Ens was lauded by many famous men of baseball, including John J. McGraw, manager of the Giants; Barney Dreyfuss, owner of the Pittsburgh club, and John K. Tener, former Governor of Pennsylvania, who, besides being one of the star pitchers of many years ago, also was the president of the National League for a term.

Ens was presented with a fine clock of the grandfather's variety before he was introduced. The pilot of the team was taken by surprise in the presentation, but after being introduced he made a stirring speech.

M'GRAW BOOSTS ENS

Manager McGraw declared he had known Jewel since the days when the present Pirate manager was a youngster in the Texas League. McGraw states that Jewel has many of the qualifications that go with leadership and that he needed only the opportunity to show his worth.

Owner Dreyfuss told of the implicit confidence the Pittsburgh club had in Ens. He paid a tribute to the manner in which Jewel handles the players.

The Rev. Carl Wallace Petty was toastmaster for the affair. The invocation was given by the Rev. Wofford T. Duncan. A. K. Rowswell was chairman of the committee in charge of the affair.

Other addresses were given by Samuel Dreyfuss, vice president, and Samuel Watters, secretary, of the Pittsburgh Baseball Club, and Harold (Pie) Traynor, captain of the Pirates.

Members of the Pittsburgh and New York clubs were guests at the banquet.

Ens, in his speech, asked for the support of the fans, saying the Pirates would not disappoint, provided the patrons of the sport uphold them.

CAREY DRAWS SUSPENSION

Max (Scoops) Carey, one of the Pirate coaches, today was suspended for three days by President John A. Heydler, of the National League, as a result of the stormy scene at Forbes Field yesterday.

A telegram notifying Carey of his suspension arrived at Forbes Field today, the message, in a manner, explaining the disappearance last night of Heydler, who was slated to attend the Ens banquet at the Schenley Hotel.

Scoops was ejected from the field in the fifth inning by Umpire Michael Donohue for alleged remarks to the umpire. It seems that one of the Pittsburgh players (not Carey) called Donohue a vile name when that arbiter announced a ball on Infielder Crawford, of the Giants, when the Pirates figured the pitch as a strike.

Donohue thought he recognized Carey's voice and Scoops was ordered off the field. Manager Ens today declared with much emphasis that Carey was seated next to him on the bench at the time and that Scoops did not utter one word. The official certainly was right in taking drastic steps, but

THE LOWDOWN ON THE BUCS

By THE BENCHWARMER.

Well, folks, we haven't been able to stop them homers, but we'll get goin' again, and when we hit our stride there'll be a different story. Did you ever seen such home-running hitting as them Giants put out yesterday? Even when we got them out you could hardly see our outfielders. Talk about night baseball, I thought we'd have to get lanterns for Commy and Flagie so they could find their way back about midnight after they got through chasin' them drives that Terry, Leach and Ott were hittin'. Our outfielders were still puffin' when they got over to the banquet for Jule in the Schenley Hotel.

I heard Chic Fraser and Bill Hinchman and some other old-timers talking about them homers. They think the balls nowadays ain't not much like they was when Honus was leading the league. They was saying that if the Dutchman was playing with that kind of a ball he would hit about .500 and they'd find most of his homers down in the gully of Panther Hollow.

DOYLE LED LEAGUE

Larry Doyle, the Giants' business manager, was another that could say something about the rabbit ball. They tell me that Larry led the National League in 1915 with a mark of .320. When you hit .320 with that ball of them days you was a batter, but Paul Waner batted .335 last season and some of the birds around was sayin' he had a off year.

I don't feel like wise-crackin' Jule these days, because he feels a little tough about losin'. But I could get away with it, because he's a real sport. They certainly showed Jule what they thought of him at that banquet. McGraw gave him a puff that had a real kick to it, and so did the other speakers. I was too busy eatin' to hear the first coupla speakers. I was weak from hunger because I

By CHARLES J. DOYLE.

In an effort to stabilize his second defense, Manager Ens, of the Pirates, today decided to make a switch of outfielders. Adam Comorosky was assigned to centerfield and probably will remain there until Lloyd Waner is able to resume play. Leftfield will be guarded by three Buccos—Ira Flagstead, Jim Mosolf and Fred Brickell.

Ens thinks the outfield will perform in a smoother manner with the fleet Comorosky in the wide range of center. Flagstead is a fleet performer, but Commy has shown before that he can roam the middle pasture in a very efficient manner. While Comorosky is regarded as a star fly-chaser he is bothered a lot by the sun in the left pasture of the Oakland Orchard. Centerfield is not so difficult in this respect.

MOSOLF HAS PUNCH

Mosolf's punch at the plate gives him a high rating with Manager Ens, although Brickell has shown on many occasions that he, too, packs a terrific wallop. Both are fleet of foot, but Brick is a better outfielder, as he has had considerable experience. Fred played the pasture in many emergencies and showed up a dandy ball player.

The Giants made it two in a row over the Pirates yesterday by winning, 11 to 9. The defeat sent the Buccos into third place.

The contest was marked by the return of Capt. Pie Traynor, who has been out of action with an ailing left eye. Pie made two hits but did not have much to do in the field. He appeared to be close to top form, although his eye still bothers him.

GIANTS WIN SECOND

The Pirates unleashed a six-run drive in the eighth inning and had the winning run on the bases when Gus Suhr grounded out. They went into the round with a deficit of eight tallies, but they succeeded in hammering Carl

Nick Altrock Says:

WASHINGTON, May 7.—Spaniards are starring in the big leagues this season like it was an old Spanish custom. Lopez is catching a swell game for the Robins and Gomez is a pitching find for the Yanks. They are evening up for that Brooklyn guy that went over to Madrid to toss bulls. All the Yankees need now is a Swiss alpine guide that Nick Altrock will help 'em to climb. Don't think our Washington club has hit the skids because the Clevelands and A's ar. so close to us. We just thought we would help Hoover's prosperity program and split up the league leadership three for one.

STEEL CITY BUSY

Four games will be played in the Steel City League. The Young Men's Star Circle team of Bloomfield will drop down to Leslie Park and help St. Elizabeth to open its season. The other game in the eastern division will find the highly touted East End Cardinals clashing with Lincoln Place at the Homewood playground. The Cardinals, with Jimmy Arrigo on the firing line, expect to make a showing in their first appearance in the Steel City.

The western division finds St. Joachims meeting Fox A. C. at Arlington Park and the Clover Club opposing the Observatory Civics.

HOMEWOOD WINS

Featured by the 17-0 triumph scored by Homewood over Whitaker in the West Penn League, nearly a score of sandlot games were run off last evening.

In the North Side League Ingomar walloped the Lafayettes 11 to 1. Immaculate Heart downed Blawnox 10 to 5 and St. Boniface defeated Pinecrest 4 to 1.

The Soho Traders trimmed the Beckmans by a 12 to 2 count, the Allegheny Collegians downed the Y. M. H. A. 12 to 5, and the Lincoln Civics defeated Finleys 5-3 in Central League games.

The North Side Civics scored a 4-to-3 victory over Pleasant Valley in the City League, while the Stowe Civics repeated the score at the expense of W. O. W. Jimmy Smiths won from J. L. Thomas by 15 to 4.

UNIVERSAL AHEAD

Universal downed the Stephens club 4 to 2, and Homestead Aces took over Verona 6 to 0, in the Greater Pittsburgh League contests. Hoffmans defeated the Lineys 13 to 5, in the major circuit.

The Homestead Grays added another victim to their list by downing Jeannette 12 to 1 in an independent tussle. Duquesne Traders won from the North Braddock Collegians, 15 to 2. The scores:

Baseball Stars Crazy, Judge Is Told

CHICAGO, May 7.—(AP)—Louis B. Gemmett's 16-year effort to have all baseball players adjudged insane was carried to Probate Judge Henry Horner yesterday.

Gemmett, 71-year-old Davenport, Iowan who has been a fan for 68 years, presented several arguments which he thought were prima facie evidence that ballplayers are not quite right.

His petition was heard by Judge Horner in chambers following adjournment of court, and decision was withheld until Gemmett has a chance to talk it over with Kenesaw M. Landis, baseball commissioner.

Judge Horner is the eighteenth judge in the United States to be visited by Gemmett with a petition to have ballplayers declared crazy.

BOXING SOLONS HOLD PURSES

DETROIT, May 7.—(AP)—The Michigan Boxing Commission is taking no chances with the world welterweight championship this Friday night.

When Jackie Fields and his challenger, Young Jack Thompson, San Francisco Negro, climb into the ring at Olympia Stadium, the $47,500 guaranteed as their purses will be in a bank to the credit of James M. (Binge) Brown, chairman of the commission.

An order that money be so deposited was made by the commission yesterday at a meeting at which the unpleasant subject of fouls was discussed.

DUNN, RODGERS FOURTH BOUT CERTAINTY

By HARRY KECK,
Sports Editor.

There can be only one aftermath to the general hullabaloo over the outcome of the Jackie Rodgers-Johnny Dunn battle at Motor Square Garden last Monday night and that is another meeting between the pair. The judges disagreed at the finish of the bout and the referee's vote gave it to Rodgers. This looked all right from this corner but the crowd set up one of the worst commotions in the history of boxing at the Garden, indulging in prolonged booing and smashing chairs.

Yesterday the argument continued pro and con. There were those who saw the verdict as a just one and others who were demanding a draw at the very worst for Dunn and many who refused to be satisfied with anything but a verdict in his favor. The last mentioned group was in the great majority.

It was remarkable how many of the eye-witnesses were convinced that Dunn was the winner of the bout. One man who knows boxing said that from where he sat the scrap looked positively onesided, with Dunn winning nine of the 10 rounds. Another said he was a Rodgers booster, but felt convinced Jackie had met his master on this occasion. On the other hand, Johnny Ray and Jack Zivic, former boxers, expressed themselves as amazed at the conduct of the crowd. In their opinions, Rodgers unquestionably was the winner.

Vic Burrone

BOWL SEEKS MATCH

The great to-do will mean another fat purse for the principals. Dunn collected almost $1,600 for his end Monday night, the biggest sum he ever has received for a bout. He is willing to fight Rodgers again any time.

Plans for a fourth meeting between the pair got under way almost before the booing crowd had wended its way out of the arena into the rain Monday night, with Jules Beck, matchmaker for both the Garden and the Meyers Bowl making overtures, and yesterday Apples Myers, one of the proprietors of the Bowl, made a definite offer for Dunn's services. The big hitch in signing the pair will come in arranging their scale of pay. Rodgers will want the big end because the won the decision and Dunn because 50,000,000 Frenchmen are convinced that he should have won and was robbed.

WHY VIC BURRONE?

Meanwhile the ball is rolling for two other shows, the all-star farewell offering at Motor Square Garden next Monday night, with Buck McTiernan and Young Saylor in the main bout and Benny Schwartz boxing Frisco Grande and Young Rudy meeting Tom Malco in two other 10-rounders, while Harry (Kid) Wallace is performing in the six-round opener, and the inaugural at the Bowl Thursday night of next week with Vic Burrone, of New York, boxing Battling Battalino, the featherweight champion of the world, in the main bout.

Just why Burrone was selected as the champion's opponent when we have two good featherweights here in Rodgers and Dunn is something beyond the grasp of this writer, but he has been named for the assignment. He should fit the role well, for he has lost to a lot of other topliners in his time and his name disappeared from the record books two years ago. Burrone doesn't mean a thing to the local fans. He is just the party of the second part, a fellow who was a good bantam and featherweight, but now is a "safe" opponent for anyone to take on. He is 26 years old and has been boxing professionally for more than seven years. He is an Italian, hailing originally from Boston.

Bush Loses Weight; Ordered to Hospital

CHICAGO, May 7.—(AP)—Manager Joe McCarthy of the Chicago Cubs is never without a star regular over whom to worry. His latest is Guy (Joe) Bush, right-handed pitcher, who won 19 games and lost seven in helping the Cubs win the National League championship last season.

Bush has been sent to a hospital for observation and probably will not be available for duty for at least two weeks. He suffered an injury to his pitching arm in the home opening series. Loss of weight, however, caused McCarthy to order him away for medical attention.

Bush follows Gabby Hartnett, Rogers Hornsby and Lester Bell as destroyer of McCarthy's peace of mind.

He gets his ring de plume from the fact that he formerly was trained by One Round Hogan, the old Coast lightweight. Fred Bochert is handling his affairs here.

Midget Mike O'Dowd, of Louisville, who knocked out Phil Verde at Wheeling Monday night, wants to return here to box either Johnny Dunn or Jackie Rodgers.

Joe Ryder boxes Frankie Albano and Davy Adelman takes on Jose Routere in bouts in New York tonight. Roy Williams boxes Rosy Rosales at Dayton, O.

MEEHAN ON MEND

NEW YORK, May 7.—Chick Meehan, New York University redoubtable football coach, is resting "quite comfortably" in French Hospital today after special treatment for an ailment of the throat. Meehan's specific complaint was diagnosed as an abscess on the tonsils. While in no danger, the noted gridiron director will be confined to the institution for a period as yet indefinite.

OLD-FASHIONED CURVES STILL USED—RUTH

Tune in on Babe Ruth's talk on baseball over the Columbia Broadcasting System at 7 o'clock Friday night. Station WJAS in Pittsburgh is on this hookup.

By BABE RUTH,
Baseball's Highest Salaried Player.

NEW YORK, May 7.—I have before me a letter that came in recently from a fan in Omaha. And it gives me a new slant on fan attitude toward pitchers.

Babe Ruth

"I notice that ballplayers always speak of a curve and a fast one as though those two pitches were all that modern pitchers use. Don't they have the old outshoot and the inshoot and the drop and the outdrop that we used to have when we were kids?"

The answer is, of course they do. And one pitcher's curve is very different from another pitcher's curve, just as there is a difference in fast balls and in change of pace. Herbie Pennock, for instance, throws a sidearm curve that is like the old outshoot we used to talk about as kids. But Herbie's best pitch is an overhand curve that breaks down and away like the old-fashioned outdrop.

Bob Grove's curve breaks sideways, and doesn't break very far, but bends quickly—sort of a jump away from the hitter. Henry Johnson has a drop curve that he starts at the hitter's waist and makes it break around the knees.

All of those are the old-fashioned curves we used to talk about in our kid days. There are some trick curves, too. The screw ball, for instance, which wobbles a little as it comes up, then fades down and out. Garland Braxton of the Washington Senators, has a curve ball like that.

CHANGE OF PACE BIG AID

More important than the curve ball to a big league pitcher, however, is the change of pace. A fellow like Grover Alexander has the change of pace mastered so well that you can hit against him all afternoon and he won't pitch you two balls of the same speed. The reason a change of pace is effective is that it gets the hitter off balance. He misjudges the speed and swings either too early or too late to hit the ball squarely. Big league pitchers, you know, won't worry much about strike-outs. There whole idea is to keep the hitter off balance so he will hit the ball where it will be fielded.

There's a big difference in fast balls, too. The fast ball is the thing which as kids, we used to call an inshoot. And strange as it may seem, it isn't the speed that makes a good fast ball, but the hop which the ball has. The ordinary fast ball hops in (that's why kids call it an inshoot). And some fellows with good fast balls make that ball jump five or six inches. Walter Johnson had a fast ball that was murderous, for it combined both speed and a swell hop. Lots of times when you hear a batter say that a pitcher has lost the stuff on his fast ball he isn't referring to speed. He's referring to the hop the ball takes. All the speed in the world won't get a pitcher by unless he has that hop on his fast ball to go with it.

MANY FAST BALL PITCHERS

There are a lot of really fine fast ball pitchers in the big leagues. Dazzy Vance, of Brooklyn, Bob Grove, of the Athletics, Pat Malone, of the Cubs, Larry Benton, of the Giants—all of them are fast ball pitchers. But just because we refer to a fast ball pitcher doesn't mean that he hasn't a curve. They all have curve balls, and a lot of them have really good ones. When we speak of a fast ball pitcher we mean a pitcher whose fast one is his best pitch. It's the ball he comes in there with when he's in the whole. His curve is usually a waste ball, just to tantilize the hitter. His fast one is his best weapon—just as using the curve for a weapon makes us refer to a pitcher as a curve ball pitcher, even though he may have a corking fast ball, too.

ONE-RUN DEFEATS STILL TRAIL RED SOX

WAGNER'S CLUB LOSES SEVEN CLOSE GAMES

Associated Press.

The Boston Red Sox already have gone a long way toward taking the role of "hard luck" team of the major leagues for the current season. The exact distance they have traveled is seven games out of the total of 16 they have played.

The Red Sox, with some fine pitching and often with good playing behind it, have lost seven encounters by the margin of one run each. Two went to Washington, two to Cleveland and one each to New York, Philadelphia and Chicago. And added to this grief, there have been a few more games in which they have lost after seemingly having the victory sewed up when their opponents suddenly came to life and pounded out big rallies in the late innings.

NOSED OUT BY CHISOX

The Chicago White Sox combined the two variety of trouble yesterday to nose out a 4-to-3 victory. Boston had a three-run lead with Ed Morris doing a fine pitching job, then came the fifth inning and a Chicago rally that drove Morris from the mound and produced four tallies. Eddie Durham finished the game without giving another hit, but it was too late, for Ted Lyons kept the Red Sox from scoring again.

In an effort to prevent such defeats, Manager Heinie Wagner engineered a player trade with the New York Yankees that sent Pitcher Charles Ruffing to New York in an even exchange for Outfielder Cedric Durst. Ruffing has not won a game in his three starts this season, although he has come very close to it on two occasions, losing a pair of Boston's heart breakers. Durst is expected to replace Earl Webb, whose fielding has been rather unsteady.

The Yankees gave a good imitation of the Red Sox yesterday in losing a 7-to-6 decision to Cleveland. They lost a three-run lead in the sixth inning and then just kept pace with the runs a pair of homers produced for the Indians. Earl Averill, Cleveland center fielder, pulled the day's best fielding stunt by starting two double plays.

A'S WIN SIXTH

The Philadelphia Athletics won their sixth successive game, defeating the St. Louis Browns, 4 to 1, behind the fine pitching of Rube Walberg, to hold their tie with Cleveland for the league leadership. It was Walberg's fourth victory in as many games. Washington held second place, a half game behind, by scoring three runs off Vic Sorrell in the first inning to beat out Detroit, 5 to 4.

The abrupt end of Brooklyn's seven-game winning streak was the feature of the National League's afternoon. The Robins could not score against Fred Blake, while the Chicago Cubs did a little better against Dazzy Vance to win by a 3 to 1 score. All the runs came in the first inning, with homers by Hack Wilson and Babe Herman providing the impetus.

The New York Giants went to an extreme of long-distance hitting to take their second successive game from the Pittsburgh Pirates, 11 to 9. Four home runs in the first eight innings gave them a lead long enough to withstand Pittsburgh's six-run rally in the eighth.

A pitching battle of veterans at Cincinnati saw Harry Seibold, of the Boston Braves, get the decision over Pete Donohue by a 4 to 3 count. Philadelphia and St. Louis were kept idle by rain.

LAUBACH VICTOR

HARRISBURG, Pa., May 7.—(AP.)—Whitey Laubach, Williamsport, last night won the decision over Al Conway, Philadelphia, after eight rounds of fighting. Laubach gained the decision by a strong finish in the last three rounds. They are welterweights.

Bob Prysock, who directed the Wheeling Stogies a few years ago, also is in a comeback role, returning to Wheeling after having piloted the Hanover club in the Blue Ridge League last season . . . Eddie Dyer, former St. Louis Cardinal pitcher, remains as manager of the Cards' farm at Scottdale . . . Joe Phillips, manager of the Fairmont club the last four seasons, transfers his allegiance to Cumberland . . . Make way for a new mixed doubles team in the local tennis fraternity, boy and girl twins having been born to the Mr. and Mrs. Jack Laulers, Jack being the P. A. A. court luminary . . . When a policeman tried to put Matchmaker Jules Beck out of his own arena at Motor Square Garden Monday night because Jules didn't have a seat, it reminded one of the chronic ringsiders of the evening Charley Grimm lent his presence to a twilight baseball game in Wilkinsburg and consented to umpire at third base as a favor to the boys . . . The crowd was so large that it began to encroach on the playing field and the management told the cops to order the fans back . . . They did, pushing Grimm back with the mob, from which time he ceased to play an active part in the proceedings . . . What happened to the Pirates at Forbes Field yesterday wasn't any worse than what happened to them the day before, only there was more of it, take it from our Mr. George MacMurray.—HARRY KECK.

Oliver made its position in Section II of the City League almost impregnable yesterday by defeating Carrick, 1 to 0, in a postponed scholastic diamond encounter. The North Side team now has the championship all but clinched, and can begin looking forward to the title series for the league flag with Schenley.

In yesterday's W. P. I. A. L. frays, Scott High, of North Braddock, kept its winning streak going by beating Rankin, 7 to 0, in a Section II game. Wilkinsburg broke into the win column, downing Edgewood, 5 to 3.

In Section III, Grafton continued the torrid pace it set from the beginning by defeating Mt. Lebanon, 12 to 3.

Independent battles found Schenley moving on to Section II, downing South Hills, 5 to 0. Shady Side downed McKeesport, of the W. P. I. A. L., 6 to 3, and Kiski turned back for Ford City, 2 to 0. Holy Rosary won from University High, 9 to 2, and Vocational won its first game by taking over Langley, 8 to 6.

Shady Side Golfers Beat McKeesport

The Shady Side Academy golf team defeated the McKeesport High linksmen, 11 to 4, in a dual match yesterday afternoon. The match was played on the Shady Side links. The summary:

Addenbrook, Shadyside, defeated Larner, McKeesport, 3 to 0; Sneddon, McKeesport, defeated Watson, Shady Side, 2 to 0; Bucoup, Shady Side, defeated Gamble, McKeesport, 3 to 0; Myers, Shady Side, defeated Sparr, McKeesport, 2 to 1, and Starks, Shady Side, defeated Bennett, McKeesport, 3 to 0.

A.-K. STARS CARD COLTS

The Allegheny-Kiski Valley League All-Stars are to meet the Cumberland Colts, of the Middle Atlantic League, at the Parnassus High School field at 5:30 tomorrow evening.

JONES PACES CUP MATES

LONDON, May 7.—(INS.)—Members of the American Walker cup team, headed by Bobby Jones, engaged in a four-ball foursome practice match over the Addington course today.

The Atlanta wizard struck his stride from the first tee, turning in a 72 for the 18 holes. Voight turned in a card of 77, Willing an 85 and Moe an 89.

Bobby gave the spectators a genuine treat. He took only 12 putts for the outgoing nine, but three each on the tenth and eleventh greens. He scored an eagle three at the 500-yard twelfth.

All four members of the team were somewhat hampered by unseasonably cold weather. Jones' card:

Out ...4 5 4 4 4 4 4 4 2—35
In ....5 5 3 5 3 4 4 3 5—37—72

George Von Elm and Harrison R. Johnston played Francis Ouimet and Roland MacKenzie.

Leo Diegel played a round with Douglas Fairbanks.

Moe, Willing, Voigst and Von Elm have entered the play for the St. George's challenge cup at Sandwich Saturday. Fairbanks also has entered this event.

Jones is saving his play for the Walker Cup matches and will not play for the St. George's trophy.

unfortunately he picked out the wrong athlete. Scoops is not known as one who uses bad language in his talks to umpires.

President Heydler is an executive who always stands four-square behind his umpires and it is presumed he went over the matter thoroughly with the officials after the game instead of attending the banquet.

Carey will not be allowed to coach for the three successive afternoons as a result of the punishment. He probably will have to take the dose that should go to another.

Long's Sport Comment

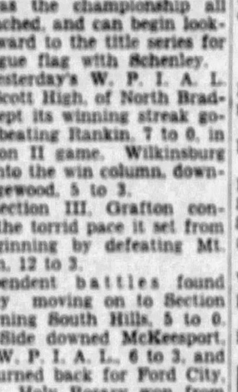
—the Giants, Braves, Buccaneers and Cardinals, in the order named. He took part in four world series, two as a McGrawite, two as a Pirate and one as a Redbird. For punching Dave Bancroft at Forbes Field on June 18, 1927, Smith drew the heaviest penalty ever imposed upon a major league player, excepting athletes who were expelled—a fine of $500 and a suspension of 30 days.



Phil Scott.

PERHAPS IT IS because some of the larger boxers, Phil Scott, for example, are more expert at getting away with a claim of foul, but at any rate the heavyweight class sees a greater number of bouts awarded on fouls than any other division in Glovedom. The average among the big fellows is about one foul in every 10 contests, according to an investigation made by Wilbur Wood. Statistics for 1929 show that there were 33 fouls in 385 heavyweight bouts; 10 fouls in 264 light-heavyweight bouts; five fouls in 236 middleweight bouts; 19 fouls in 707 welterweight bouts; 23 fouls in 776 lightweight bouts; 10 fouls in 526 featherweight bouts; two fouls in 206 bantamweight bouts, and four fouls in 134 flyweight bouts.

THOUGH OFFICIAL FIGURES covering fouls in amateur boxing competition throughout the country are not available, it may be taken for granted that the percentage of disqualifications was much smaller than that in the professional ranks. Jimmy Bronson, who refereed hundreds of soldier bouts in France, says that not once did he disqualify a boxer for hitting low.

One reason offered for the fact that there are fewer fouls in amateur than in professional competition is that the boys who box for medals punch almost exclusively for the head, whereas the professionals realize the value of body blows in weakening an opponent. But another reason is that there are fewer Scotts in the amateur division, and less inclination to resort to trickery to win or to take the easiest way out.

DUKE NETTERS MEET GENEVA TODAY

By PAUL G. SULLIVAN

Grant Siverd's hard-hitting Duke varsity combine will entertain Johnny Hecker and his Tri-State Conference champion Geneva squad in what promises to prove an exceedingly torrid and interesting tilt on the Bluff asphalt this afternoon. The tussle is slated to get under way at 2 p. m., and from that hour until 6:30 or 7:00 o'clock much fur will be propelled into the atmosphere atop the Bluff.

Little data upon the Covenanters has leaked forth from the Beaver Falls stronghold, but it is generally understood that Hecker will re-appear at number one and that the remainder of the Gold and White array will be capable and well balanced.

DUKE TEAM INTACT

Duquesne will in all likelihood line up in the same order as that prevalent for the Waynesburg joust a week ago. This means Capt. Andy Smeaton at first man; Brother Bill Smeaton, second; Regis Bullion, of Homestead, third; Jimmy Campbell, fourth, and Ray Boland, fifth. Frank Casey, likewise a Homesteader, has advanced so rapidly the past fortnight, however, that it is not beyond the bounds of possibility that he will displace one of the chosen quintet by virtue of last minute switch.

Casey is one of the most promising youngsters to break in on the Hilltop in several seasons. He is a fixture in doubles because of his almost flawless forehand and accurate service. And incidentally his mates will do well to look to their singles honors, for the frosh ace is about ripe to contest strongly for position in the select circle.

FETE WELL ATTENDED

Several scores of Western Pennsylvania net enthusiasts foregathered in festal session at the P. A. A. last evening and reeled off the first annual Pittsburgh Tennis Association smoker and buffet supper in strikingly successful fashion. Not since 1923, when Bill Tilden, Manuel Alonso and company invaded local rectangles for competitive action and were feted at the Hotel Schenley, had district racqueters broken into the social whirl, but if the enthusiastic approbation of last night's affair can be taken as a criterion, Steel City court bugs are set to resume merrymaking as well as sport action.

J. Howard Moore, College Avenue leader and long in the van of tennis ranks hereabouts, was chairman of the Winged Head soiree and, with the aid of P. T. A. President Toots Davis, Bob Schmertz and Frank Smith, staged a party that initiated the 1930 racquet campaign in high spirit of fun and good-fellowship. Schmertz, Zerry Yardum and Al Schoepf revived Tartan days with popular selections reminiscent of campus years with the old Collegiate Imps. Gregorio Scalso, conductor of the P. A. A. dinner orchestra, contributed two excellent violin solos and, with Walter Cummings and Eddie Menzenmaier, teamed as a specialty instrumental trio that evoked warm applause.

SONGS PEPPERY

Mrs. Margaret Roth, as soprano soloist, was heartily acclaimed for her rendition of "Goin' Home," beloved American folk song. She was followed on the program by Ewing Kennedy, late of "Good News," who sang and danced his way into the affections of the netmen with whom he will probably mingle as a member of the College Avenue squad this summer.

Vernon Porter, Stanton Heightsman, supervisor of Pittsburgh community singing, acted as master of ceremonies most divertingly and kept things moving without pause until the food arrived.

Bad Tooth Blamed For Rockne's Illness

SOUTH BEND, Ind., May 7.—(AP.)—The illness that kept Knute Rockne from active direction of the Notre Dame football squad during most of the 1929 football season was caused by an infected tooth.

This was revealed by Rev. Charles O'Donnell, president of the University. In an address before the Notre Dame Club of St. Joseph Valley here yesterday. Last fall it was reported the Irish football coach was suffering from an infected knee.

Rockne, who has been at a Rochester, Minn., clinic, is expected to return Saturday to watch the Notre Dame gridmen in final spring practice.

Local Athlete Honored at Amherst

AMHERST, MASS., May 7.—Howard Hoffman Groskloss, of Pittsburgh, has been voted the most outstanding athlete at Amherst College, according to the senior class statistics compiled yesterday. Groskloss has won three sets of numerals and will win his sixth major letter at the close of the present baseball season. Out of 102 votes cast, the Pittsburgh boy received 101.

ACADEMY TRIO FACES CAVALRY

By JESS CARVER

The red-shirted polosists of the One Hundred and Seventh Field Artillery will adorn the sidelines at the Hunt Armory this Saturday night, and in their stead the riders of Shady Side Academy and the Three Hundred and Eighth Cavalry will clash.

Having ended their long losing streak with a triumph over the Pittsburgh Polo Club last week, the Artillerymen are deserving of a rest. It will be their first idle Saturday night in two months.

The Cavalry and Shady Side both hold triumphs over the Artillery, the Blue and White-attired Academy trio having thrice downed the Soldiers. They'll be favorites Saturday against the Cavalry, despite the appearance in the latter's lineup of the clever and experienced Maj. Truxes.

The Tipoff

Today's collegiate program consist of two tennis matches, two track meets and a baseball game. One of the net engagements and one of the cinder meets are listed for Pittsburgh.

On the Bluff courts, as Paul Sullivan has so carefully explained in another column, the Dukes and Geneva meet in a Tri-State Conference net engagement, the outcome of which may have important bearing on the eventual settling of the title.

Out at the Stadium, Pitt's crack freshmen track and field squad takes on Kiski School. The Panther yearling tennis squad meets Williamsburg on the Stadium courts at the same time.

St. Vincent College's crack baseball team, with a victory over West Virginia added to its not inconsequential belt, meets Bellefonte Academy at Latrobe.

Wash-Jeff's varsity net squad begins a short Eastern trip by playing Dickinson at Carlisle and the California Teachers meet Shippensburg Normal in a track meet at Shippensburg.

Members of the University of Pittsburgh varsity and freshmen basketball squads, the varsity rifle team and the Uniontown Junior College basketball squad, were awarded letters by the athletic council yesterday.

TUFFY REFUSES VON PORAT GO

CHICAGO, May 7.—(AP.)—Chicago boxing fans will have to do without the match to which they have looked forward so long—a meeting of Tuffy Griffiths and Otto von Porat, the Norwegian puncher.

After Griffiths outpointed Jack Gagnon, of Boston, in 10 rounds last week, Nate Lewis, Stadium matchmaker, figured on Griffiths and Von Porat as the big building's next attraction. Von Porat was more than willing for he signed before the bout to meet the winner of the Tuffy-Gagnon affair. But Griffiths and his manager, Jack O'Keefe, have refused to consider the engagement.

Lewis has abandoned negotiations with Griffiths and is seeking someone else as an opponent for Von Porat on the stadium's next date, May 28.

Worko Stops Shell In Amateur Show

Chuck Worko's one-round technical knockout of Joe Shell was the only kayo of the evening at the amateur boxing show staged at the Pittsburgh Lyceum last night. Bouts were held in four classes.

Owing to an injured hand, Buck White, junior amateur lightweight champion, was unable to appear. The summaries:

126-pound class—Chuck Worko, Willow Club, won from Joe Shell, Lyceum; technical kayo, one round.

160-pound class—Frank Rindek, Pastorius A. C., won from Bill Welty, West Newton A. C., three rounds; Chick Mullins, Willow Club, won from Walter Scislowski, Lyceum, three rounds.

Heavyweight class—Dick Toomey, Lyceum, won from John Ochs, Willow Club, three rounds; decision.

REDS BUY HURLER

CINCINNATI, May 7.—(AP.)—John Ogden, who pitched last year for the St. Louis Browns, was purchased yesterday from that club by the Cincinnati Reds. Ogden will join the Reds in a few days. He is a former member of the Baltimore Orioles.

Tee to Green

J. G. (Jerry) Wyman, of the Highland Country Club, is playing better golf than he has in the last five years. Much is expected from Jerry's clubs when the season gets going.

Dave Broudy, orchestra conductor; Dick Powell, master of ceremonies, General Manager Enzey, of the Stanley theater, and Ben Bright, swimming impresario, were lined in that praise of the Brackenridge Heights Country Club layout after playing it recently. Tony Factor, Brackenridge's snappy little professional, gave Powell some real pointers on the game, and Dick is certain he has cut his score at least five strokes accordingly.

Lawson Blackstone, nephew of Col. Franklin Blackstone, of P. A. A. golfing fame, will be one of Penn State's representatives in the National Intercollegiate championship at Oakmont this June.

S. Walter Phillips and Joe Platt, of Schenley, are figuring on making the trip to Jacksonville, Fla., as members of Pittsburgh's public links team this year—so's Joe Curto.

J. H. Truesdale, of the Credit Bureau, is an enthusiastic golfer. As soon as he brings his clubs to town, watch him!

Brackenridge Heights is building a new third hole and lengthening the fourth, by the way. Under the direction of the good A. C. Tucker, chairman of the green committee.

PUBLIC LINKERS TITLE TOURNEY DATES SET

By VERN SWARTSFAGER.

The annual tourney for the city golf championship at the Schenley Park municipal links will be played over the public layout on Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, August 25 to 28, according to John Jay Burke, city office manager for the Allegheny County Parks, and former U. S. G. A. public links executive committeeman, who again will conduct the tournament, as he has for many years.

Al McBride, Schenley's affable professional, will assist in the work, as usual, when the field starts qualifying for the right to dethrone Carl F. Kauffmann, who is also National public links champion. Indications are that the field will be far more representative than it has ever been in the past, according to Burke and McBride, because the Schenley course is in better condition than it has been during its life as a public course.

Although the dates for the women's championship have yet to be set, Andy Petrolia, Schenley's efficient caddie-master, stepped up with the date for the annual caddie championship at the municipal golfing grounds, and will stage his big affair on Monday, August 18.

LAMBERT FLYNN,
Conneaut Lake Golf Club.

Lambert Flynn

Lambert Flynn, pro at the Conneaut Lake Golf Club, is one of the finest golfers, as an instructor as well as a competitor, in Western Pennsylvania. Since he was 16 years of age, Flynn has been making his way as a golfer, having started as a caddie prior to that time at the Stanton Heights Golf Club. He went to work in the shop of the late Jack Dingwall, of whom Flynn always has great praise. The next season he advanced himself by becoming professional at Conneaut Lake, his present berth, staying there for only a year to return as assistant to Dingwall at Stanton Heights. He played that role for three years, wintering at a club in Pensacola, Fla. Lambert then was made professional at Stanton Heights, due to the sickness and later the death of Dingwall, being with Stanton Heights as pro for six years. During that period, for two years he was coach of the University of Pittsburgh golf team, later abandoned. Lambert believes the Conneaut Lake layout will be better than ever this season. The course was opened on April 26.—VERN SWARTSFAGER.

CRIMSON, TIGER PEACE SOUGHT

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., May 7.—(INS.)—Harvard and Princeton may resume friendly athletic relations before another year rolls around, according to indications here today. Athletically, Harvard and Princeton parted company in 1926, following a disagreement over athletic policy.

Forced by undergraduate demands, the Harvard Crimson and the Princeton Princetonian have launched a campaign seeking to amend the athletic rupture between the two great universities.

We Now Present

By DARRELL V. MARTIN,
Radio Editor.

TWO GLEE CLUBS comprising 150 voices, a band of 100 pieces and the sixth largest organ in the world will be heard by WJAS listeners at 10 o'clock tonight in an elaborate program from Irvine Auditorium at Philadelphia. The glee clubs and the band will be from the University of Pennsylvania.

The band will play Dvorak's "Gypsy Melody." Listeners will enjoy the deep resonant tone of the Cyrus H. K. Curtis organ, which was built for the Philadelphia Sesquicentennial Exposition. Morrison C. Boyd, organist, will play Bach's "Fugue in C Minor."

Elinor Smith

Elinor Smith, the intrepid aviatrix, will tell Grantland Rice of her adventures during the Coca Cola program on WCAE at 10:30.

Music lovers always delight in hearing the Barcarolle from "Tales of Hoffman," which will be sung for us tonight by Olive Palmer and Elizabeth Lennox in the Palmolive Hour, WCAE at 9:30.

KDKA will introduce the first of a series of Grogan Organ Recitals at 9:30. W. K. Steiner will be at the console.

M. H. Aylesworth, president of the National Broadcasting Company and one of the biggest figures in radio, answers readily to any newspaperman who calls him "Deke."

KEY TO KDKA

His telephone bill was so large that Dwight A. Myer, plant manager of KDKA, recently installed a Morse telegraph system between the station and his residence in Homewood. With a key at his bedside, Mr. Myer reasons, he can answer simple questions without losing too much sleep.

Percy Boyd, press relations at KDKA, is another efficiency man.

About 3 o'clock one morning the telephone jingled at his bedside. Spoke a voice:

"Say, where is KFI in Los Angeles. I just heard them and wanna send a telegram."

That Wilkinsburg bus driver who radios while he rides is never satisfied till he gets KNX.

Gertrude Mohr at WCAE is one of radio's most adept at distinguishing tunes. She can name the composition and the composer after hearing the first few bars.

Will H. Hays, president of the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America, is to speak over WABC at 11:15 tonight from Washington, D. C.

TODAY'S TID BIT:

While tuning for G5SW at Chelmsford, England, Alex B. Allen, police inspector of the R. N. Dockyard in Hongkong, China, picked up the signals of W8XK, the KayDee short wave transmitter.

EVENING SUN-TELEGRAPH MARKETS

Stocks Close Heavy — Local Market Steady

STOCKS BREAK IN LATE WAVE OF SELLING

Steel Falls Below 169, Carrying Many Popular Shares to Day's Lows

NEW YORK, May 7.—(AP.)—Price trends shifted frequently in today's stock market as trading became more orderly and further readjustments after its recent upheaval were completed.

After moderate extension of yesterday's gains at the opening, the market was subjected to heavy profit taking, encouraging moderate resumption of short selling during the morning, but prices stiffened after the realizing was absorbed, and speculation for the rise was resumed with vigor around midday, only to run into further profit taking and short selling as trading progressed.

CREDIT CHEAPER

The rally was aided by further cheapening of credit, reflecting last week's reduction of the New York rediscount rate. There had been some hesitancy about posting a 3 per cent renewal rate for call loans, as it was feared this might prompt the withdrawal of funds to the interior where reserve rediscount rates are higher. Funds were so abundant today, however, that the 3½ per cent renewal rate could not be justified, and after renewals at 3, funds were abundantly offered in the outside market at 2½.

The weekly steel trade reviews reported that signs of a stiffening of steel prices were still lacking, and in consequence steel shares were subjected to flurries of liquidation. Iron Age's weekly survey said that buying remains exceedingly cautious and production shows further slight curtailment, with ingot output for the country averaging 77 per cent, as compared with 78 per cent last week.

FREIGHT LOADINGS

Freight car loadings, as reported for the week ended April 26, showed an increase of 14,293 cars from the previous week, but were 144,711 under the same week of 1929, a 1 lowest for the period in six years.

Speculative sentiment appeared to have improved considerably with the major market reaction apparently completed. Brokers, however, stressed the possibility of a substantial secondary ..action developing during the next few days. Reports to banking institution; generally are said to indicate that May earnings will show some improvement over April.

During the midday rally, such shares as Eastman Kodak, Westinghouse Electric, Worthington Pump, Chesapeake and Ohio, Loews, American Water Works, American and United Aircraft sold up 3 to 8 points, but these gains generally failed to hold.

STEELS DECLINE

In the steel shares, United States Steel, Colorado Fuel, Vanadium, A. M. Byers and Crucible lost 2 to 4 points, the last named touching a new low for the year. American Tobacco B and J. I. Case, spectacularly buoyant yesterday, lost about 6 and 8 points during the morning. Mack Truck and Canada Dry dropped to new low levels, reflecting unfavorable earnings statements for the first quarter.

Electric Auto Lite sagged a few points, despite a favorable review of the company's position by its president.

A further break in U. S. Steel to below 169 inspired larg selling orders in the late trading and many popular shares were depressed to the day's lowest figures. Application for a receivership for celotex was followed by a drop in the stock to 20, a loss of 23 points. Manhattan Electric dropped 33 points. Aggressive buying in the amusement issues, yparticularl Loew's and Shubert, ceased in the final hour when Radio broke more than 3 points from the best price. J. I. Case lost 11 points and an eight-point rise in Eastman Kodak was cancelled. The close was heavy. Sales approximated 4,200,000 shares.

Lone Star Leasing Company Formed

The Lone Star Leasing Company has been incorporated in Delaware with a capital of $1,000,000. It is believed to have some connection with Lone Star Gas Corporation.

GRAIN MARKET

CHICAGO, May 7.—With general rains reported throughout winter and spring wheat sections wheat prices here underwent setbacks today after upturns at the start. The transient initial advance was ascribed to higher quotations at Liverpool. Opening unchanged to 1⅛c up, Chicago wheat afterward receded to well below yesterday's finish, except for May, which continued to hold relatively tight. Corn, oats and provisions were firm, with corn starting ⅛@⅜c up, and subsequently keeping near to the initial range.

Effects of higher quotations at Liverpool faded quickly today in the wheat market here, word being received that millers abroad had withdrawn as purchasers for at least the time being. Besides, overnight export demand for North American wheat was described as extremely slow. Notwithstanding that a little wheat was taken for Europe both from Canada and the United States, Meanwhile, crop authorities said that enough moisture has now fallen on practically the entire domestic spring acreage to insure favorable growth for several weeks.

Sterling exchange at the lowest point since last October tended likewise to handicap friends of higher prices for wheat, moreover, the Liverpool wheat market today closed with gains practically wiped out. On the other hand, India's wheat production was reported as likely to be less than recent official estimates, and European stocks of native wheat are diminishing.

The following quotations on the Chicago Board of Trade are reported to A. E. Masten & Co.:

NEW YORK CURB MARKET

NEW YORK, May 7.—The Curb market settled into routine trading today, moving slightly higher from Tuesday's closing prices, but showing little disposition to advance much beyond those figures. Traders were cautious, and with short covering largely out of the way, the market was apparently being allowed to take a breathing spell.

Following is the list of transactions on the New York Curb Exchange, giving all stocks and bonds traded in (00 omitted in sales column of stock list; 000 omitted in sales column of bond list):

Business Men Closely Follow Wall St. Swing

—By B. C. FORBES—

THIS IS BEING written many miles from Wall street. At a distance the events there do not loom so momentous as they do to those who hover over tickers in stock exchange brokers' offices eagerly scanning every fractional fluctuation in every stock.

Yet wherever I go I find that responsible business men are following developments in Wall street with more interest and concern than in the past. Men feel that their own well-being these days is influenced by happenings in the financial world, whether they themselves own stocks or not.

BRIEFLY, MEN who have been struggling to get their business back on its feet are sort of resentful over the latest unpleasant excitement in the stock market. Even those who admit they lost heavily in the October-November crash admit that they deserved all that overtook them. They realize that the boom was carried to wholly unwarranted heights and that its collapse was inevitable.

But this time they feel differently. This time they don't blame the public.

This time they blame "Wall Street." Here is a typical comment from an Eastern manufacturer:

"We were beginning to get things going again. We had had six pretty lean months. But we were starting to see daylight again. People were disposed to take a less distrustful view of the general outlook. Sentiment was picking up even faster than orders.

"But now I'm afraid the blankety stock market will knock things on the head. You must have a fine lot of birds in Wall Street—gangs that don't give a d—— what happens to the country or to anybody except themselves. They should be shot. The country would be well rid of them. They are viciously tearing down just when building up was very badly needed—building up of industry and business and real estate and employment and confidence and everything else.

"How much trouble this latest devilment in Wall Street will cause I don't know, but it may be pretty bad. It is time Wall Street took a tumble to itself and not make itself such a confounded nuisance to the people of this country."

My humble opinion is that the latest upheaval in the stock market has been unnecessarily violent, that there was no need for such panicky jettisoning of stocks at tumbling prices. True the rise had been carried farther than the mild betterment in general conditions warranted, even after allowing for the low rates ruling for money. But readjustments could have been effected in a sane, orderly way.

What has happened has incited two questions in some minds I have been asked several times.

"Are the big bankers knocking the stock market to make it easier for them to sell bonds, especially the German war bonds they are getting ready to hand to the public?"

The second question often asked is

"Is Wall Street trying its darndest to queer Hoover and to make it hot for the administration in the coming November elections?"

MY ANSWER has been first that anxious though certain powerful international bankers are to float German preparation bonds here, I don't believe they would deliberately foster a panicky collapse in stocks because they would so unsettle sentiment as to defeat their objective.

To the second question, when addressed to me at a gathering of business men, I replied:

"Though financiers may not all have any extraordinary love for President Hoover, they do have more love for their own pockets than they have hate for him—and so they act accordingly."

The more around I cover and the more people I meet the clearer it becomes that sentiment towards Washington is not over friendly. Bankers and business men regard the spending of hundreds of millions of public money in an attempt to peg farm prices as totally unsound and fraught with disastrous ultimate consequences. The unconscionable silly-dailying over tariff changes with the politicians voting for one rate one day and voting exactly the opposite way the next day, has sorely tried the patience of many business men affected thereby. And of course there is the inevitable cleavage of opinion over Hoover's foreign policies, over his prohibition activities, etc., etc.

There is a rather widespread notion that the November results may not be to the liking of the administration or the more conservative section of the business world.

HAPPILY, THERE is a strong spirit of determination among business men to push forward and re-establish confidence and prosperity. My guess is that they will succeed.

STEEL MARKET INDEFINITE

NEW YORK, May 7.—The Iron Age in its weekly summary of the iron and steel trade tomorrow will say:

Iron and steel prices have undergone additional readjustments, buying remains exceedingly cautious and production shows further slight curtailment, with ingot output for the country averaging 77 per cent. compared with 78 per cent. last week.

In a spotty market, with expanding demand for certain products offset by diminishing requirements in other lines, it is difficult to discern a definite trend. Although steel plants have been producing considerably less than in 1929, their output compares favorably with that of previous years. Ingot production in April, at 159,558 tons a day, fell 3.4 per cent. below the March rate, but was the largest for any fourth month save in 1929 and 1928. Output in the first third of this year has been exceeded only by the corresponding periods of 1929, 1928 and 1926.

PRICE INDEX LOWER

Pig iron production makes a less favorable showing. According to blast furnace returns to The Iron Age, April output was 3,181,868 tons, or 106,062 tons a day, compared with 3,246,171 tons, or 104,715 tons a day, in March, a gain in daily rate of 1,347 tons, or 1.31 per cent. However, the April rate was the smallest for any fourth month since 1922. Output for the first third of the year at 12,094,423 tons has been exceeded in 10 of the last 14 years.

Price weakness, although still evident, is not a new development in iron and steel, since the trend of the market has been downward since the middle of 1929. As measured by The Iron Age Composite for finished steel, prices are $3.68 a net ton lower than 12 months ago and the recession in individual products has been even more severe in the case of wire nails amounting to $10 a ton.

TURN EXPECTED

The protracted character of the decline in prices has led some of the more hopeful spirits in the industry to look for a turn, although signs of such a change are still lacking.

Automotive demand for steel has again expanded slightly, although the improvement is accounted for entirely by the manufacturers of light cars. April motor car output is reported to have exceeded 500,000, compared with 422,000 in the previous month and 621,000 cars in April 1929.

Railroad demand has held up better than was anticipated. The outlook for steel exports is not as gloomy as current generalizations regarding world-wide depression would lead one to expect. Steel producers report that prospects are encouraging in a number of countries in the Western Hemisphere, as well as elsewhere.

Massachusetts Gas Bond Issue Offered

The Union Trust Company of Pittsburgh, Kidder, Peabody & Co. and Mellon National Bank, Pittsburgh, are offering $25,000,000 Massachusetts Gas Company's sinking fund 5 per cent debenture gold bonds at 98 and accrued interest, to yield 5.14 per cent. The bonds are subject to redemption at the option of the company at 103 and accrued interest.

The syndicate announced this afternoon that books were closed and the issue all sold.

Stocks of Lead Gained in March

NEW YORK, May 7.—The American bureau of metal statistics reports that stocks of lead in the United States and Mexico April 1 totaled 144,414 tons, compared with 140,845 March 1 and 158,149 on April 1, 1929. American lead refinery production was 65,152 short tons in March, against 60,351 in February and 59,318 in January.

Mellon Bank Gets Canonsburg Bonds

The Mellon National Bank was the successful bidder for $50,000 school district of Canonsburg, Pa., 4½ per cent bonds, and $148,000 City of Bradford, Pa., 4½ per cent bonds. The bank is offering the bonds at prices to yield 4.125 per cent.

Bank Acceptance Rates Cut Again

NEW YORK, May 7.—With call money renewing at 3 per cent for the first time since March 21, leading dealers reduced bid and asked rates on bankers' acceptances an eighth of 1 per cent today. The new rates are 2⅝ and 2¾, for 30 to 120 days, 2⅞ and 2¾ for 150 and 180 days.

TRADE'S TREND HELD IN RIGHT DIRECTION

Developments as Good as Could Be Expected, Says Secretary of Commerce

By MERRYLE STANLEY RUKEYSER.

NEW YORK, May 7.—Impatience is an American characteristic, and in recent days the business public has chafed under the lag between prophecy of returning prosperity and fulfillment.

Robert P. Lamont, secretary of Commerce, and formerly president of the American Steel Foundries Company, has consistently maintained since the panic that the situation was well in hand. He now says that current developments are as good as anyone had reason to expect.

Chatting in his office in Washington, the Secretary of Commerce told me:

"President Hoover's stabilization program checked the decline and thus radically reduced the distance that business has to go to recover to normal levels of prosperity. The trend is already in the right direction. By midsummer, business is likely to be distinctly better. In April the pickup in some directions, however, has been somewhat less than seasonal.

"Residential building is half normal, and automobile production has of course been running substantially below last year's feverish rate. The construction trades will be stimulated by cheap money, but American business history shows that there is a six months' lag between a significant change in interest rates and a spurt in building.

"The main impulse for the recovery will come from the ultimate effects of cheap money. Good crops will also help sentiment."

PROGRAM RUSHED

Referring further to the Hoover business program, Mr. Lamont added:

"Public works have been abnormally active since the beginning of the year, and will continue so. The government is rushing the new building program which Congress has authorized. Wherever sites have been acquired, work will soon start, but in other instances there will be delay due to condemnation proceedings. I expect heavy road building through the summer."

In commenting on the ratio between accomplishment and expectation in regard to the current state of trade, Mr. Lamont insisted:

"Business is as good as we had reason to expect. Corporation executives who were present at the White House conference in November helped the situation by pledging to keep up construction work and improvement, and, though perhaps they have not kept all their pledges, they have done far more than otherwise would have been done."

Just after the panic, President Hoover, in a public statement, emphasized the factors that would help recovery. Among them he mentioned stimulus of exports, but exports have in fact been declining. Mr. Lamont explained:

"Exports and imports are off in about the same proportions, due to the bad crops in some countries and the worldwide decline in commodity prices, which has reduced purchasing power. If it had not been for the delayed cut in copper prices, I think commodity price stabilization would have already been achieved. I now believe that the turn is near."

AMUSEMENTS PROSPEROUS

In this year of recession and correction, the amusement industry, thanks to the popularity of the talkies, is experiencing a new peak of prosperity. Adolph Zukor, president of Paramount and pioneer leader of the industry, said:

"Super-optimist that I have always been, even I am amazed by the progress which has been attained in creating order out of chaos. Ever since 1912, when my first Famous Players Company was on the verge of bankruptcy three times in a single year—twice on pay day and once when our studio burned down—we have faced innumerable difficulties and problems, but I feel they have only been those which are common to any new industry of our size and expansion. I regard whatever weakness as may exist today as merely the temporary growing pains of a youthful but healthy young giant whose great future stature is assured."

Steel Ingot Output At 81.25% in April

NEW YORK, May 7.—Steel ingot production in April, according to the American Iron and Steel Institute, amounted to 4,243,312 tons, an average daily output of 159,358 tons, the plants operating at 81.25 per cent of rated capacity. In April last year the output was 4,938,025 tons, a daily average of 189,924, during which time the plants were operated at 96.84 per cent of capacity.

Pennsy Aids Wabash in Merger Plans

By GEORGE H. SNYDER.

THE COMPLETION OF A NEW railroad trunk line from the Great Lakes through Pittsburgh to the Atlantic Seaboard at Baltimore was brought a step closer with the filing with the Interstate Commerce Commission on Monday of the Wabash application for permission to acquire the Wheeling and Lake Erie.

This road, along with the Pittsburgh and West Virginia and the Western Maryland, has been allotted to the Wabash system under the Interstate Commerce Commission merger plan. These three lines would form the trunk line which F. E. Taplin, chairman of the board of the Pittsburgh and West Virginia, has been attempting to bring together for many years.

Pennsy Aids Wabash

THE PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD has been actively pushing the completion of the Wabash system since the publication of the consolidation plan by the commission. The Pennsylvania holds a controlling interest in the stock of the Wabash. It appears to have been giving the subsidiary line every type of assistance in helping it to acquire the roads allotted to it. Incidently, in doing this, the Pennsylvania has been interfering with the plans of the Van Sweringen interests, its principal rivals in the consolidation struggle.

The first evidence of Pennsylvania aid in the organization of the Wabash system came to light a short time ago with the announcement of the acquisition of a 73 per cent interest in the Pittsburgh and West Virginia by the Pennroad Corporation.

To Seek Western Maryland

IF THE APPLICATION for acquisition of the Wheeling and Lake Erie is approved, two of the roads necessary for the Great Lakes to Seaboard line will be in the bag. The next move probably will be an attempt to get the Western Maryland, which is now under the domination of the Baltimore and Ohio.

The transfer of the Pittsburgh and West Virginia from the control of the Pennroad Corporation to the Wabash could be easily arranged due to the close relationships of the organizations.

The Pittsburgh and West Virginia and the Nickel Plate also have applications to acquire the Wheeling and Lake Erie before the commission. Hearings will be held on June 9.

Attitude of Commission

THE APPLICATION OF the Pittsburgh and West Virginia was filed before the Pennsylvania became a factor in its control. It is probable that the commission would approve the sale of the Wheeling and Lake Erie to either the Pittsburgh and West Virginia or the Wabash, since both are scheduled to enter the same system. The Wabash application was probably made due to the fact that the road would be better able to finance the transaction that the small Pittsburgh and West Virginia.

It is generally believed that the application of the Nickel Plate, a Van Sweringen road, will not be regarded favorably by the commission since such a merger would not conform to the general consolidation scheme.

Nickel Plate Owns Stock

THE WABASH OFFERS to pay $29,247,034 plus carrying charges and less accrued dividends for a 54 per cent interest in the Wheeling and Lake Erie. This stock is owned by the Nickel Plate but it is being held by E. H. Fancher, of Cleveland, as trustee. The stock was placed in the trustee's hands as a result of objections by the Interstate Commerce Commission to the dominance of the Nickel Plate. The price is the amount originally paid for the stock by the Nickel Plate, the New York Central and the Baltimore and Ohio which jointly controlled the road before all the holdings were transferred to the Nickel Plate.

RADIO CAPITAL CHANGE O. K.'D

NEW YORK, May 7.—(AP.)—The proposed increase of the common capital stock and the preferred "B" stock of the Radio Corporation of America to complete the company's reorganization plan was approved at a special stockholders' meeting.

As proposed by the directors a few weeks ago, the common capital stock was increased from 7,500,000 to 15,000,000 shares, and the preferred "B" from 823,665 to 1,500,000 shares. Of the new common stock, 6,580,375 shares will be issued to the General Electric Company and the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company, 60 per cent for plant, equipment, rights and other considerations. Included are the interests of General Electric and Westinghouse in the National Broadcasting Company, R. C. A. Photophone, Inc., R. C. A. Victor Corporation, R. C. A. Radiotron Company, Inc., and other radio activities.

ALDRICH QUITS TRUST FIRM

NEW YORK, May 7.—Withrop W. Aldrich, president of the Equitable Trust Company, resigned as a director of the Bankers Trust Company.

His action followed the sale of the 170,000 shares of Bankers Trust held by the Rockefeller interests to Bonbright & Co., Mr. Aldrich having been the Rockefeller representative on the directorate.

Upon physical merger of the Equitable Trust Company with the Chase National Bank, Mr. Aldrich will become president of the merged institution, which will be the largest bank in the world.

Ford Registrations For First Quarter

DETROIT, May 7.—Complete figures on registration of automobiles in the United States in first quarter of current year show that 40.8 per cent of new passenger cars and 45 per cent of new commercial units registered were Fords.

There were 690,643 new passenger cars of all makes registered and of these 282,154 were Fords. This is an increase of 15,833 from the number of Fords registered compared with corresponding period last year.

Total registration of new commercial units was 104,315. Of these 46,995 were Fords, compared with 44,563 in first quarter of last year.

Injunction Against Universal Wireless

WILMINGTON, May 7.—United States District Court granted Radio Corporation of America and American Telegraph and Telephone a permanent injunction enjoining Uiversal Wireless Communications, Inc., from infringing upon two patents of R. C. A. Some time ago federal radio commission granted Universal permission to construct and operate wireless stations in various parts of country. R. C. A. and A. T. & T. claimed that Universal had infringed two radio patents in following out its plans.

Class 1 Railroads' Rate of Return Off

WASHINGTON, May 7.—Class 1 railroads in the first quarter of 1930 had net railway operating income of $176,253,624, or at annual rate of return of 3.56 per cent on property investment. This compares with $259,323,783, or a 5.35 per cent return in the 1929 quarter, according to the Bureau of Railway Economics.

Play the New Game Every Day!

Copyright 1930 by Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph

Here Are the Rules for "Piratepuz"

(1) Every day until further notice the daily Sun-Telegraph will print a frame, or diagram in squares, each containing the letters that will, when placed in order, spell the name of a Pittsburgh Pirate baseball player.

(2) In this frame it may be possible that abbreviations and nicknames will be employed. The readers of the Sun-Telegraph in solving the daily PIRATEPUZ are to endeavor to submit as their answer the full, complete and correct name of the player, devoid of nickname or abbreviation, other than that of the middle initial, if there happens to be one.

(3) This is a contest that will test the skill of the readers of the Sun-Telegraph as to their knowledge of the names of the players of the Pittsburgh club.

(4) There will be a new PIRATEPUZ every day and daily prizes for the correct and most nearly correct answers will be awarded as follows:
1st Prize ..... $10.00 in Cash
2nd Prize ..... 5.00 in Cash
3rd Prize ..... 2.50 in Cash
Next 25 Prizes—Each a Grandstand General Admission ticket to the Pirates' game, good any day during the season.

(5) Neatness in the preparation of answers submitted will be a factor in the judging. In case of ties, the contestants so tied will be given an equal award. The decision of the judges will be final in all cases.
Contestants agree that entries become the property of the Sun-Telegraph. The contest is open to everyone—men and women, boys and girls—no matter where they live, with the exception of employees of the Sun-Telegraph. You do not have to purchase a copy of the Sun-Telegraph to enter this contest. The files of this newspaper are available at the Sun-Telegraph Branch Office, Fifth Avenue and Market Street, where any person can copy or trace the puzzle.

(6) All answers must be addressed to the PIRATEPUZ Editor, Sun-Telegraph, Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, and must be postmarked not later than midnight of the day following the publication of the PIRATEPUZ for which the answer is submitted. Contestants are requested to place the number of the puzzle on the line outside left-hand corner of the envelope.

(7) Winners will be announced within one week after the publication of the PIRATEPUZ.

DAILY TRUE STORY

Ask From Arabella

Arabella said: "I came way out here to take a position with the Wellingtons and something has happened and they have separated and closed the place and I lost my purse on the bus and—"

The pretty girl hanging out dainty little underthings, nodded to Arabella.

"I'll get my purse in a moment, if you will wait, and give you the fare back to the city—"

"No, Miss Ingram, I wouldn't let you give me a penny. I saw you doing this and I guessed your maid was off for the day and I thought I might do a day's work and earn the money."

"Why, who are you and how do you happen to know me?"

"I am Arabella Strout, lady's maid, and I know you because I've seen your pictures so many times, when you were at Palm Beach or boarding a ship for Europe or taking part in some of those society pageants."

"Well, Arabella, if you are looking for a position, here is one for you, and I thank whatever gods there be for your coming. My maid got married suddenly and left without notice."

"Fool! Awful fool—any girl is to get married. I don't care whether she's a servant like me or a society lady like you. I'll go in and put on the right clothes and finish this work for you."

Miss Isobel Ingram took Arabella up to her maid's room.

"My folks are abroad," she explained, "and my aunt had to go into the city. I've only the gardener and housekeeper here and I couldn't very well ask them to do this and the laundress hasn't got out."

Arabella proved to be most efficient.

Secret Visit

She did her work well and seemingly effaced herself when not wanted, as any well trained lady's maid should do, but Arabella Strout generally managed to know about all that was going on in any household where she worked.

Take, for example, the little scene when Mrs. Ingram, Isobel's aunt, returned and learned about Arabella.

"You should not have engaged the girl, Isobel," said the aunt, "until I first saw her, talked with her and gave approval. One cannot be too careful."

"Even if you think me incapable of selecting a husband, I feel that I am equal to selecting my personal maid, Aunt Grace," Isobel had replied.

Arabella heard every word of this.

"So that's the way the wind blows—poor kid," Arabella muttered. She took a greater liking than ever to Isobel after that.

Aunt Grace had been driven out to some place a few weeks later and she had no more than gone before. Arabella's sharp eyes and keen ears learned. Isobel rushed to the telephone, gave a number and said, "She'll be gone several hours, dear—all right, hurry."

Arabella sensed from the tone of Isobel's voice that she had been talking to a male "dear." She was right. A fine appearing young man drove up in a small but classy car, and Isobel went out to the drive to greet him.

The young man came up on the sun porch with Isobel. Arabella appeared in the room adjoining in case she was needed. She was. Isobel flitted in.

"Can you get some ice and things and make highballs without housekeeper being too noisy," she whispered.

When she came to the sunroom door she could just see the tops of their heads over the back of the stick reed settee. She tinkled the ice in the glass. The two heads that had been touching now separated to a proper distance. Arabella placed the tray, gave Isobel an inquiring look, received a murmured "That's all, thank you, Arabella," and departed.

Wasting Time

Arabella wondered who he was. She guessed that the aunt did not approve and that Isobel had sent for him while the aunt was away. She learned quite a lot that evening. The young man left before Aunt Grace returned, but Aunt Grace went to Arabella.

"Did Miss Ingram have visitors this afternoon?" she asked.

"I didn't notice, ma'am."

Aunt Grace stared coldly and her eyes called Arabella a liar.

In the upper hall that evening Aunt Grace and Isobel had some words.

"I'm not denying that Bert Stanhope was here," Isobel said, calmly.

"But you didn't tell me!" Aunt Grace spoke as though scolding a naughty girl.

"Bert is all right."

"In his place, which isn't here, Count Chandles is coming on from his American cousin's place in Maryland. Isobel, and you remember that time you met him—how delightful he was? Your father and mother quite approved when I explained about him—"

"I know, Auntie; I know all about it."

"Then don't waste your time with that Stanhope boy. We aren't sure that he is from the right Stanhope family, first, and again, your mother and I know that it will be the most brilliant match of the season—you and the count."

There was more talk Arabella heard it all.

That night as she picked up a newspaper Isobel had dropped on the floor, having finished reading it in bed, Arabella glanced at the paper.

"The Garvin wedding—he's after her money and she's a social climber, both are fools—no girl servant like me or society girl like you ought to marry unless it's to some man they're just crazy to marry."

Isobel sat up in bed.

"What do you know, Arabella? Have you heard things?"

"I don't know much, Miss Isobel, except my own silly experience. I married a good looking man because he was a butler in a family where I worked. It didn't last long."

"You did it of your own volition, Arabella, so it was your own fault, but if you had been forced into it—"

Isobel hesitated.

"It would take the army and navy to force me into another marriage, unless I wanted the man, then even the army and navy couldn't stop me," Arabella declared.

Isobel Cries

Isobel laughed, but it was a rather sad little laugh.

Bert Stanhope called another day when Aunty was gone.

Arabella could only catch a word now and then but she saw much, such as Isobel in tears and Mr. Stanhope very grim and doing much pleading.

Such bits from Isobel as "—folks never forgive me" and "—got to do what they expect of me" reached Arabella's ears.

Others besides Arabella had sharp eyes. The housekeeper told Aunt Grace. There was evidently a terrific quarrel in Isobel's room, but Aarabella in her own quarters with the door closed couldn't learn much.

Aunt Grace went to Arabella the next day.

"I am the one who does the employing while my brother and his wife are away, young lady," she said.

Arabella made a neat little bow.

"If you do not tell me when Miss Ingram has callers the next time, I shall secure another maid for her."

"Yes, ma'am. I'll remember. I don't want to lose my position." Arabella said, meekly. Aunt Grace felt that she was extremely clever about it.

The time approached for the arrival of Count Chandles. A long cablegram of approval came from Isobel's mother. There had been an understanding between them before she left. Isobel, the cablegram said, might have Aunt Grace announce the engagement and there would be a most notable autumn wedding when Isobel's parents returned.

Arabella fished the crumpled cablegram out of Isobel's trash basket.

The night before the Count was to arrive Arabella was arranging some of Isobel's wardrobe.

"I suppose, Miss Isobel, that you will live in Europe?" Arabella asked, by way of trying to start talk about it.

"It doesn't matter," Isobel answered.

Count Arrives

The Count arrived next day.

Arabella saw him from an upper window. She grabbed the window sill and started as he leaped out of the car and kissed Isobel's hand. Nevins, the Ingram butler, had arrived some weeks before and nearly all of the household servants for the summer were on hand by this time. Arabella sneaked down and tapped on the door to the Count's room. When he opened the door she stepped in. She talked fast and forcibly in a low voice and ended with: "Take your choice."

Arabella went downstairs and confronted Isobel and her aunt.

"Count Chandless my eye, begging your pardon," Arabella said. "That man is Noel Strout, the husband I had who run out on me. I divorced him since, so he's single. But if he's a Count I'm a goldfish!"

"Liar!" Aunt Grace lost her poise.

"Ask him, ma'am."

Aunt Grace rushed to ask him and met him leaving, the butler carrying his bag.

"I deny nothing," Count Chandless said to her, and hurried out.

Aunt Grace had a nervous attack and took to bed. Bert Stanhope was being entertained downstairs. Bert wanted to see Arabella and get her story. Arabella smiled complacently at Bert and Isobel.

"My husband? I should say not—he's the fake butler who robbed the Wentworths of a fortune in jewels. I told him he could take his choice, either pretend that he was my husband or have me turn him over to the police for the robbery," Arabella explained.

"But how——"

"I worked there at the time, that was near five years ago. I guess he went to Europe and studied up this 'Count' gag to come back and marry some rich girl. I hope you won't think I'm too forward, Miss Isobel, but why don't you two step out and get married before your people spring some other man on you?"

"Arabella," said Bert Stanhope, "your advice and your aid is priceless. We shall do that very thing and you shall have a position with us for life."

Mysteries

By Tuthill

YES SIR, IT'S SURE A BIG MYSTERY. THE IDEA OF ANYBODY KNOCKING ON OUR DOOR IN A TRICK WAY AT MIDNIGHT AND HANDING YOU A BAG WITH MONEY IN IT.
I JUST STOOD THERE POP-EYED, THUNDERSTRUCK. THEN AFTER TALKING SOME GIBBERISH HE SCURRIED DOWNSTAIRS.
WHAT SIMPLY STUNNED ME IS THAT THE MAN ACTED AS THOUGH I UNDERSTOOD EVERY WORD HE SAID, AND THAT HANDING ME THE BAG WITH THE MONEY WAS AN EVERYDAY AFFAIR. I'M STILL NERVOUS. LOOK HOW MY HAND SHAKES. LOOK!
I SEE! SUCH CRUST! I WISH I GOT A GOOD LOOK AT THAT BABY.
WHEN HE PASSED ME IN THE HALL I WAS STILL TRYING TO REMEMBER WHO STOOD RIGHT BEHIND ME DURING THAT ELECTION WHEN SOMEONE TURNED OUT THE LIGHTS IN THE LODGE HALL.
MARK MY WORD THIS AFFAIR HAS SOMETHING TO DO WITH THE FOLKS WHO FORMERLY LIVED IN THIS FLAT.
DIDN'T I SAY, IN EFFECT, WHEN I FOUND THE DAGGER THAT SOMETHING LIKE THIS WOULD HAPPEN? YOU LAUGHED WHEN I DREAMED ABOUT SNAKES THE VERY FIRST NIGHT IN THIS HOUSE, DIDN'T YOU? AND YOU ADMIT YOU LOOKED AT ME AS MUCH AS TO SAY THAT I WAS SIMPLY AN UTTERLY DUMB—
LISTEN JO, LETS NOT START ARGUING. MY WORD, WE'VE GOT ENOUGH TO THINK ABOUT ALREADY.

Traffic Deaths Increase For April and Period

The worst April on record in the matter of traffic fatalities was that of 1930, according to a summing up of casualties by the education committee of the Better Traffic Committee.

The toll of carelessness in the month just passed were the lives of 16 persons, four of them children. All but three victims were pedestrians and of these 13 were classed as jay-walkers. It has been a tough year for jay-walkers. Thirty-three of the 65 persons killed in the first four months of the year were pedestrians walking in a manner against their own safety.

The total for the first four months of the year is shocking in comparison with the same periods of 1929, when 56 were killed, and the years 1928 and 1927, when the totals were 47 and 46, respectively.

If you could go and talk to all of the people who have died in traffic as a result of their own carelessness, you would find them terribly CERTAIN it never would happen again were they given another chance on earth. They would know how to assure that certainty. YOU already know it. Why not practice it before it may be too late for you, as it is now for them?

Time Needed by Senate To Study Naval Treaty

In striking contrast with the precipitate action of the administration at Washington in dealing with the London naval treaty is the more deliberate course mapped out at Tokio.

Washington has rushed the treaty to the Senate in the closing days of a session overburdened with other business. No "independent study" of the treaty has been made by the naval authorities.

And the hearings the Senate has ordered at which naval authorities will appear as witnesses, are prompted by the will of the Senate rather than the wish of the administration.

But they are ordering things differently in Tokio. Although Japan's copy of the treaty is due there next week it will not even be submitted to the privy council before the latter part of June, or the first of July.

Thence it goes to the council's examination committee for careful study. And a Tokio dispatch says that final action upon the treaty is not expected before September.

If Japan can afford to take plenty of time to study every article of this treaty and get the untrammeled opinion of its naval authorities regarding the effect of the treaty upon Japanese security, surely the United States cannot afford to be less deliberate.

Then, too, the experience of this country with the treaties negotiated at the Washington conference is a strong argument against hot haste in disposing of the London treaty.

The Harding administration rushed the Washington treaty through to ratification within two months after the Washington conference adjourned. Because that administration wished to make political capital out of those treaties in the ensuing congressional elections.

But the Washington treaties did not take effect for a long time thereafter because other signatory powers took plenty of time to examine them.

It was not until 18 months after the adjournment of the Washington conference that the five-power naval treaty went into effect.

It was not until 42 months after the conference adjourned that the nine-power open-door treaty went into effect.

And the Washington submarine treaty never was completely ratified and therefore remained as the Navy League of the United States points out, only "a futile gesture."

Instead of permitting the London naval treaty to be rushed to ratification before the present session of Congress adjourns the United States Senate should refuse to be stampeded in this vital business.

Ample time should be allowed by the Senate for the treaty to be studied by our naval authorities, and for these authorities to give the results of their studies to both the Committee on Foreign Relations and the Committee on Naval Affairs.

Then in the light of all the information developed by expert studies and committee hearings, the Senate should proceed deliberately to an honest, fearless and patient discussion of the treaty before taking a vote upon its ratification.

The end of a session of Congress and the eve of the hot season in the federal city is no time to give a treaty vitally affecting the American Navy the consideration due such an important engagement.

The greatest deliberative body in the world ought to do a little deliberating on a matter which is so important to the peace and safety of the nation as the London naval treaty.

The commitments of this treaty are far too vital to the future of the United States to be entered into lightly, hastily and thoughtlessly.

Speaking of Suicide

Please Pick the Right Place.

Real estate men are very much annoyed with ladies and gentlemen who commit suicide. They have no particular feeling about suicide in principle, possibly, but they object strenuously to those who do away with themselves in choice pieces of residential property. It is difficult to lease or sell a house where some former owner or tenant turned the gas on or jumped out of the third story window. It is a big item of depreciation—worse than a fire or a family of children. It hurts values.

We don't quite know what can be done about it. A law would not help much. Perhaps an advertising campaign would be effective.

It seems to be a subject, at least, on which the ad writer's genius would have full scope.

Among suggested slogans for such a campaign might be: "Count 10 before you do it," or "The great outdoors is calling you," or "Come in, the water's fine."

"Bugs" Baer Says:

The Big Straw Merger

We are waiting for the new styles in straw hats in order to discover what the well dressed skull will juggle this season.

"Bugs" Baer

It's almost time for the old broccolli sunbonnet to appear and shed its new mown fragrance on the monoxide air.

We don't know why May 15 is the official old home week for breaking out the old straw discus any more than we know why we move the hour hand up an hour and allow the second hand to run wild.

Fashion is a queer bag of fish. Patou of Paris says that foreign dressmakers appeal strictly to the snobbishness of free and amended Americans.

The best definition of fashion is also from France. It is a tax placed on the vanity of the rich by the industry of the poor.

But we fail to see why the spirit of mortal should be proud when he is wearing a full set of baggy knees surmounted by a lightweight stove lid.

Some seasons we looked extremely well in straw hats. But those seasons were the ones when you tied the ribbons under your chin.

We don't know who designs the alfalfa hair nets for men. We do not know why the brims should be narrow one year, wide the next and missing the third season.

Trying to tab the changes in styles keeps you busier than a window cleaner in a hothouse. There are some men who look splendid in their deep dish skimmers. But we claim that hatters could sell more straws if they soaped their mirrors.

When you balance that split sennit on your head and flirt with yourself in a mirror you feel as foolish as a beetle in a museum. But you must wear it to keep the ultra-violet rays of the sun from blistering your dome during National Specked Apple Week.

Sizes in straw hats run from lily cups to market baskets. The rigidity of the straw prevents them from conforming to the shape of your head. The general ensemble is ridiculous.

And if the hat did conform to the shape of your head the effect would be funnier.

We are busy window-glaring for our straw soup strainer now. We don't know whether to get one that co-ordinates with our eyebrows or one with apertures that allows your ears to come through and wiggle with delight.

May 15 is the day for the pale summer derbies. And if you think a woman is difficult to please you should grab a load of a man selecting his summer lamp shade in an admiring circle of 11 mirrors.

ALBERT MICHELSON

By Archibald Henderson

One of America's greatest scientists, equally famed for carrying out crucible experiments and for the invention of ingenious scientific apparatus, has just been awarded the Duddell Medal of the London Physical Society for 1930. This medal is awarded annually for "contributions to the advancement of knowledge by the invention or design of scientific instruments."

The Duddell Medal has gone this year to Albert Abraham Michelson, head of the department of physics of the University of Chicago. He is regarded as an American scientist, although he was born in Strelno, Germany, in 1852.

Michelson was the first American scientist to receive the Nobel Prize in physics; and the only one to win the Copley Medal of the Royal Society of Great Britain. Other medals awarded him are the Cresson, Rumford, Mattenci, Draper and Franklin medals in science, and a grand prix. A member of 24 learned societies and the recipient of nine honorary degrees, he has been made a Fellow of the Royal Society of Great Britain; and is the first incumbent of the Distinguished Service Professorships of the University of Chicago.

It is an astounding fact that for a period of half a century, Michelson has been working on the accurate determination of velocity of light. Until the time of Roemer (1670) it was believed that light was instantaneous; but he made a study of Jupiter's satellites and computed the velocity of light to be about 190,000 miles.

Between 1878 and 1882, Michelson showed that the velocity of light was about 186,330 miles, with an error of one-fortieth of 1 per cent of the quantity measured. Later, in 1926, Michelson found the velocity to be 187,372 miles per second. A year later, he found a sharply differing result, 186,284 miles per second.

This summer, although he is now 78, he expects to make an even more accurate determination at a ranch near Santa Ana, Cal. He plans to clock a light beam reflected on a five-mile journey.

Michelson has been extremely fertile in the invention of instruments, largely new in theory, for determining important constants and quantities needed in science. The most wonderful of all these instruments is the interferometer, an instrument for measuring lengths by means of the phenomena resulting from the interference of two rays of light, and whose power to detect minute chances in distance is 50 times as great as that of the microscope.

One of the most spectacular of Michelson's results with the use of the interferometer was the determination of the distance from us of the great star, Betelgeuze, an Arabic word meaning "Giant's Shoulder." The angular diameter of Betelgeuze was found to be only one-forty-seven thousandth of a second of arc. This corresponds to what a ball one inch in diameter would look like at a distance of 70 miles. This would give the "Shoulder of Orion" at least a 100,000,000 miles in diameter, and distance about one quadrillion miles, or one followed by 15 ciphers.

Michelson has determined some of the vital constants of physics, essential for all accurate scientific work. In 1893, at the invitation of the International Bureau of Weights and Standards in Paris, Michelson began the determination of the length of the standard meter in terms of the wave-length of cadmium light. Somewhat later, by the same method, he determined the length of the smallest linear unit in use, the Angstroem.

Michelson's work in spectrum analysis is classic in character and importance. The prism, the grating and the echelon are the three types of spectroscope. Michelson invented the last and perfected the second.

The result of the famous experiment, known as the Michelson-Morley experiment, showing no motion of the earth with respect to the ether, was a foundation stone in Einstein's mighty structure of Relativity. Michelson has likewise shown that the earth is rigid as steel, yielding as an elastic body, but not a viscous mass.

∴ LISTEN, WORLD ∴

By Elsie Robinson

Dare to make decisions!

Don't just drift along, taking things as they come, hoping something will turn up, trusting to luck. Dare to make decisions. Dare to think about life. Dare to act on these thoughts. You won't always think straight or act wisely. Your decision may seem 100 per cent wrong, judged by obvious results. But no matter how much you may seem to have failed, you will have won, if you have dared to make decisions. For, by that very daring, you have grown. And growth is the only thing that counts.

Other things may seem to count. Success may seem to count—comfort, clothes, houses and cars, bank accounts, votes, popularity—but none of these things really count. None of these things can give you that deep, inner sense of strength and confidence upon which your happiness depends. Only the power that you have in yourself—your own growth, your own grip on life—can give you lasting happiness. And you can only get that growth and grip by making decisions.

It is true that you may escape a lot of trouble and danger by not making decisions. Life may be more pleasant and you may be much, much more popular if you drift—but it won't really do you any good.

For, inside, you'll feel as frustrated as a chicken that can't break through its shell. You, too, must break through a shell before you can really be born—the shell of circumstance. No one can do it for you. No one can release you into life and set you going on your spiritual hind legs. You, alone, can do it—by making decisions. Otherwise you'll remain just another unhatched egg.

"But I might as well remain an unhatched egg as spoil my life by making fool decisions," you say, with some reason.

You won't spoil your life "by making fool decisions." No honest decision is a fool decision—and every decision you make will strengthen you, and steady you and set you further on your way. And no matter how hard life is, it will be victorious. For you will have defied circumstance and proved yourself more than a puppet. And, at the end, you can cry with Henley—

"It matters not how straight the gate
How charged with punishments the scroll,
I am the master of my fate;
I am the captain of my soul."

Worst Story I Have Heard Today

By WILL ROGERS.

Some husbands and wives fight. Well, anyhow, the funny stories all say they do. And I reckon more than half of the funny stories in the world are about fights between a woman and her husband.

Mrs. Harsh thought she wasn't treated right by her husband because he didn't act polite to her. And he ought to be ashamed of himself.

So one day when she was bawling him out, she says, "The way you treat me! It's rotten! Why anybody would think I was the cook!"

"Not if they et one of your cakes once they wouldn't!" he says.

And I reckon that started a quarrel.

Isn't It So?

Most friendships stop at the dollar sign.

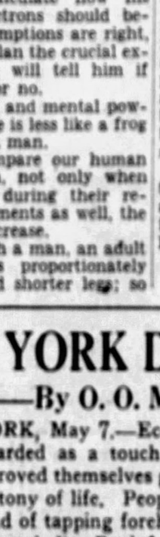
THE SCIENCE OF LIFE

By H. G. WELLS
In Collaboration With
Prof. Julian Huxley and George P. Wells.

This would be true of a dog as well as an ape, but the ape can go further than this. One chimpanzee studied by Prof. Kohler, though wholly untaught, had the idea of fitting one stick into the hollow end of another in order to get a banana which was out of reach of either stick by itself; and to do that is to anticipate experience by thought.

This observation is only one of many, but it must suffice us for the present.

What concerns us here is the fact that chimpanzees and other true apes do have this faculty of anticipating experience of putting two and two together so as to deal with a new kind of situation in an intelligent way, and that this power, in spite of the most careFull tests, has never been detected in any lower animal, even in tailed monkeys.



H. G. Wells

Many animals have that form of intelligence which we may call intelligent learning, but no others show deliberate invention. It is true that the ape's free ideas are very rudimentary when compared with ours.

None the less, our chimpanzee who, instead of doing nothing at all, or of aimlessly fiddling with his two sticks until one chanced to fit into the other, saw beforehand that they would fit and would then serve his purpose—he was, albeit in a humble way, showing the same power which enables an engineer to design a bridge on paper instead of putting something up and trusting to luck that it will stand, or a physicist using his mathematical faculties to calculate how his atoms and electrons should behave if his assumptions are right, so that he can plan the crucial experiment which will tell him if they are right or no.

In mental life and mental powers a chimpanzee is less like a frog than he is like a man.

When we compare our human and our simian, not only when full-grown but during their respective developments as well, the resemblances increase.

Compared with a man, an adult chimpanzee has proportionately longer arms and shorter legs; so has an unborn chimpanzee compared with an unborn human being, but the difference is less; the ape foetus is more human, the human foetus more simiah in its proportions.

During most of the latter half of its prenatal life, the human embryo, like the ape's, is covered all over with a coat of short, downy hair; so is an ape embryo of corresponding age.

Before birth, both ape and man shed this short hair and develop long hair on the head while remaining almost hairless on the body. Man retains this condition throughout life, while the newborn ape soon acquires its permanent garment of thick hair.

The skull shape of a chimpanzee is much more human before birth; and even the characteristic ape foot is in the foetus much less like a hand and much more human than later, while even after birth the human baby's foot, with its inturned sole and eagerly prehensile toes, is charged with hints of a racial past spent in the trees.

In fine, man's structure and development reveal him as zoologically close kin to chimpanzee, gorilla and orang-utan.

Through the invention of language he is made free of a new mental country, to which they have no access; but he does not for that reason cease to be their close cousin, any more than a mentally defective child ceases to be the son of his father, any more than Shakespeare ceased to stand in normal blood-relationship with his cousins, because he entered realms of thought and expression of which they never dreamed.

SEC. 2. FOSSIL MEN

This testimony from structure and development is confirmed by the authentic voice of the past. Unfortunately, neither apes nor men happen to be preserved as fossils save with extreme rarity, so that we have as yet no such pretty series in our own ancestry as in the ancestry of the horse; but the few remains which have been found tell an unequivocal story.

In the first place, we possess a true missing link between men and apes. He was discovered at Trinil, in Java, in 1892, and christened Pitecanthropus or the Ape-Man.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, May 7.—Eccentricity in New York is not altogether regarded as a touch of madness. Too many eccentrics have proved themselves geniuses merely seeking escape from the monotony of life. People look upon them with a certain awe instead of tapping foreheads surreptitiously.

The late Diamond Jim Brady waddling down the aisle decorated with jewels like a glittering Cartier show case was at first responsible for smothered giggles. Then it became known that Mr. Brady was not only one of America's shrewdest salesmen, but an expert collector of art.

The incredible Harry Lehr with his monkey dinner, handcuffing himself to Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont and swallowing the key and other didoes was hailed as a dull-witted fop. Yet he became the animating spirit of society both here and abroad and an epigrammatist of distinction.

Russell Sage, lunching on a frugal apple, and Hetty Green in her faded black cotton dress were supreme oddities, but became two of the wealthiest persons America has produced. Oscar Hammerstein with his cone shaped hat was once regarded as Broadway's most courageous cuckoo.

Florenz Ziegfeld wastes $30,000 a year on rambling, long-winded telegrams, but has no peer in the musical comedy production field. Maud Adams, living in monastic seclusion, was one of the greatest stage stars. Henry L. Doherty, who spent most of his successful years in a Bridge street tenement, is a noted magnate.

Overseas, Gabrielle D'Annunzio, Benjamin Disraeli, Oscar Wilde and George Bernard Shaw are branded as pronounced eccentrics of their respective times. Gerard de Nervhal brought Paris to the curbs while with an air of detachment he led a deep sea turtle down the center of the boulevard.

The fact is most of us who indulge in sly grimaces at these parabolas secretly admire them. They provide a juicy bluster to hum-drum lives. Without such gyrating swoops in a charted world the flow of humanity would become as tedious as a parade of ants.

A highly perfumed lady dropped in a Madison avenue dressmaking salon. The fluttering proprietress tendered a gushing welcome and then gurgled ectastically to someone in the rear: "O, Vera, come smell Modom!"

In the heart of Broadway a vacant shop has been taken over by a quaint and luminous-eyed fellow who proclaims with screaming banner: "The Bible Unmasked." Inside are facts for sale. For half an hour I watched proceedings. A few idled before the window. But the majority glanced at the sign, indulged in an involuntary shudder and hurried on. Not a person went inside.

New York's Greek section, without a shoe shine parlor, incidentally sprawls for blocks along Madison street on the lower East Side. It is filled mostly with brilliantly lighted cafes—a sort of Grecian White Way—where patrons sit until late at marble-topped tables sipping coffee which is fearfully strong and acts as a bland nepenthe.

Chrystie street has many "matrimonial clubs." They are stores fitted up like pleasant living rooms where young folk meet and the proprietors promote marital romances for a small fee.

After sitting through two tiresome evenings at Madison Square Garden it seems to us that pugilists could just as well settle their differences by mail.

I still think the best line at a prize fight was pulled by a galleryite at the old Garden. Two husky contestants were patting each other lightly when a voice bawled: "Turn out the lights. They want to be alone."

ONCE OVERS

By J. J. Mundy

What do you leave with your associates?

Give them something worth thinking about?

Have they gained anything by way of enlightenment from you?

If you were to drop out entirely would they miss something worth having?

Is your conversation effervescent, with little real thought back of it?

You want others to like you, you want to add to your popularity.

But you feel that it must be something light and humorous if you increase the number of your friends and followers.

With that idea of being entertaining in mind you probably talk too much.

Talk too much and say too little.

The person who desires self-improvement and to expand his or her scope of knowledge hopes to get something worthwhile from those with whom time is spent.

Do you gratify this laudable craving?

Because of your frivolity do you miss many chances of learning.

And not only do you miss opportunities of gaining knowledge, but you are really tiresome to thinkers.

If you would make an effort to leave with every person with whom you have an extended conversation, something of value, you would necessarily have to add to your fund of knowledge.
